NEGRO CHARGED

Football Player, Woman Killed In Car-Truck Crash

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

The life of a young bride and a Northeast football player were claimed last night in a collision that injured two more on the Milhaven Road and brought negligent homicide charges against a Negro.

Dead were Mrs. Barbara Wiggins Little, 19, 201 Rochelle St.; Bobby Hendrix, 19, Sterlington; and injured were Lester Little, 21, husband of the deceased and driver of the death car; and Sandra Vigg, 19, 711 Orange St., Monroe. The two injured were not in critical condition.

Negro Lawrence Holmes Jr., 716 Powell Ave., Monroe, was placed in the parish jail and charged with negligent homicide by state police.

The accident occurred at 7:45 p.m. at the Milhaven Road-Powell Avenue intersection.

TURNED LEFT

An eye witness, George Sinclair of 810 South Ninth St., Monroe, told investigating troopers that the big unloaded commercial fertilizer trailer truck driven by Holmes was headed east on Milhaven Road, and attempted to turn left onto Powell Avenue. He said that there were no headlights on the truck.

The Little vehicle also headed east on Milhaven Road, rammed into the rear of the truck, skidding 97 feet before the point of impact and piling up under the trailer.

Authorities estimated that the car skidded an additional 33 feet after the impact with the big tandem trailer truck. The truck is owned by J. B. Franklin, Marion.

Mrs. Little died instantly of multiple head, neck and chest injuries according to Dr. John P. Burton, Ouachita Parish Coroner. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ida Mae Wiggins, South First.

The Hendrix youth, who starred as quarterback for Ouachita Parish High School in 1959, was dead on arrival at the St. Francis Hospital from multiple head injuries. According to various friends

State Shift In Defense Plans Urged

Simulated Enemy Nuclear Attack Casualties High

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La. (AP)—Louisiana's simulated enemy nuclear attack which left 237,000 casualties as part of the nationwide "Operation Alert" civil defense training program erupted Saturday into demands for sweeping changes in the state program.

State civil defense director Brig. Gen. Francis Woolfley said the Louisiana survival plan must be changed from massive evacuation to emphasis on protection.

URGES SCHELTERS

He said families should build fallout shelters and the state and local governments build underground control centers. And use better communications systems for alerting the people of threatened attack.

This year's training program, said Woolfley, "was based primarily on attack by aircraft with nuclear bombs. But the United States and enemy countries have the potential to attack by missile, which would necessitate changes in protective action.

"With a missile attack, there would be no time for mass evacuation, but we could seek shelter.

"The emphasis from now on in civil defense in Louisiana will shift from evacuation to protection.

"It is not feasible to build shelters that will protect from blast, but it is feasible to build shelters

Negro Accused Of Threatening To Kill Officer

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Police Saturday arrested Willie Wilkins, Negro, accused of threatening to kill a Tennessee highway patrolman.

Wilkins was arrested along with Lois McGee and Nola Mae Burge. Police sought another Negro man and withheld his name pending his capture.

Wilkins and the two women were placed in the county jail. Wilkins was under a temporary charge of kidnaping while the women were held for investigation.

They came here to attend the funeral of Nola Mae Burge's father.

Wilkins had been arrested earlier in Tennessee for speeding. Highway patrolman Walter Duffey, 36, said at Brownsville, Tenn., he was driving the man to Brownsville in the patrol car when he took his gun.

The prisoner's car had been preceding the patrol car with the prisoner's companion driving. Duffey said he was forced into the other car.

"When I got into the car the man again threatened to kill me," said Duffey. "The other Negro pleaded with him. I did, too. Finally, he emptied the gun, threw it in a ditch, forced me out of the car and fled."

Congolese Kill U.N. Soldiers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The Congolese army's suspicion of the United Nations erupted Saturday against a contingent of 60 U.N. troops from Ghana. The Ghanaians were disarmed and three were killed.

The incident took place at the important railhead of Port Francqui about 400 miles east of Leopoldville in Kasai Province. The troops from Ghana were stationed there attempting to stop recent tribal clashes.

A U.N. spokesman said the Ghanaians were overwhelmed and forced to surrender to the Congolese troops who are nominally loyal to President Joseph Kasavubu's government at Leopoldville.

ON CUBAN INVASION

U. S. Senators To Quiz Rusk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will meet personally with a Senate subcommittee Monday to defend the Kennedy administration's handling of the Cuban crisis and face questioning about the recent ill-fated rebel invasion attempt.

As a result, the foreign relations subcommittee on Latin America postponed the appearance of Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency, who also had been asked to appear Monday.

Rusk notified the Foreign Relations Committee shortly after his return from Ankara, Turkey, that he would represent the administration in a closed door session with the subcommittee headed by Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore.

DULLES NEXT

Shortly afterward, the committee announced that Dulles was "ready to appear" Monday but that in light of Rusk's decision "it was decided to postpone Dulles' appearance until a later time."

Undersecretary of State Chester A. Bowles had been scheduled as the main witness until Rusk announced his plans to appear personally.

Rusk's decision came amid growing congressional pressure for an investigation of CIA and growing sentiment among some lawmakers for a sterner U. S. stand on the Cuba crises.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., said Saturday that the United States should be prepared to set up a naval blockade of Cuba, if necessary, to halt the Communist buildup there.

Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., also advocating a firmer U.S. stand, joined the growing demands for a thorough congressional inquiry into CIA's hush-hush activities and especially its role in the recent Cuban invasion fiasco.

Active U.S. Role In Asia War Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy weighed with his top military and diplomatic advisers Saturday a stronger and more active role for the United States in the defense of Southeast Asia against further Communist conquest.

Following an urgent session of the National Security Council, officials indicated the possibility of U. S. and Allied military intervention in Laos may depend on what the Soviet-backed rebels do about accepting a cease-fire in the next 48 hours.

WAR CONTINUES

The Soviet Union already has agreed to a truce plan, but the rebels are continuing a fight.

Kennedy ordered another meeting of the Security Council, bringing together his top military, diplomatic and psychological warfare advisers, for 4 p.m. Monday.

Saturday's session at the White House and the meeting Monday thus bracket what may be the most critical period of roughly 48 hours since the civil war in Laos developed into a cold war contest of wills between Washington and Moscow.

The Soviets evidently are willing for the rebels to grab off all they can while stalling the cease-fire agreement. The United States clearly is reluctant to get drawn into a war in Laos but fears for the security of all Southeast Asia if it does not act.

In Bangkok, Thailand, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization called a special meeting Sunday to consider the Laotian crisis and receive a report on the White House discussion.

At the State Department, the daily report on military conditions stated the Soviet airlift to the rebel forces had been stepped up by considerable degree and that the rebels were attacking at four points in northern Laos.

The military situation is steadily growing worse for the pro-Western government of Premier Boun Oum, officials conceded.

After talking with the President, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said: "The National Security Council discussed problems dealing with Southeast Asia."

Salinger would say no more

War Crisis Intervention Under Study

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI)—Communist Pathet Lao rebels attacked on three fronts Saturday and gave the pro-western Laotian government 48 hours to come to them and sue for a cease fire.

The government sent a large cease fire delegation to a battlefield site but the Communists failed to show up and insisted talks be held in their "capital" as the right of the "victors." The crisis worsened by the hour.

TROOPS DESERT

The Red rebels claimed capture of Muong Sai in Luang Prabang province in the apparent drive to seize as much of the mountainous little country as possible. A Communist New China News Agency broadcast said most of the government troops in the town deserted to the Red cause.

President Kennedy held urgent consultations in Washington. Western allied officials met in London, Paris and Bangkok, Thailand, to consider military intervention to save the Indochinese kingdon.

The State Department in Washington charged the Soviets stepped up an airlift of supplies to the Pathet Lao "by a considerable degree."

U. S. roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman arrived in Vientiane, the administration Laotian capital, for an on-the-spot survey of the Red drive.

Red artillery pounded royal government forces between the royal capital of Luang Prabang and the junctions of routes 13 and 7. On the Nam Lik River, the Reds were attacking and two towns in the south, Tchepone and Muong Phin, were reported under rebel pressure.

Attacks were accompanied by Red radio propaganda broadcasts claiming victory and accusing the

FOR SPACE FLIGHT

U.S. Astronaut Selection Made

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An astronaut has been chosen to make America's first manned rocket flight into space next week, it was learned Saturday.

Scientists in the nation's $500-million project Mercury man-into-space program picked their man from a "select list" of three astronauts who have undergone special training for the last three months.

Identity of the No. 1 astronaut remained a secret. But reliable sources reported it was either Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard or Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and that Shepard was considered more likely.

TWO CHOSEN

Two men were chosen from the trio of candidates—one as the "prime" astronaut and the other as his "back-up," to step in at the last minute in case of a change in plans.

At stake was America's first step toward manned conquest of space. This will be a 16-minute ride inside a 1½-ton Mercury capsule aboard a Redstone rocket. It is scheduled to be launched from Cape Canaveral Tuesday morning.

For the U. S. spacemen, this will be only a peek through the doorway of space. He will soar to an altitude of about 115 miles, high enough to view the Gulf of Mexico, the Florida peninsula, Caribbean islands and perhaps as far north as the Carolinas.

It will not be and was not intended to be a sweeping orbital trip like the global swing which carried Russia's Maj. Yuri Gagarin to a maximum altitude of 187 miles April 12. But for the few minutes he will be aloft in the "sub-orbital" flight, the American

Mother Keeps 2 Children In Closet Years

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A woman who kept her two young children locked in a small, dark closet for four years underwent psychiatric examination Saturday.

Results of the examination were not disclosed. They will be presented at a County Court hearing yet to be scheduled.

Elizabeth Lou Degan Blevins, 33, a waitress, was charged with endangering the life and health of a child after police found the children huddled, naked in a dark closet in the Blevins' apartment.

They reportedly had been confined by their mother for four years, since the family moved to Peoria from Fort Smith, Ark. Mrs. Blevins and her husband separated at that time.

The investigation enlarged to include Mrs. Blevins' landlady, Bernadine Geraci, when police learned that she was raising a third Blevins' child.

Charles, 12 and Amber, 8, were found in the closet when police came to the apartment to investigate a quarrel between Mrs. Blevins and Mrs. Geraci.

The third child, Billy Joe, 10, is normal and healthy, investigators said.

FBI INVESTIGATING

Loyalty Probed At Space Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Loyalty of eight employes at the big rocket center at Huntsville, Ala., is being investigated by the FBI, the House Space Committee reported Saturday.

The committee said three other persons at the installation, called the Marshall Space Flight Center, have resigned while facing dismissal for "serious character defects." Dismissal proceedings have been started against two more.

The committee said the information was submitted to it by Albert F. Siepert, director of business administration for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

TESTIFIES EARLIER

Siepert was asked to furnish the information after testifying on clearance of NASA employes recently at an open committee hearing.

Siepert said that when the Huntsville agency was transferred from the Army to NASA last July, 4,300 Army civilian employes went along with it. Of these, 4,122 have been placed in what NASA called sensitive positions; 3,843 have had interim clearance pending full investigations.

Siepert told the committee earlier that previous Army clearances of most of these employes had been made a number of years ago and it was necessary to conduct new investigations.

The Marshall center is developing Saturn, the 1½-million-pound-thrust rocket for space exploration.

Under the law, the Civil Service Commission conducts clearance investigations for NASA at

Damage Slight As Tornadoes Strike In Texas

By United Press International

Tornadoes struck from a line of thunderstorms over Texas Saturday and winter-like rain and snow flurries spoiled the New England weekend.

One of the twisters touched down inside the city limits of Corpus Christi on the Texas Gulf coast. It unroofed a house and knocked over signs but vanished without other damage.

Another funnel cloud dipped to the ground near Calallen, Tex., but did little damage.

Heavy rain and hail fell near the areas where the tornadoes were reported. Up to 6 inches of precipitation was measured near Clarkwood and Corpus Christi. More than 3 inches of rain fell in a three-hour period at Houston. The weight of water collapsed the roof of a Houston variety store but there were no injuries.

Low pressure over the north Atlantic states brought showers and snow flurries from New England south into Pennsylvania. Other showers were reported in the upper Mississippi Valley and along the Pacific Coast.

Skies were clearing over the middle and south Atlantic states but cooler northern air was moving in and frost was expected from Connecticut into North Carolina.

French Charge More Generals In Insurrection

PARIS (AP)—Two more French generals were taken to Sante Prison Saturday night and formally charged with joining the Algiers military insurrection.

This brought the number of jailed generals to four.

The new arrivals were Maj. Gen. Pierre Bigot, air force commander in Algeria, and Brig. Gen. Andre Petit, deputy commander of the Sahara region.

They were put in solitary confinement to await trial.

Already at Sante are the junta leader Maurice Challe, a retired air force general who was formerly commander in chief of North Atlantic Treaty Organization land forces in central Europe, and Gen. Maurice Michel Gouraud, who commanded in the Constantine region of eastern Algeria.

Algiers authorities broadcast appeals for public aid in tracking down three top generals who fled when their mutiny collapsed.

Coupled with the appeal was a warning that punishment would be meted out to anyone sheltering the trio of generals — Andre Zeller, Edmond Jouhaud and Raoul Salan.

SUDDEN PLANS CHANGE

U.S. Halts Airlift Of Troops Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The planned airlift of 6,000 combat-ready troops from the United States to West Germany beginning Monday as part of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization exercise has been suddenly called off, officials said Saturday night.

The decision to call off the airlift was taken Saturday afternoon, Pentagon sources reported, and apparently followed the conference President Kennedy had with the National Security Council and other officials on the situation in Laos.

The troops were to have been flown from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The demonstration of NATO strength would have coincided with huge May Day celebrations in Moscow and other Communist capitals, where military power displays are to be given.

The projected transfer of the forces had been planned for many weeks. The sudden halting of the exercise indicated the U. S. military command wanted to keep both the soldiers and the planes which would have been used to transport them close at hand.

The American forces would have been drawn from three battle groups of the 101st Airborne Division.

Purpose of the 15-day NATO exercise, in which French and West German soldiers were scheduled to take part, was to test NATO's ability to quickly augment European defensive forces.

The U. S. soldiers were to have been flown to Frankfurt by U. S. military transport planes, including craft from Donaldson Air Force Base, Greenville, S. C., and from Charleston, S. C.

Navy Balloon Launch Delayed

ABOARD AIRCRAFT CARRIER ANTIETAM IN GULF OF MEXICO (AP)—Strong winds aloft Saturday forced postponement of the scheduled first launch of a huge manned balloon from a carrier deck.

The launch, planned for early Sunday, was put back 24 hours to early Monday.

This was the second one-day delay in the project to send two Navy balloonists to a record 116,000 feet—almost 22 miles—in a scientific study of the upper atmosphere.

The balloonists will wear pressurized suits similar to those designed for the Mercury astronauts. They will be seated in a tiny, open gondola and will be subjected to bitter cold as low as 65 degrees below zero.

Weather Stays About Same

The weather rut in the Twin Cities deepens as the forecast for today quite closely resembles that for the past few days.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected to prevail through tonight with temperatures today being about the same as Saturday.

Today's high mark is expected to be from 76 to 82 degrees. The low will be in the mid-50's.

Saturday's top reading was 76 and the low mark was 52 degrees.

LARGEST IN WORLD

U. S. Commissions Giant New Warship

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With the command, "Set the watch throughout the ship," the supercarrier USS Kitty Hawk, the world's largest warship in operation, was commissioned Saturday by the Navy.

Some 12,000 visitors crowded the hangar deck of the 60,000-ton vessel and saw Capt. William F. Bringle, Covington, Tenn., accept command on the 50th anniversary of naval aviation.

The Kitty Hawk is the first aircraft carrier to depend solely on guided missiles for protection instead of mounted guns.

The ship's antiaircraft defense is composed of two batteries of Terrier missiles. They replace eight five-inch dual purpose guns mounted on the other five Forrestal Class carriers.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said in the main address that the $250-million Kitty Hawk "clearly demonstrates our Navy's confidence in the future of manned aircraft at sea.

The Kitty Hawk, which is 1,047 feet long and 252 feet wide, will remain at the Philadelphia Naval Base for eight weeks while fitting out is completed and final tests are made. Her crew is composed of 3,200 enlisted men and 153 officers.

Then the ship will proceed to Norfolk to pick up training planes. From there she will sail to Guantanamo Navy base in Cuba on a shakedown cruise. Eventually, the Kitty Hawk will serve with the Pacific Fleet.

Once in the Pacific, she will take on 100 planes, including helicopters, reconnaissance craft, jet fighters and bombers.

Combat-Ready Marines Land At Guantanamo

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP) —A combat-ready, reinforced Marine battalion pulled into the harbor of this U.S. Navy base in eastern Cuba Saturday—just two days before Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's widely heralded May Day celebration.

A second Marine battalion—1,500 men—is reported somewhere offshore en route to the United States.

The arrival of the battalion with its tanks and artillery came as a surprise to this naval base.

This battalion passed through here Tuesday on what was described by the Navy as a routine mission to the Marine training area on Vieques Island, just off Puerto Rico.

At the same time, all carrier pilots who have been living ashore and whose ships are at sea departed abruptly.

The Marine Commander, Col. Duane L. Faw, said at that time the Vieques operation had been planned last July. The Navy said Saturday its ships did not go to Vieques, but cruised the Caribbean on "routine exercises."

The Marines returned to Guantanamo, Navy officials said, for "a weekend of work and play." Ships of the Atlantic Fleet's Amphibious Squadron 4 will be refueled and supplied while the Marines stretch their legs ashore, they said.

The ships are scheduled to pull out the first part of the week, the Navy said, but did not specify if that will be May Day or after.

FARMER'S SKIN FROM SUNBURN

Farmer's skin at one time was thought to be part of the aging process that developed under the influence of long exposure to wind and weather. We know now it is caused by repeated sunburn and is no different from the pigmented, wrinkled, dry skin common in sailors and others who spend months in the sun. Many carefree residents of Florida, Texas, and California are victims of farmers' skin.

This condition is confined to sun exposed areas and the extent of damage depends upon the amount of pigment in the skin and its ability to darken. Age is not a factor because many farmers with sunbitten hands and face have a beautiful skin over the rest of the body and under the shadow of the hat or cap. The lightskinned are more susceptible; whites with swarthy skin and Negroes are not bothered in this way.

The earliest signs are redness, irregular pigmentation, and the appearance of visible capillaries in the skin. Later, the darkened regions assume a variegated or marbled pattern. The skin over the nose and cheeks is thinned and stretched whereas that covering the temples and neck become thickened and wrinkled.

The time to be alert is when scaling red patches are noted, especially if the lesions are covered with thick, adherent, horny scabs. These keratoses are potentially cancerius, which is what makes farmer's skin a serious disorder.

The affliction can be avoided by taking a more practical attitude toward the sun's rays. Wearing a large hat and light clothing over the arms and neck offers protection. Umbrellas or awnings on tractors also help. Protective creams and lotions, particularly early in the season, have merit as well as suntan pills that stimulate protective pigment to form.

WASTED VITAMINS

E. T. writes: What happens to the excess if you take too much vitamin B?

REPLY

ACHING ON BENDING

J. C. writes: Whenever I bend over to wash dishes or to iron I get a funny tugging in my upper back, near the left shoulder. Could this be due to nervousness?

REPLY

No. The sensation probably is muscular in origin but a tight bra strap could be responsible.

TONSIL REMOVAL IN ADULTS

C. A. writes: Is tonsilectomy considered more dangerous in a grownup that in a child?

REPLY

Yes, in that bleeding is more likely to occur as a complication.

NO YOUNGING VITAMIN

H. R. writes: I'm 71 and would like to know what vitamin I can take for wrinkles, sagging skin, and gray hair.

REPLY

There is none, not even the widely publicized geriatric mixtures of vitamins, minerals, and hormones. The search for that fountain of youth went on long before Ponce de Leon's day.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

M. W. writes: My mother has the whole family upset because she puts apricot juice in a glass of milk. When it curdles she drinks it and says it makes her stomach feel good. Could this concoction harm her?

REPLY

No. Milk curdles the moment it enters the stomach and getting a head start with apricot juice does no harm. Many persons drink buttermilk because they feel it settles the stomach.

Police Seeking 3 Exposed To Deadly Disease

ATLANTA (UPI) — Police in five states have been alerted to lookout for a couple and their male companion who have been exposed to a disease which could cause death within 24 hours.

The Georgia state highway patrol issued an alert for the three after doctors reported one of them, Anthony Prather, kissed an eight-month-old relative "goodby" at a Cartersville hospital earlier Saturday. The infant was later discovered to be suffering from "meningococcemia" which causes spinal meningitis.

Police in Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan have been alerted to stop a light grey or white 1954 Ford with Georgia license tags in which Prather is traveling with his sister, Marjorie Prather and Steve Vaughan.

Some Virginia Residents To Lose Sleep

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—This is the weekend residents in about 40 Virginia communities "lose" an hour's sleep in a crazy-quilt switch to daylight saving time.

The best count available Saturday showed 16 counties and 24 cities and towns will advance their clocks one hour Sunday, or in some instances, at the start of business Monday morning.

Virginia law, which designates eastern standard as the official time for the state year-round, allows areas within certain population limits to go on daylight saving time. The law was passed a few years ago to permit government installations in Norfolk to switch to "fast" time.

However, the capital city of Richmond discovered after the 1960 census it could legally switch to daylight time and promptly did so.

In rapid succession other cities and counties and isolated towns did likewise—some legally and some "unofficially."

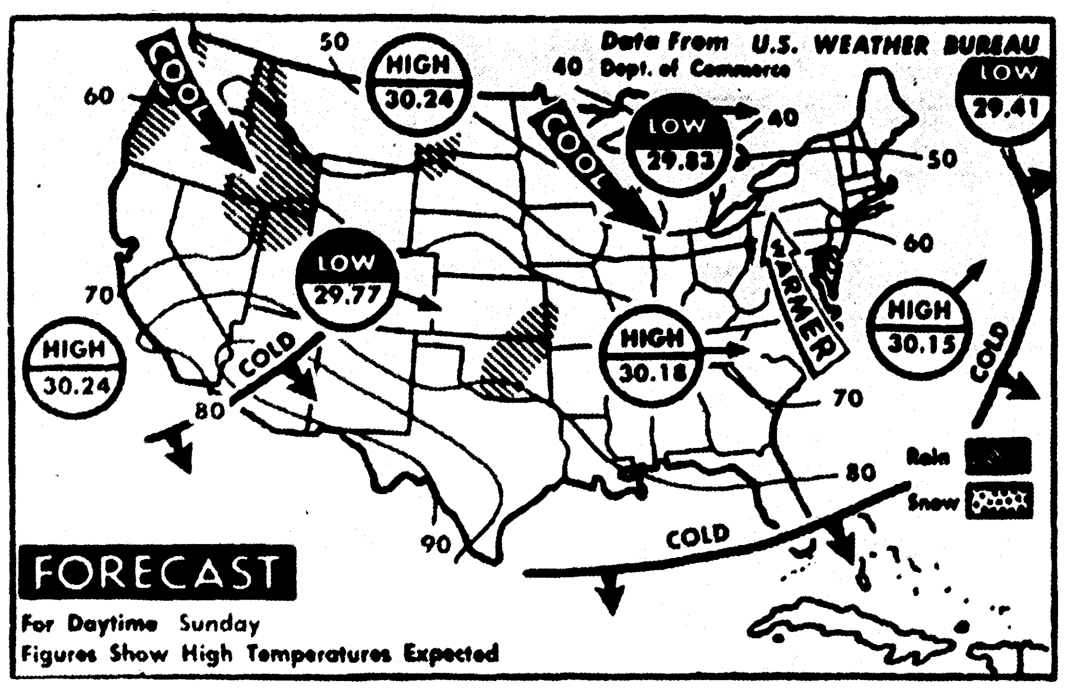
Even within towns, there is disagreement. Business and professional offices in seven incorporated towns in Loudoun County will go on daylight saving time, but the county will remain on standard time.

In Orange County, the board of supervisors held a special meeting Saturday on the time question, got locked in a 2-2 vote and had to call in a special council man elected for the specific purpose of breaking ties in the council. He decided the issue in favor of daylight saving time.

Stabbed Girl's Body Is Found

CAWKER CITY, Kan. (UPI)—The brutally stabbed body of a 3-year-old girl was found Saturday stuffed into a bureau drawer in the bedroom of a neighborhood playmate.

The girl, Cyndi Ann Miller, was stabbed five times in the chest. A preliminary examination revealed she had been raped.



SHOWERS are forecast for Pacific northwest and northern Plains, with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms in parts of southern and central Plains, Sunday. Widely scattered showers and snow flurries are expected for upper Great Lakes area and northern Rockies. While cooler weather is forecast for Pacific northwest and the northern Plateau, milder temperatures are expected for Atlantic coast states and the northern Ohio Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Noted Musician With Leading U.S. Band Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Irving "Miff" Mole, 63, a noted jazz musician who played with Benny Goodman, Paul Whiteman and other leading bands, died at his home Saturday.

He had been ill for the past eight years with a hip infection which required a series of operations. Physicians said a stroke apparently caused his death.

Mole began his career as a trombonist with the original "Memphis Five" about 1920. He later joined a band partnership with Red Nichols and then moved on to spots with some of the country's best-known jazz bands.

The late bandleader Tommy Dorsey once described him as the "Babe Ruth" of the trombone.

Toward the end of his career, he formed his own band and did recording work with singer Connie Boswell.

Mole did not confine his playing to jazz, however. During the 1930's and 1940's he spent 11 years with the National Broadcasting Co. "Symphony of the Air" orchestra, playing under the late Arturo Toscanini.

He is survived by a brother, a sister and a daughter.

Captains Denies Soviet Claims

HONOLULU (AP) — The captain of the Port Honolulu flatly denied Saturday Soviet claims that the disabled research ship Zarya was barred from entering the port.

Lt. Cmdr. Jason Kobler of the Coast Guard said the skipper of the freighter Pskov told port officials there was no need for the Zarya to enter port.

The Pskov docked here for fuel and then towed the Zarya to Vladivostok.

Kobler scoffed at Soviet claims that the Zarya had to abandon her research mission.

JFK Caught In Dangerous Laos Squeeze

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been caught in a dangerous, almost desperate squeeze by continuation of the civil war in Laos. If the Communists do not agree in a few days to end the fighting under a cease-fire agreement, he will have to choose among courses of action that seem to grow more hazardous daily.

The major choices open to the President as he met with the other members of the National Security Council at the White House Saturday were these:

1. He can work a little longer for a political settlement to reach the U.S. objective of a neutral Laos. The President reportedly felt that he could at least wait until Monday afternoon.

2. He can intervene militarily if the pro-Communist rebels continue their attacks. Should the President intervene he would hope to stabilize the situation sufficiently to prevent the Communists from taking over the whole country. He could then seek political settlement. Intervention, of course, might be the beginning of a general Southeast Asian war or even a bigger conflict.

3. Alternatively, the President could decide against any intervention even though the Communists clearly are progressively taking over the whole country. Administration officials have said the United States would not permit the Reds to grab off Laos. Failure now to make good on that promise would jeopardize the whole U.S. position in the cold war.

4. The quiet extension of material help and training advice to the forces of the pro-Western government of Premier Boun Oum might be sufficient to bring the Communist drive to a halt. This does not appear probable. Indeed, the best informed officials say that unless the United States takes very strong action, a collapse on the pro-Western side is entirely conceivable.

If military intervention is Washington's only way to meet the challenge, it will be undertaken nevertheless with a full consciousness of the risks involved. These risks are summed up in a word much used now by officials in discussing the grim outlook — "escalation."

Escalation simply means that if the United States puts forces into Southeast Asia the Communists may also put in forces. In fact the Comunists already have about a quarter of a million men in the army of North Viet Nam, so they start out well ahead in the game of raising the ante.

By this process Red Chinese forces might be drawn in if the Western forces became sufficiently strong. A situation could be created that would plunge the world into nuclear war.

Three Kentucky Theaters Agree To Integration

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Token integration of three downtown Lexington theaters has been agreed upon by their managers and the Congress of Racial Equality.

The agreement calling for progressive integration of the Strand, Kentucky and Ben Ali theaters has been signed, a CORE spokesman disclosed Friday night.

CORE immediately called off the stand-ins it had been holding almost nightly at the Kentucky Theater for several weeks.

The source, who asked to remain anonymous, said integration won't occur soon—meaning "not within the next few weeks."

At first Negroes will be admitted only on certain days, the source said.

The agreement climaxed negotiations under way for some time between CORE and representatives of the Switow and Schine theater chains.

The agreement also includes a "mutually satisfactory understanding" that lawsuits pending against CORE will in effect not be prosecuted, the source said.

A case involving 11 CORE members arrested at a noisy demonstration at the Kentucky is scheduled for trial June 27.

NEGRO CHARGED

Football Player, Woman Killed In Car-Truck Crash

By SARAH LITTLE
World Staff Writer

The life of a young bride and a Northeast football player were claimed last night in a collision that injured two more on the Milhaven Road and brought negligent homicide charges against a Negro.

Dead were Mrs. Barbara Wiggins Little, 19, 201 Rochelle St.; Bobby Hendrix, 19, Sterlington; and injured were Lester Little, 21, husband of the deceased and driver of the death car; and Sandra Vigg, 19, 711 Orange St., Monroe. The two injured were not in critical condition.

Negro Lawrence Holmes Jr., 716 Powell Ave., Monroe, was placed in the parish jail and charged with negligent homicide by state police.

The accident occurred at 7:45 p.m. at the Milhaven Road-Powell Avenue intersection.

TURNED LEFT

An eye witness, George Sinclair of 810 South Ninth St., Monroe, told investigating troopers that the big unloaded commercial fertilizer trailer truck driven by Holmes was headed east on Milhaven Road, and attempted to turn left onto Powell Avenue. He said that there were no headlights on the truck.

The Little vehicle also headed east on Milhaven Road, rammed into the rear of the truck, skidding 97 feet before the point of impact and piling up under the trailer.

Authorities estimated that the car skidded an additional 33 feet after the impact with the big tandem trailer truck. The truck is owned by J. B. Franklin, Marion.

Mrs. Little died instantly of multiple head, neck and chest injuries according to Dr. John P. Burton, Ouachita Parish Coroner. She is the daughter of Mrs. Ida Mae Wiggins, South First.

The Hendrix youth, who starred as quarterback for Ouachita Parish High School in 1959, was dead on arrival at the St. Francis Hospital from multiple head injuries. According to various friends

State Shift In Defense Plans Urged

Simulated Enemy Nuclear Attack Casualties High

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La. (AP)—Louisiana's simulated enemy nuclear attack which left 237,000 casualties as part of the nationwide "Operation Alert" civil defense training program erupted Saturday into demands for sweeping changes in the state program.

State civil defense director Brig. Gen. Francis Woolfley said the Louisiana survival plan must be changed from massive evacuation to emphasis on protection.

URGES SCHELTERS

He said families should build fallout shelters and the state and local governments build underground control centers. And devise better communications systems for alerting the people of threatened attack.

This year's training program, said Woolfley, "was based primarily on attack by aircraft with nuclear bombs. But the United States and enemy countries have the potential to attack by missile, which would necessitate changes in protective action.

"With a missile attack, there would be no time for mass evacuation, but we could seek shelter.

"The emphasis from now on in civil defense in Louisiana will shift from evacuation to protection.

"It is not feasible to build shelters that will protect from blast, but it is feasible to build shelters

Negro Accused Of Threatening To Kill Officer

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Police Saturday arrested Willie Wilkins, Negro, accused of threatening to kill a Tennessee highway patrolman.

Wilkins was arrested along with Lois McGee and Nola Mae Burge. Police sought another Negro man and withheld his name pending his capture.

Wilkins and the two women were placed in the county jail. Wilkins was under a temporary charge of kidnaping while the women were held for investigation.

They came here to attend the funeral of Nola Mae Burge's father.

Wilkins had been arrested earlier in Tennessee for speeding. Highway patrolman Walter Duffey, 36, said at Brownsville, Tenn., he was driving the man to Brownsville in the patrol car when he took his gun.

The prisoner's car had been preceding the patrol car with the prisoner's companion driving. Duffey said he was forced into the other car.

"When I got into the car the man again threatened to kill me," said Duffey. "The other Negro pleaded with him. I did, too. Finally, he emptied the gun, threw it in a ditch, forced me out of the car and fled."

Congolese Kill U.N. Soldiers

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congolese army's suspicion of the United Nations erupted Saturday against a contingent of 60 U.N. troops from Ghana. The Ghanaians were disarmed and three were killed.

The incident took place at the important railhead of Port Francqui about 400 miles east of Leopoldville in Kasai Province. The troops from Ghana were stationed there attempting to stop recent tribal clashes.

A U.N. spokesman said the Ghanians were overwhelmed and forced to surrender to the Congolese troops, who are nominally loyal to President Joseph Kasavubu's government at Leopoldville.

ON CUBAN INVASION

U. S. Senators To Quiz Rusk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will meet personally with a Senate subcommittee Monday to defend the Kennedy administration's handling of the Cuban crisis and face questioning about the recent ill-fated rebel invasion attempt.

As a result, the foreign relations subcommittee on Latin America postponed the appearance of Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency, who also had been asked to appear Monday.

Rusk notified the Foreign Relations Committee shortly after his return from Ankara, Turkey, that he would represent the administration in a closed door session with the subcommittee headed by Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore.

DULLES NEXT

Shortly afterward, the committee announced that Dulles was "ready to appear" Monday but that in light of Rusk's decision "it was decided to postpone Dulles' appearance until a later time."

Undersecretary of State Chester A. Bowles had been scheduled as the main witness until Rusk announced his plans to appear personally.

Rusk's decision came amid growing congressional pressure for an investigation of CIA and growing sentiment among some lawmakers for a sterner U. S. stand on the Cuba crises.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., said Saturday that the United States should be prepared to set up a naval blockade of Cuba, if necessary, to halt the Communist buildup there.

Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., also advocating a firmer U.S. stand, joined the growing demands for a thorough congressional inquiry into CIA's hush-hush activities and especially its role in the recent Cuban invasion fiasco.

But in a radio speech for Ore-

FBI INVESTIGATING

Loyalty Probed At Space Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — Loyalty of eight employes at the big rocket center at Huntsville, Ala., is being investigated by the FBI, the House Space Committee reported Saturday.

The committee said three other persons at the installation, called the Marshall Space Flight Center, have resigned while facing dismissal for "serious character defects." Dismissal proceedings have been started against two more.

The committee said the information was submitted to it by Albert F. Siepert, director of business administration for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

TESTIFIES EARLIER

Siepert was asked to furnish the information after testifying on clearance of NASA employes recently at an open committee hearing.

Siepert said that when the Huntsville agency was transferred from the Army to NASA last July, 4,300 Army civilian employes went along with it. Of these, 4,122 have been placed in what NASA called sensitive positions; 3,843 have had interim clearance pending full investigations.

Siepert told the committee earlier that previous Army clearances of most of these employes had been made a number of years ago and it was necessary to conduct new investigations.

The Marshall center is developing Saturn, the 1½-million-pound-thrust rocket for space exploration.

Damage Slight As Tornadoes Strike In Texas

By United Press International

Tornadoes struck from a line of thunderstorms over Texas Saturday and winter-like rain and snow flurries spoiled the New England weekend.

One of the twisters touched down inside the city limits of Corpus Christi on the Texas Gulf coast. It unroofed a house and knocked over signs but vanished without other damage.

Another funnel cloud dipped to the ground near Calallen, Tex., but did little damage.

Heavy rain and hail fell near the areas where the tornadoes were reported. Up to 6 inches of precipitation was measured near Clarkwood and Corpus Christi. More than 3 inches of rain fell in a three-hour period at Houston. The weight of water collapsed the roof of a Houston variety store but there were no injuries.

Low pressure over the north Atlantic states brought showers and snow flurries from New England south into Pennsylvania. Other showers were reported in the upper Mississippi Valley and along the Pacific Coast.

Skies were clearing over the middle and south Atlantic states but cooler northern air was moving in and frost was expected from Connecticut into North Carolina.

SUDDEN PLANS CHANGE

U.S. Halts Airlift Of Troops Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — The planned airlift of 6,000 combat-ready troops from the United States to West Germany beginning Monday as part of a North Atlantic Treaty Organization exercise has been suddenly called off, officials said Saturday night.

The decision to call off the airlift was taken Saturday afternoon, Pentagon sources reported, and apparently followed the conference President Kennedy had with the National Security Council and other officials on the situation in Laos.

The troops were to have been flown from Ft. Campbell, Ky.

The demonstration of NATO strength would have coincided with huge May Day celebrations in Moscow and other Communist capitals, where military power displays are to be given.

The projected transfer of the forces had been planned for many weeks. The sudden halting of the exercise indicated the U. S. military command wanted to keep both the soldiers and the planes which would have been used to transport them close at hand.

The American forces would have been drawn from three battle groups of the 101st Airborne Division.

Purpose of the 15-day NATO exercise, in which French and West German soldiers were scheduled to take part, was to test NATO's ability to quickly augment European defensive forces.

The U. S. soldiers were to have been flown to Frankfurt by U. S. military transport planes, including craft from Donaldson Air Force Base, Greenville, S. C., and from Charleston, S. C.

Navy Balloon Launch Delayed

ABOARD AIRCRAFT CARRIER ANTIETAM IN GULF OF MEXICO (AP)—Strong winds aloft Saturday forced postponement of the scheduled first launch of a huge manned balloon from a carrier deck.

The launch, planned for early Sunday, was put back 24 hours to early Monday.

This was the second one-day delay in the project to send two Navy balloonists to a record 116,000 feet—almost 22 miles—in a scientific study of the upper atmosphere.

The balloonists will wear pressurized suits similar to those designed for the Mercury astronauts. They will be seated in a tiny, open gondola and will be subjected to bitter cold as low as 65 degrees below zero.

Active U.S. Role In Asia War Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy weighed with his top military and diplomatic advisers Saturday a stronger and more active role for the United States in the defense of Southeast Asia against further Communist conquest.

Following an urgent session of the National Security Council, officials indicated the possibility of U. S. and Allied military intervention in Laos may depend on what the Soviet-backed rebels do about accepting a cease-fire in the next 48 hours.

WAR CONTINUES

The Soviet Union already has agreed to a truce plan, but the rebels are continuing a fight.

Kennedy ordered another meeting of the Security Council, bringing together his top military, diplomatic and psychological warfare advisers, for 4 p.m. Monday.

Saturday's session at the White House and the meeting Monday thus bracket what may be the most critical period of roughly 48 hours since the civil war in Laos developed into a cold war contest of wills between Washington and Moscow.

The Soviets evidently are willing for the rebels to grab off all they can while stalling the cease-fire agreement. The United States clearly is reluctant to get drawn into a war in Laos but fears for the security of all Southeast Asia if it does not act.

In Bangkok, Thailand, the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization called a special meeting Sunday to consider the Laotian crisis and receive a report on the White House discussion.

At the State Department, the daily report on military conditions stated the Soviet airlift to the rebel forces had been stepped up by considerable degree and that the rebels were attacking at four points in northern Laos.

The military situation is steadily growing worse for the pro-Western government of Premier Boun Oum, officials conceded.

After talking with the President, White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said: "The National Security Council discussed problems dealing with Southeast Asia."

Salinger would say no more

French Charge More Generals In Insurrection

PARIS (AP)—Two more French generals were taken to Sante Prison Saturday night and formally charged with joining the Algiers military insurrection.

This brought the number of jailed generals to four.

The new arrivals were Maj. Gen. Pierre Bigot, air force commander in Algeria, and Brig. Gen. Andre Petit, deputy commander of the Sahara region.

They were put in solitary confinement to await trial.

Already at Sante are the junta leader Maurice Challe, a retired air force general who was formerly commander in chief of North Atlantic Treaty Organization land forces in central Europe, and Gen. Maurice Michel Gouraud, who commanded in the Constantine region of eastern Algeria.

Algiers authorities broadcast appeals for public aid in tracking down three top generals who fled when their mutiny collapsed.

Coupled with the appeal was a warning that punishment would be meted out to anyone sheltering the trio of generals — Andre Zeller, Edmond Jouhaud and Raoul Salan.

Weather Stays About Same

The weather rut in the Twin Cities deepens as the forecast for today quite closely resembles that for the past few days.

Clear to partly cloudy skies are expected to prevail through tonight with temperatures today being about the same as Saturday.

Today's high mark is expected to be from 76 to 82 degrees. The low will be in the mid-50's.

Saturday's top reading was 76 and the low mark was 52 degrees.

FOR SPACE FLIGHT

U.S. Astronaut Selection Made

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An astronaut has been chosen to make America's first manned rocket flight into space next week, it was learned Saturday.

Scientists in the nation's $500-million project Mercury man-into-space program picked their man from a "select list" of three astronauts who have undergone special training for the last three months.

Identity of the No. 1 astronaut remained a secret. But reliable sources reported it was either Navy Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard or Marine Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and that Shepard was considered more likely.

TWO CHOSEN

Two men were chosen from the trio of candidates—one as the "prime" astronaut and the other as his "back-up," to step in at the last minute in case of a change in plans.

At stake was America's first step toward manned conquest of space. This will be a 16-minute ride inside a 1½-ton Mercury capsule aboard a Redstone rocket. It is scheduled to be launched from Cape Canaveral Tuesday morning.

For the U. S. spacemen, this will be only a peek through the doorway of space. He will soar to an altitude of about 115 miles, high enough to view the Gulf of Mexico, the Florida peninsula, Caribbean islands and perhaps as far north as the Carolinas.

It will not be and was not intended to be a sweeping orbital trip like the global swing which carried Russia's Maj. Yuri Gagarin to a maximum altitude of 187 miles April 12. But for the few minutes he will be aloft in the "sub-orbital" flight, the American

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—A woman who kept her two young children locked in a small, dark closet for four years underwent psychiatric examination Saturday.

Results of the examination were not disclosed. They will be presented at a County Court hearing yet to be scheduled.

Elizabeth Lou Degan Blevins, 33, a waitress, was charged with endangering the life and health of a child after police found the children huddled, naked in a dark closet in the Blevins' apartment.

They reportedly had been confined by their mother for four years, since the family moved to Peoria from Fort Smith, Ark. Mrs. Blevins and her husband separated at that time.

The investigation enlarged to include Mrs. Blevins' landlady, Bernadine Geraci, when police learned that she was raising a third Blevins' child.

Charles, 12 and Amber, 8, were found in the closet when police came to the apartment to investigate a quarrel between Mrs. Blevins and Mrs. Geraci.

The third child, Billy Joe, 10, is normal and healthy, investigators said.

LARGEST IN WORLD

U. S. Commissions Giant New Warship

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — With the command, "Set the watch throughout the ship," the super-carrier USS Kitty Hawk, the world's largest warship in operation, was commissioned Saturday by the Navy.

Some 12,000 visitors crowded the hangar deck of the 60,000-ton vessel and saw Capt. William F. Bringle, Covington, Tenn., accept command on the 50th anniversary of naval aviation.

The Kitty Hawk is the first aircraft carrier to depend solely on guided missiles for protection instead of mounted guns.

The ship's antiaircraft defense is composed of two batteries of Terrier missiles. They replace eight five-inch dual purpose guns mounted on the other five Forrestal Class carriers.

Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said in the main address that the $250-million Kitty Hawk "clearly demonstrates our Navy's confidence in the future of manned aircraft at sea."

The Kitty Hawk, which is 1,047 feet long and 232 feet wide, will remain at the Philadelphia Naval Base for eight weeks while fitting out is completed and final tests are made. Her crew is composed of 3,200 enlisted men and 153 officers.

Then the ship will proceed to Norfolk to pick up training planes. From there she will sail to Guantanamo Navy base in Cuba on a shakedown cruise. Eventually, the Kitty Hawk will serve with the Pacific Fleet.

Once in the Pacific, she will take on 100 planes, including helicopters, reconnaissance craft, jet fighters and bombers.

War Crisis Intervention Under Study

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (UPI)—Communist Pathet Lao rebels attacked on three fronts Saturday and gave the pro-western Laotian government 48 hours to come to them and sue for a cease fire.

The government sent a large cease fire delegation to a battlefield site but the Communists failed to show up and insisted talks be held in their "capital" as the right of the "victors." The crisis worsened by the hour.

TROOPS DESERT

The Red rebels claimed capture of Muong Sai in Luang Prabang province in the apparent drive to seize as much of the mountainous little country as possible. A Communist New China News Agency broadcast said most of the government troops in the town deserted to the Red cause.

President Kennedy held urgent consultations in Washington. Western allied officials met in London, Paris and Bangkok, Thailand, to consider military intervention to save the Indochinese kingdon.

The State Department in Washington charged the Soviets stepped up an airlift of supplies to the Pathet Lao "by a considerable degree."

U. S. roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman arrived in Vientiane, the administration Laotian capital, for an on-the-spot survey of the Red drive.

Red artillery pounded royal government forces between the royal capital of Luang Prabang and the junctions of routes 13 and 7. On the Nam Lik River, the Reds were attacking and two towns in the south, Tchepone and Muong Phin, were reported under rebel pressure.

Attacks were accompanied by Red radio propaganda broadcasts claiming victory and accusing the

Combat-Ready Marines Land At Guantanamo

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP) —A combat-ready, reinforced Marine battalion pulled into the harbor of this U.S. Navy base in eastern Cuba Saturday—just two days before Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's widely heralded May Day celebration.

A second Marine battalion—1,500 men—is reported somewhere offshore en route to the United States.

The arrival of the battalion with its tanks and artillery come as a surprise to this naval base.

This battalion passed through here Tuesday on what was described by the Navy as a routine mission to the Marine training area on Vieques Island, just off Puerto Rico.

At the same time, all carrier pilots who have been living ashore and whose ships are at sea departed abruptly.

The Marine Commander, Col. Duane L. Faw, said at thst time the Vieques operation had been planned last July. The Navy said Saturday its ships did not go to Vieques, but cruised the Caribbean on "routine exercises."

The Marines returned to Guantanamo, Navy officials said, for "a weekend of work and play." Ships of the Atlantic Fleet's Amphibious Squadron 8 will be refueled and supplied while the Marine stretch their legs ashore, they said.

The ships are scheduled to pull out the first part of the week, the Navy said, but did not specify if that will be May Day or after.

Experts Favor Single Agency On Intelligence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of experts is shaping up a single Pentagon agency to oversee and coordinate the now-separate military intelligence services of the three armed forces.

A report from the group set up by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is expected soon, recommending the form of the new joint agency.

The Pentagon setup is distinct from a reported plan to overhaul the Central Intelligence Agency, which some sources say President Kennedy is considering. But it results in part from the overall scrutiny of the nation's various intelligence systems.

The study looking to revision of the military intelligence outfits began in January, well before the fiasco of the Cuban invasion which some critics insist resulted from bad intelligence or bad interpretation of intelligence about Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces and the attitude of the Cuban population.

Police Seeking 3 Exposed To Deadly Disease

ATLANTA (UPI) — Police in five states have been alerted to lookout for a couple and their male companion who have been exposed to a disease which could cause death within 24 hours.

The Georgia state highway patrol issued an alert for the three after doctors reported one of them, Anthony Prather, kissed an eight-month-old relative "goodby" at a Cartersville hospital earlier Saturday. The infant was later discovered to be suffering from "meningococcemia" which causes spinal meningitis.

Police in Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Michigan have been alerted to stop a light grey or white 1954 Ford with Georgia license tags in which Prather is traveling with his sister, Marjorie Prather and Steve Vaughan.

Some Virginia Residents To Lose Sleep

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—This is the weekend residents in about 40 Virginia communities "lose" an hour's sleep in a crazy-quilt switch to daylight saving time.

The best count available Saturday showed 16 counties and 24 cities and towns will advance their clocks one hour Sunday, or in some instances, at the start of business Monday morning.

Virginia law, which designates eastern standard as the official time for the state year-round, allows areas within certain population limits to go on daylight saving time. The law was passed a few years ago to permit government installations in Norfolk to switch to "fast" time.

However, the capital city of Richmond discovered after the 1960 census it could legally switch to daylight time and promptly did so.

In rapid succession other cities and counties and isolated towns did likewise—some legally and some "unofficially."

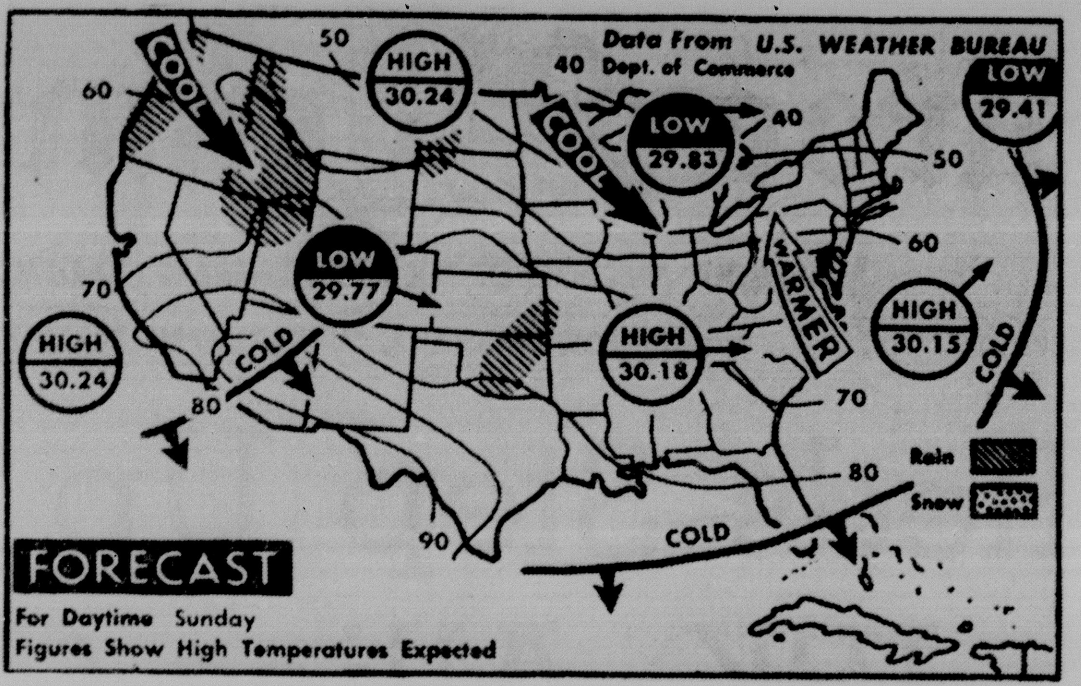
Even within towns, there is disageement. Business and professional offices in seven incorporated towns in Loudoun County will go on daylight saving time, but the county will remain on standard time.

In Orange County, the board of supervisors held a special meeting Saturday on the time question, got locked in a 2-2 vote and had to call in a special councilman elected for the specific purpose of breaking ties in the council. He decided the issue in favor of daylight saving time.

Stabbed Girl's Body Is Found

CAWKER CITY, Kan. (UPI) The brutally stabbed body of a 3-year-old girl was found Saturday stuffed into a bureau drawer in the bedroom of a neighborhood playmate.

The girl, Cyndi Ann Miller, was stabbed five times in the chest. A preliminary examination revealed she had been raped.



SHOWERS are forecast for Pacific northwest and northern Plains, with widely scattered showers and thunderstorms in parts of southern and central Plains, Sunday. Widely scattered showers and snow flurries are expected for upper Great Lakes area and northern Rockies. While cooler weather is forecast for Pacific northwest and the northern Plateau, milder temperatures are expected for Atlantic coast states and the northern Ohio Valley. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Three Kentucky Theaters Agree To Integration

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Token integration of three downtown Lexington theaters has been agreed upon by their managers and the Congress of Racial Equality.

The agreement calling for progressive integration of the Strand, Kentucky and Ben Ali theaters has been signed, a CORE spokesman disclosed Friday night.

CORE immediately called off the stand-ins it had been holding almost nightly at the Kentucky Theater for several weeks.

The source, who asked to remain anonymous, said integration won't occur soon—meaning "not within the next few weeks."

At first Negroes will be admitted only on certain days, the source said.

The agreement climaxed negotiations under way for some time between CORE and representatives of the Switow and Schine theater chains.

The agreement also includes a "mutually satisfactory understanding" that lawsuits pending against CORE will in effect not be prosecuted, the source said.

A case involving 11 CORE members arrested at a noisy demonstration at the Kentucky is scheduled for trial June 27.

Noted Musician With Leading U.S. Band Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Irving "Miff" Mole, 63, a noted jazz musician who played with Benny Goodman, Paul Whiteman and other leading bands, died at his home Saturday.

He had been ill for the past eight years with a hip infection which required a series of operations. Physicians said a stroke apparently caused his death.

Mole began his career as a trombonist with the original "Memphis Five" about 1920. He later joined a band partnership with Red Nichols and then moved on to spots with some of the country's best-known jazz bands.

The late bandleader Tommy Dorsey once described him as the "Babe Ruth" of the trombone.

Toward the end of his career, he formed his own band and did recording work with singer Connie Boswell.

Mole did not confine his playing to jazz, however. During the 1930's and 1940's he spent 11 years with the National Broadcasting Co. "Symphony of the Air" orchestra, playing under the late Arturo Toscanini.

He is survived by a brother, a sister and a daughter.

Captains Denies Soviet Claims

HONOLULU (AP) — The captain of the Port Honolulu flatly denied Saturday Soviet claims that the disabled research ship Zarya was barred from entering the port.

Lt. Cmdr. Jason Kobler of the Coast Guard said the skipper of the freighter Pskov told port officials there was no need for the Zarya to enter port.

The Pskov docked here for fuel and then towed the Zarya to Vladivostok.

Kobler scoffed at Soviet claims that the Zarya had to abandon her research mission.

JFK Caught In Dangerous Laos Squeeze

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has been caught in a dangerous, almost desperate squeeze by continuation of the civil war in Laos. If the Communists do not agree in a few days to end the fighting under a cease-fire agreement, he will have to choose among courses of action that seem to grow more hazardous daily.

The major choices open to the President as he met with the other members of the National Security Council at the White House Saturday were these:

1. He can work a little longer for a political settlement to reach the U.S. objective of a neutral Laos. The President reportedly felt that he could at least wait until Monday afternoon.

2. He can intervene militarily if the pro-Communist rebels continue their attacks. Should the President intervene he would hope to stabilize the situation sufficiently to prevent the Communists from taking over the whole country. He could then seek political settlement. Intervention, of course, might be the beginning of a general Southeast Asian war or even a bigger conflict.

3. Alternatively, the President could decide against any intervention even though the Communists clearly are progressively taking over the whole country. Administration officials have said the United States would not permit the Reds to grab off Laos. Failure now to make good on that promise would jeopardize the whole U.S. position in the cold war.

4. The quiet extension of material help and training advice to the forces of the pro-Western government of Premier Boun Oum might be sufficient to bring the Communist drive to a halt. This does not appear probable. Indeed, the best informed officials say that unless the United States takes very strong action, a collapse on the pro-Western side is entirely conceivable.

If military intervention is Washington's only way to meet the challenge, it will be undertaken nevertheless with a full consciousness of the risks involved. These risks are summed up in a word much used now by officials in discussing the grim outlook — "escalation."

Escalation simply means that if the United States puts forces into Southeast Asia the Communists may also put in forces. In fact the Comunists already have about a quarter of a million men in the army of North Viet Nam, so they start out well ahead in the game of raising the ante.

By this process Red Chinese forces might be drawn in if the Western forces became sufficiently strong. A situation could be created that would plunge the world into nuclear war.

Football Player, Woman Killed In Car-Truck Crash

of Hendrix, he played freshman football for Northeast State College, but was temporarily off due to a knee injury. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hendrix, Sterlington.

The Vigg girl, a freshman at Northeast State College and graduate of Neville High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vigg, 711 Orange St. Her condition was listed as serious but not critical, and her injuries included head injuries.

Little, the least injured of the four, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Little, Swartz Road, Monroe.

The Negro driver of the truck was uninjured.

Sinclair, the eye witness to the accident, said that he was driving west on the Milhaven Road, meeting the big truck and had to swerve to keep from hitting him.

The Hendrix youth and the Vigg girl were riding in the back seat of the car.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night for both Mr. Little and the Hendrix youth, but will be under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Hendrix is survived by his parents, one brother, Steven Lee Hendrix, Sterlington, and one sister, Elizabeth Ann Hendrix, Sterlington, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Hendrix, [illegible].

Rabbi Raps Birch Group For Attack

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (UPI)—A Cincinnati rabbi condemned the John Birch Society Saturday for its attack upon the Protestant clergy.

"An attack on the Protestant clergy is an attack upon us of the synagogue, too," said Rabbi Jay Kaufman, vice president of the American Hebrew Congregation.

Kaufman said that when Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, condemned the National Society of the Churches of Christ, "He condemned all those who believe that the voice of religion must be heard in our time."

Kaufman said there was no "evidence that the John Birch society is dabbling in anti-semitism." But he added, in an address to the mid-Atlantic council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, that it was "dangerous to ignore the reality of a secret reactionary society in these critical times."

"We Jews know from our history," he said, "that when hysteria and fanaticism are injected into the body politic all Democratic institutions which safeguard Jews and other Americans are placed in peril."

Kaufman said that he objected to any government investigation aimed at black-listing the society.

"We do not have to resort to governmental oppression to deal with this problem," he said.

He said that the way to handle the society was "to tell the truth about them."

"Let the American people in its good judgement and wisdom guided by the press and the pulpit reject and repudiate the counsel of fanaticism and irrationality which flow from the Birch society," he said.

State Shift In Defense Plans Urged

that protect from nuclear fallout."

The attack phase of Operation Alert started Friday and ended Saturday, with nuclear bombs theoretically falling.

Lake Charles was the hardest hit. A two-megaton bomb, equal to two million tons of TNT, fell on Chennault Air Force Base and a ten-megaton bomb landed on the city. Officials declared 50,750 dead.

Wind scattered radioactive dust across the state, forcing most of the 300 state and federal officials out of emergency civil defense headquarters at Camp Beauregard to Monroe, 85 miles to the north, in theory.

During the mock attack, a total of 10 nuclear bombs and missiles hit in or near the state's five largest cities. Other than Lake Charles, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Shreveport were targets.

CD officials figured that the attack would have left 122,305 dead, 62,002 injured and 52,709 missing. At least another 200,000 would have become ill from fallout.

A 10-ton megaton bomb dropped on Lake Des Allemands, about 35 miles southwest of New Orleans. Under normal wind patterns, the Crescent City would have been covered with deadly radioactive fallout within a short time. But at the actual time of the simulated attack, the winds were blowing westward—one of the few days in the year that occurs.

For that reason, the fatality toll in New Orleans was only 30,150. Shreveport counted 40,125 dead, Alexandria 12,500, and Baton Rouge 9,675.

Airlines Strike Set For Tuesday By Machinists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Association of Machinists said Saturday that its ground employes would strike National Airlines at 1 a.m. EST Tuesday.

John Sheridan, general chairman of the union's District 100, said the strike was called because negotiations with National were deadlocked. They began more than seven months ago. Since October, Sheridan said, union members have been working without a contract.

In Miami, Fla., National issued a statement saying:

"We are advised by A. J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists, bargaining agency for mechanics, that representatives of the union would be at the company offices Monday morning to resume contract negotiations. Hayes called from his Washington headquarters."

An airlines spokesman refused to comment on how a strike would affect service. He said approximately 1,000 ground employes belong to the IAM.

Sheridan said the union's order for the strike on all points of National's system followed a week of intensive negotiations at the National Mediation Board. The walkout could stretch from Boston to Miami and to Houston.

The dispute involves wages, sick leave, severance pay, seniority and other issues.

Eight Russians Visit Truman, Get His Views

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Eight young Russians visited former President Harry S. Truman Saturday and asked him about the prospects for better relations between the two countries.

"That depends on the Russians," Truman replied. "If they want to be good neighbors and keep their agreements we'll get along fine. No people are more anxious to be friendly with the Russians than the American people."

The Russians are visiting the United States under sponsorship of the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association. They spent most of last week at the University of Kansas.

Their spokesman, Nikolai Baranov, 39, asked Truman about U.S.-Soviet relations and disarmament.

Truman told them that disarmament could be achieved if the Soviets would agree to inspection.

The group toured the Truman Library.

spaceman's outlook on the world should be just as dramatic.

A full orbital flight for one of the seven astronauts who are still in the Mercury program is not expected for another six months to a year.

Tuesday's flight next week is a "crawl before you walk" affair, designed to test the bell-shaped space capsule, voice communications from space and—perhaps most importantly—to find out how well a man can perform under extremes of weightlessness and curshing perssure.

Glenn, Shepard and Air Force Capt. Virgil Grissom have undergone training for the flight for two years with their four astronaut "brothers." For the past three months, their special training has been even more intense.

This weekend, the two selected as "prime" and "back-up" will enter special quarters at "hangars" on the cape, where scientists will keep an especially close eye on them, their physical condition and their diet.

The final decision as to whether the prime astronaut is ready to go will be in the hands of Project Mercury Director Robert R. Gilruth. It is expected to come sometime late Monday.

Readings on the astronauts blood pressure, heartbeat and respiration will be the basis for Gilruth's history-making decision.

Shepard has been reported on several occasions to be slightly ahead "on points." Usually reliable sources said he could become America's first spaceman if his blood pressure check proves normal early Tuesday morning.

Scientists continued a minute-by-minute check on the mechanical condition of the capsule, its myriad of instruments and seven miles of wiring, the slender Redstone on Pad 5 that was built for the job, and the escape system designed to protect an astronaut's life if something goes wrong.

By Saturday, the days-long countdown had reached "T-minus 72"—72 hours before launching. It was still going on. These are critical hours, when minor slips and problems can mean major delays.

The weather on Tuesday will have to be almost perfect, both at the cape and in the target area southeaast of here. Recovery vessels will be waiting there to pluck the man and his capsule from the water.

Federal Aid Hopes Held By Prelate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman indicated Saturday night he had hope for a possible compromise on the issue of federal aid to parochial schools based on a recent federal memorandum.

The New York prelate said the memorandum—issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—made "three concessions" from President Kennedy's original position that federal aid to parochial schools was barred by the Constitution.

The possible areas of "common ground," as cited by the cardinal included the memorandum's suggestions that:

1 — The federal government might legally provide funds to support school gymnasiums, cafeterias, laboratories and other non-religious facilities.

2—It might extend loans to church-related schools in cases where a distinction is made between religious and secular teaching.

3—It might constitutionally provide funds for secular text books and other non-religious study materials.

Spellman said that these "constitutionally acceptable approaches" would "alone or in combination achieve equality" for those citizens who chose to send their children to parochial schools.

His formal statement followed a study of the memorandum by Lawrence X. Cusack, counsel for the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York.

and other officials similarly declined to talk.

Kennedy expected reports over the weekend from roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who arrived in Vientiane Saturday. Reports were due also from Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who is on a tour including stops in Southeast Asia.

Bank President Dies In Metairie

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Edward F. Chavanne, 57, president of the New Orleans Bank for Co-operatives, died Saturday at his home in Metairie after a long illness.

Chavanne, a native of Dublin, Ind., lived in Lake Charles for 30 years before coming here. He was in the banking business in southwestern Louisiana for many years before joining the co-op bank in 1936. He became president five years ago.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Jane; a son, Donald Chacanne, Houston, Tex., and one sister, Mrs. Leon M. Hyatt Sr., Lake Charles.

State Chapter Elects Officers

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Robert E. Lee of Baton Rouge was named president of the Louisiana chapter of the International Association of Personnel and Employment Security here Saturday.

Other officers elected were Jodie Lott, Alexandria, first vice president; W. R. Inabnett, Hammond, second vice president; Frank Mobley, New Orleans, secretary, and Charles Rihner, New Orleans, treasurer.

Executive board members elected were Mrs. Bernice Louis, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Julia Martin, New Orleans; Neeson J. Chauvin, Lafayette; W. P. Oehs, Monroe, and Mrs. Willie Lee Lane, Bogalusa.

War Crisis Intervention Under Study

government of stalling on a cease fire. But the Reds were demanding cease fire talks only on their own terms.

The government of Premier Prince Boun Oum sent a 1,500-man mission into the jungle at Vang Khi, 22 miles from the strategic town of Vang Vien seized by the rebels last week. The government apparently presumed a Red cease-fire mission would meet with it there. None showed up. The war went on.

This was the situation:

In the Red main city of Xieng Khouang on the Plain of Jars, leftist ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma said the rebels were "victors" and Communist broadcasts said he demanded that the government send cease fire emissaries to Xieng Khouang. "We shall wait . . . for another 48 hours," he said.

In Moscow, the official Soviet Tass news agency said hopes for a cease-fire "have been dashed" because the U. S. - backed government does not really want one.

In the South China Sea, 60 American, British and Australian warships maneuvered with 6,000 troops in Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) war games, ready for action if ordered to intervene in Laos.

In London, a worried British government sought to head off intervention but let it be known it was ready for "appropriate action" if the Red advance continued.

In Hanoi, Red North Viet Nam announced it recognized the Pathet Lao "government" in Xieng Khouang.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India received a message from President Kennedy urging a cease-fire in Laos.

The Canada-Poland-India International Commission for Laos first set up in 1954 met in New Delhi and reached "general agreement" on a report to be sent to Britain and the Soviet Union.

All this passed virtually unnoticed by tens of thousands of happy-go-lucky Laotians who gathered in Luang Prabang, the royal capital, to sing, dance in the streets and celebrate the cremation of the late King Sisavong Vong, who died 18 months ago. Death is happy to Laotians.

The cremation ceremonies began Saturday and the Boun Oum government hoped it would bring rebel Laotian leaders to the city for the rites and a chance to talk. None came.

In Vientiane, the administrative capital, there was less to cheer. Worried minor government officials welcomed Harriman, President Kennedy's diplomatic troubleshooter. He planned to fly to Luang Prabang Sunday for a "couple of days" of talks.

Harriman said he would make a report to Kennedy, who held a crisis session of the U. S. National Security Council in Washington and then went into conference with advisers on whether there sould be armed intervention in the landlocked kingdom.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was en route to Bangkok for Southeast Asia Treaty Organization talks Sunday.

Laotian Foreign Affairs Secretary Choa Sopsaisana announced his government would be willing to meet rebels anywhere along the battlefront to talk peace.

The only word from the Pathet Lao was from broadcasts claiming "victory" and insisting that any government peace mission come to Xieng Khouang—which would be a loss of face to the government.

gon stations. Morse warned against the United States going it alone against Castro without some backing from other Latin nations in the Organization of American States.

Morse's subcommittee action has the full informal backing of the parent Foreign Relations Committee headed by Sen. J. William Fullbright, D-Ark., and the Senate Democratic leadership. The hearing will be Congress' first formal attempt to evaluate the administration's tactics in the Cuban situation and what future plans may be.

It was not immediately announced whether Bowles would accompany Rusk. Morse originally asked Bowles to appear as acting secretary in Rusk's absence but the meeting was postponed until Monday at Bowles' request.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., declared in Miami Friday night that Congress should conduct a complete investigation of CIA. He also endorsed the idea of a congressional watchdog committee.

a cost of $350 per case. So far it has completed 650 investigations at Marshall and referred eight of these to the FBI.

The law "requires that when the Civil Service Commission develops any data which may reflect upon the loyalty of the subject, the matter is referred to the FBI for investigation," NASA said.

NASA also said three persons "resigned while proceedings were pending to dismiss them because of serious character defects. Removal proceedings will be initiated shortly in the case of two other cases discovered as a result of these investigations," NASA said.

There was no elaboration on these cases. Often in such resignations or dismissals, the persons involved are not accused of disloyalty but are regarded as bad risks because of homosexuality, heavy drinking, use of narcotics or other bad habits.

NASA has requested $1,115,000 for fiscal 1962 for security investigations. Last year Congress appropriated $1,248,000 for this purpose.

Experts Favor Single Agency On Intelligence

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of experts is shaping up a single Pentagon agency to oversee and coordinate the now-separate military intelligence services of the three armed forces.

A report from the group set up by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is expected soon, recommending the form of the new joint agency.

The Pentagon setup is distinct from a reported plan to overhaul the Central intelligence Agency, which some sources say President Kennedy is considering. But it results in part from the overall scrutiny of the nation's various intelligence systems.

The study looking to revision of the military intelligence outfits began in January, well before the fiasco of the Cuban invasion which some critics insist resulted from bad intelligence or bad interpretation of intelligence about Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's forces and the attitude of the Cuban population.

ASTRONAUT LAUNCH

Capsule Recovery Task Forces Ready

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Ships, airplanes and helicopters are ready to recover from the sea the capsule containing America's first astronaut.

They will be strung out in several areas for quick recovery of the space vehicle, expected to be fired aloft Tuesday. One area includes Cape Canaveral, in the event of a failure while the Redstone booster is on or just off the launching pad.

Another area includes the waters near Canaveral, in the event of trouble during the flight's early stages. Still another covers point northeast of Grand Bahama Island. The rocket is to boost the manned capsule 115 miles high and 290 miles down range, where it is to parachute into the Atlantic.

The recovery task force is commanded by Rear Adm. F. V. H. Hilles, commander of Destroyer Flotilla Four. It is made up of Marines and Units of the Air Force missile test center.

Many of the units have taken part in successful recovery exercises. Procecdures and techniques for safe, quick recovery have been developed during the past two years under close coordination with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A task force dispersed along the track and in the predicted landing area is commanded by Rear Adm. G. P. Koch, commander of Carrier P. Koch, commander of Carrier Division 18, flying his flag in the carrier Lake Champlain. Ships in this group are the destroyers Decatur, Wadleigh, Rooks, The Sullivans, Abbot and N. K. Perry.

Air support for this group is provided by Navy P2V patrol planes, supplemented by Air Rescue Service aircraft. Carrier and shore based helicopters are provided by Marine Air Group 26, a veteran recovery unit.

Stationed offshore will be a group consisting of the rescue ship Recovery and two minecraft. A group at Cape Canaveral includes many land vehicles and small vessels of the Air Force missile test center.

Football Player, Woman Killed In Car-Truck Crash

of Hendrix, he played freshman football for Northeast State College, but was temporarily off due to a knee injury. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hendrix, Sterlington.

The Vigg girl, a freshman at Northeast State College and graduate of Neville High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Vigg, 711 Orange St. Her condition was listed as serious but not critical, and her injuries included head injuries.

Little, the least injured of the four, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Little, Swartz Road, Monroe.

The Negro driver of the truck was uninjured.

Sinclair, the eye witness to the accident, said that he was driving west on the Milhaven Road, meeting the big truck and had to swerve to keep from hitting him.

The Hendrix youth and the Vigg girl were riding in the back seat of the car.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night for both Mrs. Little and the Hendrix youth, but will be under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Hendrix is survived by his parents, one brother, Steven Lewis Hendrix, Sterlington, and one sister, Elizabeth Ann Hendrix, Sterlington, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Hendrix, Hico.

State Shift In Defense Plans Urged

that protect from nuclear fallout."

The attack phase of Operation Alert started Friday and ended Saturday, with nuclear, bombs theoretically falling.

Lake Charles was the hardest hit. A two-megaton bomb, equal to two million tons of TNT, fell on Chennault Air Force Base and a ten-megaton bomb landed on the city. Officials declared 30,355 dead.

Winds scattered radioactivity across the state, forcing most of the 300 state and federal officials out of emergency civil defense headquarters at Camp Beauregard to Monroe, 75 miles to the north, in theory.

During the mock attack, a total of 10 nuclear bombs and missiles hit in or near the state's five largest cities. Other than Lake Charles, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Alexandria and Shreveport were targets.

CD officials figured that the attack would have left 122,805 dead, 62,008 injured and 52,709 missing. At least another 200,000 would have become ill from fallout.

A 10-ton megaton bomb dropped on Lake Des Allemands about 35 miles southwest of New Orleans. Under normal wind patterns, the Crescent City would have been covered with deadly radioactive fallout within a short time. But at the actual time of the simulated attack, the winds were blowing westward—one of the few days in the year that occurs.

For that reason, the fatality toll in New Orleans was only 30,150. Shreveport counted 40,125 dead, Alexandria 12,500, and Baton Rouge 9,675.

Airlines Strike Set For Tuesday By Machinists

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Association of Machinists said Saturday that its ground employes would strike National Airlines at 1 a.m. EST Tuesday.

John Sheridan, general chairman of the union's District 145, said the strike was called because negotiations with National were deadlocked. They began more than seven months ago. Since October, Sheridan said, union members have been working without a contract.

In Miami, Fla., National issued a statement saying:

"We are advised by A. J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists, bargaining agency for mechanics, that representatives of the union would be in the company offices Monday morning to resume contract negotiations. Hayes called from his Washington headquarters."

An airlines spokesman refused to comment on how a strike would affect service. He said approximately 1,000 ground employes belong to the IAM.

Sheridan said the union's order for the strike on all points of National's system followed a week of intensive negotiations at the National Mediation Board. The walkout could stretch from Boston to Miami and to Houston.

The dispute involves wages, sick leave, severance pay, seniority and other issues.

Rabbi Raps Birch Group For Attack

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (UPI)—A Cincinnati rabbi condemned the John Birch Society Saturday for its attack upon the Protestant clergy.

"An attack on the Protestant clergy is an attack upon us of the synagogue, too," said Rabbi Jay Kaufman, vice president of the American Hebrew Congregation.

Kaufman said that when Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, condemned the National Society of the Churches of Christ, "He condemned all those who believe that the voice of religion must be heard in our time."

Kaufman said there was no "evidence that the John Birch society is dabbling in anti-semitism." But he added, in an address to the mid-Atlantic council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, that it was "dangerous to ignore the reality of a secret reactionary society in these critical times."

"We Jews know from our history," he said, "that when hysteria and fanatacism are injected into the body politic all Democratic institutions which safeguard Jews and other Americans, are placed in peril."

Kaufman said that he objected to any government investigation aimed at black-listing the society.

"We do not have to resort to governmental oppression to deal with this problem," he said.

He said that the way to handle the society was "to tell the truth about them."

"Let the American people in its good judgement and wisdom guided by the press and the pulpit reject and repudiate the counsel of fanatacism and irrationality which flow from the Birch society," he said.

Eight Russians Visit Truman, Get His Views

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Eight young Russians visited former President Harry S. Truman Saturday and asked him about the prospects for better relations between the two countries.

"That depends on the Russians," Truman replied. "If they want to be good neighbors and keep their agreements we'll get along fine. No people are more anxious to be friendly with the Russians than the American people."

The Russians are visiting the United States under sponsorship of the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association. They spent most of last week at the University of Kansas.

Their spokesman, Nikolai Baranov, 39, asked Truman about U.S.-Soviet relations and disarmament.

Truman told them that disarmament could be achieved if the Soviets would agree to inspection.

The group toured the Truman Library.

spaceman's outlook on the world should be just as dramatic.

A full orbital flight for one of the seven astronauts who are still in the Mercury program is not expected for another six months to a year.

Tuesday's flight next week is a "crawl before you walk" affair, designed to test the bell-shaped space capsule, voice communications from space and—perhaps most importantly—to find out how well a man can perform under extremes of weightlessness and curshing perssure.

Glenn, Shepard and Air Force Capt. Virgil Grissom have undergone training for the flight for two years with their four astronaut "brothers." For the past three months, their special training has been even more intense.

This weekend, the two selected as "prime" and "back-up" will enter special quarters at "hangars" on the cape, where scientists will keep an especially close eye on them, their physical condition and their diet.

The final decision as to whether the prime astronaut is ready to go will be in the hands of Project Mercury Director Robert R. Gilruth. It is expected to come sometime late Monday.

Readings on the astronauts blood pressure, heartbeat and respiration will be the basis for Gilruth's history-making decision.

Shepard has been reported on several occasions to be slightly ahead "on points." Usually reliable sources said he could become America's first spaceman if his blood pressure check proves normal early Tuesday morning.

Scientists continued a minute-by-minute check on the mechanical condition of the capsule, its myriad of instruments and seven miles of wiring, the slender Redstone on Pad 5 that was built for the job, and the escape system designed to protect an astronaut's life if something goes wrong.

By Saturday, the days-long countdown had reached "T-minus 72"—72 hours before launching. It was still going on. These are critical hours, when minor slips and problems can mean major delays.

The weather on Tuesday will have to be almost perfect, both at the cape and in the target area southeaast of here. Recovery vessels will be waiting there to pluck the man and his capsule from the water.

Federal Aid Hopes Held By Prelate

NEW YORK (UPI) — Francis Cardinal Spellman indicated Saturday night he had hope for a possible compromise on the issue of federal aid to parochial schools based on a recent federal memorandum.

The New York prelate said the memorandum—issued by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—made "three concessions" from President Kennedy's original position that federal aid to parochial schools was barred by the Constitution.

The possible areas of "common ground," as cited by the cardinal included the memorandum's suggestions that:

1 — The federal government might legally provide funds to support school gymnasiums, cafeterias, laboratories and other non-religious facilities.

2—It might extend loans to church-related schools in cases where a distinction is made between religious and secular teaching.

3—It might constitutionally provide funds for secular text books and other non-religious study materials.

Spellman said that these "constitutionally acceptable approaches" would "alone or in combination achieve equality" for those citizens who chose to send their children to parochial schools.

His formal statement followed a study of the memorandum by Lawrence X. Cusack, counsel for the Roman Catholic archdiocese of New York.

Bank President Dies In Metairie

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Edward F. Chavanne, 57, president of the New Orleans Bank for Co-operatives, died Saturday at his home in Metairie after a long illness.

Chavanne, a native of Dublin, Ind., lived in Lake Charles for 30 years before coming here. He was in the banking business in southwestern Louisiana for many years before joining the co-op bank in 1936. He became president five years ago.

He is survived by his widow, one daughter, Jane; a son, Donald Chacanne, Houston, Tex., and one sister, Mrs. Leon M. Hyatt Sr., Lake Charles.

State Chapter Elects Officers

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Robert E. Lee of Baton Rouge was named president of the Louisiana chapter of the International Association of Personnel and Employment Security here Saturday.

Other officers elected were Jodie Lott, Alexandria, first vice president; W. R. Inabnett, Hammond, second vice president; Frank Mobley, New Orleans, secretary, and Charles Rihner, New Orleans, treasurer.

Executive board members elected were Mrs. Bernice Louis, Baton Rouge; Mrs. Julia Martin, New Orleans; Neeson J. Chauvin, Lafayette; W. P. Ochs, Monroe, and Mrs. Willie Lee Lane, Bogalusa.

Active U.S. Role In Asia War Studied

and other officials similarly declined to talk.

Kennedy expected reports over the weekend from roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who arrived in Vientiane Saturday. Reports were due also from Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who is on a tour including stops in Southeast Asia.

War Crisis Intervention Under Study

government of stalling on a cease fire. But the Reds were demanding cease fire talks only on their own terms.

The government of Premier Prince Boun Oum sent a 1,500-man mission into the jungle at Vang Khi, 22 miles from the strategic town of Vang Vien seized by the rebels last week. The government apparently presumed a Red cease-fire mission would meet with it there. None showed up. The war went on.

This was the situation:

In the Red main city of Xieng Khouang on the Plain of Jars, leftist ex-Premier Souvanna Phouma said the rebels were "victors" and Communist broadcasts said he demanded that the government send cease fire emissaries to Xieng Khouang. "We shall wait . . . for another 48 hours," he said.

In Moscow, the official Soviet Tass news agency said hopes for a cease-fire "have been dashed" because the U. S. - backed government does not really want one.

In the South China Sea, 60 American, British and Australian warships maneuvered with 6,000 troops in Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) war games, ready for action if ordered to intervene in Laos.

In London, a worried British government sought to head off intervention but let it be known it was ready for "appropriate action" if the Red advance continued.

In Hanoi, Red North Viet Nam announced it recognized the Pathet Lao "government" in Xieng Khouang.

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India received a message from President Kennedy urging a cease-fire in Laos.

The Canada-Poland-India International Commission for Laos first set up in 1954 met in New Delhi and reached "general agreement" on a report to be sent to Britain and the Soviet Union.

All this passed virtually unnoticed by tens of thousands of happy-go-lucky Laotians who gathered in Luang Prabang, the royal capital, to sing, dance in the streets and celebrate the cremation of the late King Sisavong Vong, who died 18 months ago. Death is happy to Laotians.

The cremation ceremonies began Saturday and the Boun Oum government hoped it would bring rebel Laotian leaders to the city for the rites and a chance to talk. None came.

In Vientiane, the administrative capital, there was less to cheer. Worried minor government officials welcomed Harriman, President Kennedy's diplomatic troubleshooter. He planned to fly to Luang Prabang Sunday for a "couple of days" of talks.

Harriman said he would make a report to Kennedy, who held a crisis session of the U. S. National Security Council in Washington and then went into conference with advisers on whether there sould be armed intervention in the landlocked kingdom.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was en route to Bangkok for Southeast Asia Treaty Organization talks Sunday.

Laotian Foreign Affairs Secretary Choa Sopsaisana announced his government would be willing to meet rebels anywhere along the battlefront to talk peace.

The only word from the Pathet Lao was from broadcasts claiming "victory" and insisting that any government peace mission come to Xieng Khouang—which would be a loss of face to the government.

Xieng Khouang lies in the Plain of Jars in central Laos. The plain, a vast savannah of tall grasses, is the main supply base for the rebels who receive equipment from Soviet planes.

Morse's subcommittee action has the full informal backing of the parent Foreign Relations Committee headed by Sen. J. William Fullbright, D-Ark., and the Senate Democratic leadership. The hearing will be Congress' first formal attempt to evaluate the administration's tactics in the Cuban situation and what future plans may be.

It was not immediately announced whether Bowles would accompany Rusk. Morse originally asked Bowles to appear as acting secretary in Rusk's absence but the meeting was postponed until Monday at Bowles' request.

The law "requires that when the Civil Service Commission develops any data which may reflect upon the loyalty of the subject, the matter is referred to the FBI for investigation," NASA said.

NASA also said three persons "resigned while proceedings were pending to dismiss them because of serious character defects. Removal proceedings will be initiated shortly in the case of two other cases discovered as a result of these investigations," NASA said.

There was no elaboration on these cases. Often in such resignations or dismissals, the persons involved are not accused of disloyalty but are regarded as bad risks because of homosexuality, heavy drinking, use of narcotics or other bad habits.

NASA has requested $1,115,000 for fiscal 1962 for security investigations. Last year Congress appropriated $1,248,000 for this purpose.

Legislators To Pass On Fiscal Needs

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Legislature, after five winter sessions fighting New Orleans school integration, opens a 30-day fiscal session May 8 to argue state spending issues.

By law, the regular fiscal legislature is restricted to money and budget matters. Its main job is to approve next fiscal year's budget expected to reach nearly $900 million for a new record.

The current spending program, including federal aid, is pegged at $865 million.

Because the recession altered, a deficit of up to $20 million is threatened this would have to be made up in the new budget.

As a whole, the state has been relaxed after the emotional and angry outbursts against federal courts, marking the five special sessions which began Nov. 4 and ended in February.

The federal courts have repeatedly and swiftly knocked aside a flow of legislative barriers to school integration.

Segregation legislators, who worked in a strong coalition with Gov. Jimmie Davis and top education officials, said they have no program to offer in the upcoming fiscal meeting.

Major Louisiana interest is concentrated on how much money will be available in the new fiscal year beginning July 1, and how all the spending requests can be squeezed tight enough to fit.

Assassin Plot Against French Leader Denied

PARIS (AP) — The French government took the unusual step Saturday night of denying that a plot had been discovered to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle.

There had been rumors never confirmed that an assassination of the president was planned for the night of April 21-22, eve of the Algiers military insurrection against his regime. The rumors said the authors of the plot had been arrested that night and had confessed.

Saturday night a spokesman of the Interior Ministry denied existence of such a plot and added:

1. No activist right-wing militants had been arrested that night.

2. The first arrests were made the following day, after the Algiers insurrection started.

He acknowledged that exceptional security measures were taken on the night in question.

Nuclear Talks At Crossroads

GENEVA (UPI) — The nuclear test ban conference stood at a crossroad Saturday with the United States and Britain searching for a means to break the Soviet-created deadlock over a Western treaty proposal.

The 30-month old negotiations recessed Friday until next Wednesday because of the Russian May Day celebrations. All three sides have scheduled full reports back to their governments during the brief respite from the conference table.

But the 300th meeting Friday came and went with chief Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin still adamant on a demand that any control commission for a test ban treaty should have three equally powerful officials in command, each with veto power over inspection on suspected treaty violations.

Legislators To Pass On Fiscal Needs

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Legislature, after five winter sessions fighting New Orleans school integration, opens a 30-day fiscal session May 8 to argue state spending issues.

By law, the regular fiscal legislature is restricted to money and budget matters. Its main job is to approve next fiscal year's budget expected to reach nearly $900 million for a new record.

The current spending program, including federal aid, is pegged at $865 million.

Because the recession interfered, a deficit of up to $20 million is threatened this would have to be made up in the new budget.

As a whole, the state has been relaxed after the emotional and angry outbursts against federal courts, marking the five special sessions which began Nov. 4 and ended in February.

The federal courts have repeatedly and swiftly knocked aside a flow of legislative barriers to school integration.

Segregation legislators, who worked in a strong coalition with Gov. Jimmie Davis and top education officials, said they have no program to offer in the upcoming fiscal meeting.

Major Louisiana interest is concentrated on how much money will be available in the new fiscal year beginning July 1, and how all the spending requests can be squeezed tight enough to fit.

Assassin Plot Against French Leader Denied

PARIS (AP)—The French government took the unusual step Saturday night of denying that a plot had been discovered to assassinate President Charles de Gaulle.

There had been rumors—never confirmed—that assassination of the president was planned for the night of April 21-22, eve of the Algiers military insurrection against his regime. The rumors said the authors of the plot had been arrested that night and had confessed.

Saturday night a spokesman of the Interior Ministry denied existence of such a plot and added:

1. No activist (right-wing militant) had been arrested that night.

2. The first arrests were made the following day, after the Algiers insurrection started.

He acknowledged that exceptional security measures were taken on the night in question.

Nuclear Talks At Crossroads

GENEVA (UPI)— The nuclear test ban conference stood at a crossroad Saturday with the United States and Britain searching for a means to break the Soviet-created deadlock over a Western treaty proposal.

The 30-month old negotiations recessed Friday until next Wednesday because of the Russian May Day celebrations. All three sides have scheduled full reports back to their governments during the brief respite from the conference table.

But the 300th meeting Friday came and went with chief Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin still adamant on a demand that any control commission for a test ban treaty should have three equally powerful officials in command, each with veto power over inspection on suspected treaty violations.

Cuba Heaps Insults On U.S., JFK

MIAMI (UPI)—Piling more insult and invective on the United States, Fidel Castro's radio Saturday said an effigy of President Kennedy wearing a Ku Klux Klan robe would be burned during Havana's "socialist" May Day celebrations.

The government-controlled press in Havana kept whipping up "hate Yankee" sentiment and the newspaper El Mundo reported 33 more anti - Castro invaders captured near the April 17 landing site in Las Villas province.

Premier Castro's regime now claimed 1,026 prisoners taken in the abortive landing.

The radio again warned the United States of "the rockets of the Soviet Union," and denounced Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) Chief Allen Dulles as "the gangster."

The CIA, accused by Cuba of sparking the invasion, was denounced as "the agency of asses."

The Havana radio went into great detail on the effigy of Kennedy to be burned Monday.

It will show Kennedy in the "classic pose of the Statue of Liberty," it said. But instead of holding a torch, the figure will hold a wad of dollars.

The crown of the effigy will be a steel helmet studded with cannons and the tunic will bear the emblem of the Ku Klux Klan, it said. To top it off, a vulture holding a Nazi swastika will perch on the figure.

The denunciations of Kennedy and the United States were coupled with increasing references to the "socialist revolution," and there were continuing reports Castro might use the May Day ceremonies as the occasion to align Cuba formally with the Soviet bloc.

Ike Will Meet Monday With Party Leaders

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower meets here Monday with the high command of the Republican Party in Congress to chart the course of loyal opposition to the Democratic administraion of President Kennedy.

The course is a difficult one because of current international crises requiring maximum national unity, plus the fact that some ranking Republicans are poles apart in their thinking.

Eisenhower, in his first major political activity since leaving the White House in January, will devote much of Monday to conferring with GOP National Chairman Thruston B. Morton, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, House Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana and about 10 other ranking Republican members of the House and Senate.

The meetings will be held in a pleasant old brick house on the edge of the Gettysburg College campus where Eisenhower has set up his offices. After the business talks, Dirksen and Halleck will hold a news conference, to be followed by a similar session between reporters and the former president.

Bicycle Thefts Said Solved, Negroes Booked

Three bicycle thefts reported during April were cleared and the bicycles recovered with the arrests of three different Negro juveniles, Monroe police said yesterday.

A bike reported stolen April 1 from T. M. Pace of 3723 Grammont St., was recovered when a 12-year-old Negro boy was arrested.

April 11, Mrs. C. J. Fontana of 3719 Grammont St., reported a bicycle stolen which was recovered from a 13-year-old Negro boy.

A 12-year-old Negro lad was taken into custody with a bicycle reported stolen April 26 from Louis Rainwater, 3301 Lionell St., Chief of Police James C. Kelly Jr. said.

All three of the juveniles will be tried in juvenile court.

Concert Set By Twin City Orchestra

The Twin City Symphony Orchestra will present a concert in Brown Auditorium on the campus of Northeast Louisiana State College on Monday at 8:15 p.m.

The performance is being given on the Northeast State Concerts Association series for members of the association, Dr. Harry M. Lemert, association chairman, announced.

Admissions will be by the Concerts Association membership card. Persons holding reserved seats will be seated in a reserved section on this occasion.

Featured on the program will be winners of the youth piano auditions held at the college last January. Miss Lorafaye Walters of Winnsboro will perform a movement from the Mozart piano concerto in A major, K 488, and Miss Mary Lou Holley of Pioneer will play a movement from the Saint Saens second piano concerto.

Miss Walters, a student of Mrs. Bernice Moore of Winnsboro, was winner in the junior division while Miss Holley won in the senior division. She is a student of Frank Parker of Monroe.

Other works to be featured include the Schubert Symphony Number 8, selections from "Carmen" by Bizet and the "Prelude a l'apres-midi d'un faune" by Debussy.

Dr. Lemert, dean of fine arts, will conduct.

Monday evening's performance marks the first appearance of the orchestra as a part of the Northeast State Concerts Association. Resulting from recent negotiations between the Concerts Association and the Symphony Association of Monroe-West Monroe, the two organizations entered into an agreement whereby the Twin City Symphony Orchestra concerts will become a part of the NSCA series, Lemert explained.

Students Tour Soil Areas For Louisiana

Northeast State students in Agronomy 158, soil classification, completed a tour of the major soil areas in Louisiana under direction of Dr. Jasper G. Hammons, associate professor of agronomy at the local college.

The study included coastal plain soils in the northern part of the state and those of the Red River Valley. Others which were examined were the Coastal Prairie soils near Crowley, those of the Mississippi River near Houma and Ferriday, and Loessials soils in the area of Lafayette, Baton Rouge and Natchez.

Included in the field trip were visits to the Louisiana Branch Agricultural Experiment Stations at Homer and Bossier City as well as the campus of the University of Southwestern and Southeastern Louisiana College.

Dawson Johns, superintendent of the Homer station, and Dr. Clarence Carter, agronomist, explained various research projects as they directed the visiting students through the station.

Dr. J. Y. Oakes, superintendent of the Bossier City plant, carried out a similar plan, and Dr. Charles Cain, Southwestern agronomist, discussed soils of the rice and sugar cane area. Dr. Cain pointed out that there is no restriction on sugar cane acreage this year because of the Cuban situation.

Making the trip were the following students: Harold Snowden of West Monroe; Cecil Kaufman, Winnsboro; Wayne Denham, Bernice; Aubrey Chisum, Sicily Island; Garland Colvin, Dubach; Ted McDaniel, Pineville; Bruce Busbice, Mangham; and Richardson Trimble, Plain Dealing.

Stay Order Blocks Convict's Release

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The son of a retired U. S. State Department employe, who thought he had won his release from prison with his homemade legal efforts, will have to stay another few days at least.

William K. Powell's scheduled release from Kilby Prison [illegible] p.m. Saturday was blocked by a stay order granted by Judge John R. Brown of the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. Brown ordered the release postponed until Tuesday.

The convict is the son of [illegible] E. Powell, who retired last November as a State Department officer assigned to Athens, Greece, and who now lives in Columbia, S. C.

The elder Powell said he and William's mother were divorced when the son was an infant and he has not seen him [illegible]. He said he has received a letter or two from the son.

The younger Powell wrote dozens of court petitions [illegible] during his fight for freedom from a [illegible]-year robbery sentence.

Alabama Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion had asked for the delay to give the state time to appeal from the release order [illegible] Thursday by Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. [illegible] Court.

Powell, now 30 and [illegible] was convicted in 1956 along with an alleged accomplice, James Hall, of robbing Mr. and Mrs. Lucius O. Browne, who operated an ice cream stand in Birmingham, of about $25.

Hall, the chief prosecution witness against Powell, pleaded guilty and got five years in prison.

After the Alabama Court of Appeals upheld his sentence, Powell wrote appeals to virtually every state and federal court available to him, including the U. S. Supreme Court.

Johnson at first refused to hear the convict's appeal, but the Supreme Court ordered him to grant a hearing. Johnson did, and then overruled Powell's petition for release.

Powell then went to the U. S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. The appellate court reversed Johnson, ruling that as far as it could determine from the records, "Powell's discharge will best serve the ends of justice."

Baboons Have Barrel Of Fun At Love Field

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A bunch of baboons had more fun than a barrel of people at the Love Field [illegible] airport Saturday, but the human beings involved weren't [illegible].

[illegible] baboons, crated in a [illegible] put their shoulders [illegible] scampered loose in the [illegible] cargo building and headed for some high rafters.

For [illegible] hours they swung from rafter to rafter, evading an army of airline employes and a small detachment of experts headed by the Dallas Zoo director, Pierre Fontaine.

A big game hunter finally lured the last escapee down with a banana on a long stick. When the baboon reached for it, he was [illegible].

Red Forces In Viet Nam Total 12,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. officials estimated Saturday that pro-Communist guerrilla forces seeking to overthrow the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam now have a total strength of nearly 12,000 men.

These forces, operating mostly in small units of a few dozen men, are said to be supplied with arms and reinforcements from Communist North Viet Nam. The threat they pose to the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem is regarded by President Kennedy and other high officials here as extremely serious.

The problem of providing additional support for Diem, who has received U. S. military aid for several years, was one of the Southeast Asian problems discussed at Saturday's National Security Council meeting at the White House.

It is intimately related with the military situation in Laos. A report from the State Department on the Lao civil war said two towns in south-central Laos "are under very heavy 'pro-Communist' Pathet Lao pressure." The towns were named as Tchepone and Muong Phin.

Informed officials said that in the Tchepone area alone a force of about 1,000 Pathet Lao troops is concentrated.

Administration officials said the situation in South Viet Nam has been so far overshadowed by the civil war in Laos that few people understand the dangers to Southeast Asia which exist there.

Behind this concept of threat apparently is a fear in Washington that the real Communist objective—regardless of what happens about a cease-fire in Laos—is to seek by guerrilla tactics to take over all of Southeast Asia as quickly as possible.

LT. GEN. Lionel McGarr, chief of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group in Vietnam, arrives Saturday for a top level White House Conference on the crisis in Laos. McGarr who was called to Washington for consultations, was invited to the conference by President Kennedy because of his knowledge of the military situation in Southeast Asia. (AP Wirephoto)

Officers Battle Thousands Of Student Rioters

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of police rushed to Galveston Saturday as fighting broke out among thousands of students crowding this beach resort city following riots in which police and students exchanged gun fire.

Thirteen youngsters were arrested late Saturday for fighting and unlawful assembly as 200 officers headed for this Gulf Coast island city to prevent a recurrence of riots which lasted until early Saturday morning.

The police department said 15 carloads of Lamar Tech College students from Beaumont were prevented from reaching Galveston when the ferry boat on which they were riding was ordered to turn around and return to the mainland. Police had received reports the students were on their way.

The 200 officers headed here were from Houston and other nearby cities. They were reinforcements for the more than 50 officers who battled thousands of thrill-seeking high school and college students here for the annual Splash Days which marks the opening of the swim season.

5 Children Die In Fire; Police Holding Mother

CHICAGO (UPI)—Five children died in a fire which swept a three-story apartment early Saturday and their mother, who was "visiting" when the blaze began, was held by police for questioning.

The mother, Marion Coleman, 33, was taken into custody when she arrived at the apartment building as firemen removed the bodies of the children.

Mrs. Coleman told police she had visited her mother and left the children with a babysitter identified as Annie Mae Johnson. Police were not able to verify the report, and pressed a search for the alleged babysitter.

Killed in the fire were Anita Coleman, 12; Bernell, 11; Francine, 8; Darlene, 5, and Eric, 4.

Italians Besiege British Queen

CAGLIARI, Sardinia (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II of Britain was besieged in her car Saturday by a happy, excited crowd at the start of her 11-day tour of Italy.

The queen and Prince Philip landed at Decimomannu Airport, 11 miles outside Cagliari, and cheering Italians broke through police lines as her car proceeded to the city. Police struggled for five minutes before clearing a path for the royal car.

Solon To Seek Tax Cut Repeal

BELMONT, Miss. UPI—State Sen. Flavous Lambert of Belmont said Saturday he will introduce in the 1962 Legislature a bill to repeal an income tax cut authorized last year.

He said repeal of the bill enacted by the 1960 Legislature is necessary to prevent an expected revenue of $30 million less than the legislature would need for the 1962-64 biennium.

New Charges Are Filed In Sheldon Case

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Harold E. Kistner Jr., 35, freed once of aiding and abetting a $2 million Sheldon bank embezzlement, faced a new and identical charge in the case Saturday.

The deposed president of the now-defunct Northern Biochemical Corp. of Sheldon, was named in a new 22-count federal indictment disclosed by U. S. Dist. Atty. F. E. Van Alstine.

Friday night Kistner had been convicted on 14 counts of selling corporation stock that had not been registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The new indictment deals with Kistner's financial dealings with Burnice Geiger, 58, the assistant cashier whose embezzlement shut the Sheldon bank. The government said Northern Biochemical owed the bank $978,837 for checks it issued but which Mrs. Geiger had not charged to its account.

In addition to holding a large amount of Northern Biochemical paper Mrs. Geiger also was its principal stockholder.

Shortly after her arrest last January Van Alstine charged Kistner with aiding and abetting the embezzlement but at that time U. S. Commissioner William M. Forker dismissed the complaint for lack of evidence.

Van Alstine said the new charge was the result of investigation by the grand jury.

The new indictment also names two Kistner aides in Northern Biochemical who were convicted with him Friday night in the stock sale case. They are A. M. Biderman, former bookkeeper for the firm and Robert Smith, former salesman.

However, Biderman and Smith were named only as coconspirators and not as criminal defendants in the new indictment.

A third former officer of the company, not immediately identified, was indicted as a coconspirator, the district attorney said.

U. S. District Court Judge Henry N. Graven held up sentencing of Kistner, Biderman and Smith on the illegal stock sale conviction pending presentence investigation. The maximum penalty is five years in prison and $5,000 fine on each count—11 each against Kistner and Biderman and one against Smith.

In the new indictment Kistner was charged on 12 counts with aiding Mrs. Geiger, nine counts of fraudulent sale of securities and one count of conspiracy.

Judge Graven ordered Kistner to appear May 10 on the new charges. The convicted men continued free on bond.

Musmanno, as judge in three of the Nuerenberg war crimes trials following World War II, presided over the trial of 23 defendants who were accused of slaying one million persons while under Eichmann's direction.

Musmanno said Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner of Israel requested him to submit evidence from the Nuerenberg trials bearing on Eichmann's role.

ONCE QUEEN OF RAILS

Famed 'Nelly Bly' Makes Final Trip

NEW YORK (AP)—She rolled away into history Saturday—the Nellie Bly—another of the famous passenger trains of yesteryear.

She was only a ghost of her former self on the final 143-mile run from New York to Atlantic City after 71 years.

Instead of hundreds of passengers there were but 50 and apparently the only sentimental ones among them were six retired railroad employes. Not a rail fan showed up.

And there were only three cars where once there were as many as 17. In recent years there were as few as two cars, with hardly any passengers.

With the passing of Nellie, a joint venture of the Pennsylvania, Reading Seashore Lines, there is no longer direct rail service between New York and Atlantic City. However, it remains possible to make the trip by train with a change at Philadelphia.

Cars, buses and planes doomed the once proud and elegant Nellie, as they have so many other trains recently.

At the height of her career, Nellie was a queen of the rails and the fastest thing on wheels in New Jersey. Her cars were plush and ornate, her dining car cuisine magnificent and her sleeping coaches the latest thing in comfort.

On holidays, travel was so great between New York and the famed seashore resort that as many as 10 extra sections had to be run. This, in actuality, meant 10 extra trains.

Nellie was named for a famous woman reporter of New York, who in 1889 made a trip around the world in 72 days to beat the 80 of the fictional Phineas Fogg.

The reporter, Elizabeth Cochrane, had adopted the pen name of Nelly Bly from the Stephen Foster song and spelled it as he did. Nobody knows why the train spelling was different.

JFK May Ask For Additional Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee said Saturday that world conditions may prompt President Kennedy to make a second request for additional defense spending.

The Georgia Democrat made the statement in an interview with United Press International. He said the view was his own and stressed that he was not making any prediction of the course which the President will follow.

Russell's committee is currently preparing to draft its version of the $12 billion authorization bill for planes, ships and missiles which is required this year for the first time. Russell is also a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee which already has started work on the $43 billion defense money bill.

"I do not believe it need involve any large sums of money," Russell said, "but I believe the deteriorating world situation may force the President to come up with a new request," Russell said.

The senator said he believes such a request might well involve a further shoring up of the nation's capacity for fighting limited wars.

HAUL OFF PACIFISTS

LONDON (AP) — A large force of police Saturday arrested more tha 300 ban-the-bomb demonstrators in Whitehall, outside the headquarters of many British government departments.

The demonstrators, demanding abolition of nuclear weapons, followed instructions to go limp at the approach of police. They were lifted from the pavement and hauled away by dozens in buses and trucks to Bow Street police station.

ONCE QUEEN OF RAILS

Famed 'Nelly Bly' Makes Final Trip

NEW YORK (AP)—She rolled away into history Saturday—the Nellie Bly—another of the famous passenger trains of yesteryear.

She was only a ghost of her former self on the final 143-mile run from New York to Atlantic City after 71 years.

Instead of hundreds of passengers there were but 50 and apparently the only sentimental ones among them were six retired railroad employes. Not a rail fan showed up.

And there were only three cars where once there were as many as 17. In recent years there were as few as two cars, with hardly any passengers.

With the passing of Nellie, a joint venture of the Pennsylvania, Reading Seashore Lines, there is no longer direct rail service between New York and Atlantic City. However, it remains possible to make the trip by train with a change at Philadelphia.

Cars, buses and planes doomed the once proud and elegant Nellie, as they have so many other trains recently.

At the height of her career, Nellie was a queen of the rails and the fastest thing on wheels in New Jersey. Her cars were plush and ornate, her dining car cuisine magnificent and her sleeping coaches the latest thing in comfort.

On holidays, travel was so great between New York and the famed seashore resort that as many as 10 extra sections had to be run. This, in actuality, meant 10 extra trains.

Nellie was named for a famous woman reporter of New York, who in 1889 made a trip around the world in 72 days to beat the 80 of the fictional Phineas Fogg.

The reporter, Elizabeth Cochrane, had adopted the pen name of Nelly Bly from the Stephen Foster song and spelled it as he did. Nobody knows why the train spelling was different.

JFK May Ask For Additional Defense Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Richard B. Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee said Saturday that world conditions may prompt President Kennedy to make a second request for additional defense spending.

The Georgia Democrat made the statement in an interview with United Press International. He said the view was his own and stressed that he was not making any prediction of the course which the President will follow.

Russell's committee is currently preparing to draft its version of the $12 billion authorization bill for planes, ships and missiles which is required this year for the first time. Russell is also a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee which already has started work on the $43 billion defense money bill.

"I do not believe it need involve any large sums of money," Russell said, "but I believe the deteriorating world situation may force the President to come up with a new request," Russell said.

The senator said he believes such a request might well involve a further shoring up of the nation's capacity for fighting limited wars.

HAUL OFF PACIFISTS

LONDON (AP) — A large force of police Saturday arrested more tha 300 ban-the-bomb demonstrators in Whitehall, outside the headquarters of many British government departments.

The demonstrators, demanding abolition of nuclear weapons, followed instructions to go limp at the approach of police. They were lifted from the pavement and hauled away by dozens in buses and trucks to Bow Street police station.

Thousands 'Die' As Mock Bombs Hit Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Tens of thousands of Mississippians were declared killed and injured in the wake of three mock nuclear bombs that shook the state from border to border during operation Alert 1961 Friday.

Hours before the three make-believe bombs killed 82,468 people and injured 16,332, Mississippi put its war game into high gear, simulating complete defense of the state.

The first move to protect the heads of government and the CD office was simulated evacuation of state government from Jackson into an undisclosed location and the safety of bunkers.

Consequently, no make-believe casualties were reported among state officials.

House Girds For Battle On Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Battle-lines are being drawn in the House for the third major clash on minimum wage legislation within the past year.

An administration-backed approach twice rejected by the House is due for another test Wednesday, and both sides are girding for an all-out effort.

At issue is the method of extending minimum wage protection to retail and service employes. Since the law was passed in 1938 coverage has been limited to workers in production and distribution.

The administration favors bringing in retail and service establishments doing at least $1 million annual gross business, with many specific exemptions.

A coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats in the House wants to hold new coverage to chains operating at least five outlets in two states.

Both sides would raise the present $1-an-hour minimum—the administration to $1.15 now and to $1.25 two years later, and the coalition to $1.15 with no further increase.

A year ago when the two versions were put to a vote the coalition triumphed 211-203. Last month it repeated its victory by a 216-203 vote, 186,185. The senate approved the $1 million gross business approach both times.

This time Democrats favorable to the administration control the House conferees and have agreed, for the most part, to the Senate version of the bill. Final agreement is expected Monday.

It is this agreement that must be approved by the House before the bill can be passed. The Senate is due to act on the conference report Tuesday and its acceptance is assured.

ISRAELI PREDICT

Ex-Nazi Won't Hang This Year

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Israeli legal sources predicted Saturday that Adolf Eichmann will not hang this year—even if he is convicted of murdering 6 million Jews.

Whatever the verdict of the Israeli court, the sources said, it probably will not be carried out before at least nine months.

The trial is expected to drag on until August, despite vigorous efforts of presiding Judge Moshe Landau to cut short rambling testimony and the time - consuming reading aloud of a mass of prosecution documents.

State Prosecutor Gideon Hausner told Landau Friday he hopes to have the prosecution case completed in another two months. Eichmann's German defense counsel, Robert Servatius, said his case was likely to take up at least one month, regardless of whether the former Nazi SS colonel testifies in his own defense.

Since summing up the vast material would take at least two more weeks, experts saw little prospect of a verdict before mid-August..

If Eichmann is convicted it was considered certain that Servatius will appeal to the Supreme Court. But the appeal could be heard only after the three-month court vacation.

Eichmann himself was reliably reported to be resigned to death on the gallows. The court recently heard a tape-recorded prediction in Eichmann's own voice that he will not live beyond his 56th year. He will be 56 next March.

DeGaulle Turns To Problem Of Algerian Peace

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle, convinced he has broken the back of a far-flung military plot against his regime, turned Saturday to the task of making peace with the Moslem rebels of Algeria.

The military plot against De Gaulle was far greater than had been suspected. More than 2,000 persons have been arrested in France in the army, the police and the civil service and another 650 in Algeria with more arrests expected.

There were few arrests in France Saturday, however, indicating the first phase of the De Gaulle purge was over. De Gaulle called in his top advisers for secret talks and it was reported they discussed peace with the Moslems.

Informed sources said De Gaulle's next move would be to get the rebels to open peace talks at Evians-Les-Baines, a resort town in southern France on the shores of Lake Geneva. Moslem reluctance and the opposition of army generals torpedoed the last scheduled talks.

Mother Of 11 Kills Husband With Shotgun

TOHULA, Miss. UPI — A farm woman killed her husband with a shotgun blast in the throat when he threatened to slay her and their 11 children, a sheriff's deputy said Saturday.

Mrs. Nellie Mae Douglas shot her husband, 45-year-old sawmill worker Newton Douglas, on the back porch of their farm home near here Friday night, said Holmes County Deputy Andrew Smith.

Smith said Douglas had been drinking and a .22 caliber pistol was found in his pocket. The deputy said Mrs. Douglas would be free without posting bond until a hearing Tuesday on the case.

Several of the children were in the home at the time of the shooting. Both Mrs. Douglas and her husband had children by previous marriages as well as by their own.

Students Held By Police After Galveston Riots

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Part of 4,000 college students who threw beer cans and swung their fists in a riot along Galveston's beachside streets most of Friday night, congregated in a new protest in front of the county jail Saturday.

The students who gathered in front of the jail totaled about 200. They wanted to protest the continued holding of some of their fellows for the night's nine-hour uproar, which lasted until 4 a.m. Friday night's riot resulted in 50 students being injured and 500-1,200 being arrested.

Fearing a new outbreak, police chased the 200 students across the street from the jail. There a heavy rain caught them and they fled.

None of the students hurt was hurt seriously. Police announced, after the rain put the 200 students in front of the jail to flight, that they had released everybody except eight or 10 juveniles who were held for their parents.

None of the students hurt was hurt seriously. Police announced, after the rain put the 200 students in front of the jail to flight, that they had released everybody except eight or 10 juveniles who were held for their parents.

DeGaulle Turns To Problem Of Algerian Peace

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle, convinced he has broken the back of a far-flung military plot against his regime, turned Saturday to the task of making peace with the Moslem rebels of Algeria.

The military plot against De Gaulle was far greater than had been suspected. More than 2,000 persons have been arrested in France in the army, the police and the civil service and another 650 in Algeria with more arrests expected.

There were few arrests in France Saturday, however, indicating the first phase of the De Gaulle purge was over. De Gaulle called in his top advisers for secret talks and it was reported they discussed peace with the Moslems.

Informed sources said De Gaulle's next move would be to get the rebels to open peace talks at Evians-Les-Baines, a resort town in southern France on the shores of Lake Geneva. Moslem reluctance and the opposition of army generals torpedoed the last scheduled talks.

Mother Of 11 Kills Husband With Shotgun

TOHULA, Miss. UPI — A farm woman killed her husband with a shotgun blast in the throat when he threatened to slay her and their 11 children, a sheriff's deputy said Saturday.

Mrs. Nellie Mae Douglas shot her husband, 45-year-old sawmill worker Newton Douglas, on the back porch of their farm home near here Friday night, said Holmes County Deputy Andrew Smith.

Smith said Douglas had been drinking and a .22 caliber pistol was found in his pocket. The deputy said Mrs. Douglas would be free without posting bond until a hearing Tuesday on the case.

Several of the children were in the home at the time of the shooting. Both Mrs. Douglas and her husband had children by previous marriages as well as by their own.

In Reading Instruction

More Vitality

New vitality has been injected into instruction in reading at Ouachita Junior High School here.

Teachers in grades one through eight, along with their principal. A. L. Lewis, this year launched a program to improve teaching of reading, particularly in the area of developing word study skills.

They summarized their main objective in this statement:

"Reading, being the most important subject in the curriculum, the school should provide for sequential and continuous development of the necessary skills, correct reading habits, and attitudes which will inspire the child to read, and which will create in him a love for reading which he will retain throughout life."

RANGE

They further observed, "Ouachita Junior High School has children ranging from the slow learner to the accelerated learner in grades one through eight, with approximately 1,300 children."

In the first grade 326 words are taught to students.

In the primary grades several different techniques are used in instruction and practice. These include recognition by sight, use of picture and context clues, use of phonics and word analysis.

Recordings, charts, nursery stories, riddles, pictures, and many other things are used daily to spur young students to greater achievement.

In the intermediate grades, four through six, there is a review of skills taught earlier, and application of them to more complex words. Many aids are used such as films, alphabet flash cards, puzzles, picture words, phonetic drill cards, reading charts and games, among other things.

The Junior High reading program provides for development in improving vocabularies through a growing knowledge of how root words, prefixes and suffixes build words. How context clues determine word meaning. How synonyms, antonyms and homonyms function, words can be used in many ways, and certain fields require special vocabularies, syllabication, accent and word meaning.

These skills are generally taught in meaningful context such as language, arts and social studies, rather than through mere mastering of lists of dictionary skills, the school officials said.

After students have scored favorable success in reading, many activities are planned for them to encourage a continuation of progress.

GREG POWELL and Robert Taylor enjoy perusing the unabridged dictionary, as a part of the Ouachita Junior High School reading program.

Rockets In Paradise

EDITOR'S NOTE — The Pacific Ocean used to be just that, a vast blue expanse polka - dotted by island paradises. Now the islands are crammed with electronics keeping watch on those strange new birds — Samos, Atlas, Midas and Minuteman. And when a fisherman cries "that she blows," it's nuclear sub, not whale.

By RALPH DIGHTON

POINT MUGU, Calif. AP — Let's take a ride on the nose of an Atlas missile headed for destruction somewhere above Kwajalein Island, far out in the Pacific.

Since the ride will be imaginary, it won't matter that it could not take place until early next year, when Nike Zeus missile - killers from Kwajalein will start trying to knock down Atlas missiles fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

The Pacific missile range stretches thousands of miles west and south of the main launching facilities at Vandenberg and nearby Point Arguello, Calif., 100 miles up the coast from range headquarters here.

GAINS SPEED

As the Atlas builds up speed to 15,000 miles an hour from the California coast, dropping swiftly away behind you, are:

1. Vandenberg's surface launch pads for Atlas missiles and Discoverer statellites, plus deep silos for operational Titan and Minuteman missiles.

2. The pads at Point Arguello for launching Samos spy camera satellites and Midas missile- detection satellites.

3. Point Mugu itself, the Navy's electronics - crammed brain that runs the vast network of tracking instruments spread across the Pacific.

In a few seconds you will be able to spot a number of radar and telemetry, space radio, ships hundreds of miles downrange. They track Discover, Midas and Samos satellites as they roar south toward orbit around the earth's poles.

LUSH GREEN

On you rush and soon there comes into view the lush green islands of Hawaii.

The first you see is the big island of Hawaii itself. On its bottom dip is a 60 - foot dish -shaped antenna that can "talk" with satellites over millions of miles. This station at South Point has been used to track Midas - and presumably the secret Samos satellite - and will track the upcoming Project Ranger shots to the moon.

A hundred miles beyond South Point, on the island of Oahu, site of Pearl Harbor and the center of U.S. forces in the Pacific, is the main downrange station of the Pacific missile range.

This is at Kaneohe Bay, across the island from the capital city of Honolulu.

From here electronic arteries span out to island tracking stations such as South Point, to downrange telemetry ships and to missile-target areas.

Beyond Hawaii, in a broad rectangle formed by Midway, Wake, Eniwetok and Kwajalein islands, is the target area for intercontinental missiles such as the Atlas.

Seconds after a nose cone hits in either of these impact areas, scientists at Kaneohe know about it.

Two types of acoustic systems determine how close the nose cones come to their target areas. In one system, microphones in the water pick up the sound of objects hitting the surface. In the other system, which can operate over much greater distances, hydrophones suspended 2,500 feet in the water detect the explosion of a bomb ejected from the missile and set to go off at a given depth.

You won't be able to get anyone to talk to you about it officially, but this also is one of the ways of detecting enemy submarines.

LISTENING POSTS

Beyond Oahu lies the island of Kauai, where the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has built huge antennas to track and talk with the astronauts in Project Mercury capsules to be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

The man on the ground will not only talk with the spaceman he will listen to his heartbeat and breathing and read instruments recording his temperature.

More than 2,000 miles beyond Kauai lies Kwajalein, where $100 million in concrete and steel and electronic gear is being assembled for the biggest "turkey shoot" in history.

As our Atlas nose cone comes into range, we see a huge white sphere, like a golf ball sitting on a tee, at one end of the island. Near it is a triangle-shaped structure-like the ball, 100 feet across.

The ball is a radar transmitter, sending impulses millions of times a second over all the sky from horizon to horizon. If our eyes could "see" radar waves, we would observe them bouncing off our vehicle and back to the ground, where the triangular antenna picks them up and records them.

RADAR BEAM

Once our presence in the sky is detected, a narrow radar beam focuses on us to measure our speed and distance. This information is fed to a giant computer which makes calculations and calls for the firing of a 48-foot-tall Nike Zeus missile from a concrete-lined hole in the coral of the island.

Civil War Vet In Uganda As Egypt Prince

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP) — The Civil War veteran from Baltimore introduced himself to King M'Tesa of Uganda as an Egyptian prince. The king welcomed his "royal" visitor into his straw, pyramid-shaped palace in the heart of his unexplored land.

Scores of his naked people fall flat on their faces before the king and his guest. Before the American understood what was happening, the king's warriors seized at random 30 of his subjects and beheaded them on the spot.

"Were these men criminals?" the American asked.

"Would I insult an Egyptian prince by immolating criminals in his honor?" the king asked. "These are sacrifices in honor of your visit."

That was in 1874. The American was Lt. Col. Charles Chaille-Long, who as an officer in the army of Egypt's ruler, Khedive Ismail, was exploring the upper regions of the Nile and expanding the Egyptian empire in Africa. Chaille-Long was one of 50 American Civil War veterans for whom the military road did not end with Appomatax.

Seeking to modernize his army, the Khedive Ismail had seen an opportunity in the reservoir of officers with fighting experience produced by America's Civil War. He brought half a hundred senior officers to Egypt, veterans of both the Union and Confederate armies.

Men who had worn the blue and the gray now donned a common uniform and once more became comrades in arms. Men who had fought against each other over the slavery issue now made common cause in fighting to suppress the slave trade in the barbaric regions of the Upper Nile.

The Khedive began recruiting officers for his army in 1870. The first was chosen on the recommendation of General William Tecumseh Sherman. Of the 50 who came to Egypt, 25 were Confederate veterans and 16 were from the Union army. Records are not clear on the other 9.

Reflect On War Prison Days

Ex-GIs Sip 'Milk Of Memory'

EDITOR'S NOTE — Each year on April 29, a group of former American prisoners of war in Germany go through an unusual ceremony involving a can of condensed milk and reminiscence. Here's the dramatic story behind the rite.

By KEITH FULLER

NEW YORK (AP) — At dinner Saturday night I performed a simple little ceremony of spooning a few bites of sweet condensed milk.

In Lawton, Okla., Frank C. Sneed was having his portion of the gooey sweetness. And perhaps in Frankfurt, Ky., Vernon Ligon; in Riverside, Calif., Harold Aschman; somewhere in New Jersey, James Bogart; and in Dallas, Dr. Tom Herndon.

In fact, in cities and towns across the country you were likely to find our kind holding their April Thanksgiving.

Ours is not a strange cult with the love of condensed milk. It is just symbolic of a time and place remembered.

PRISONERS

We were prisoners of war in Germany.

The year was 1945, the day April 29 and the place, Stalag VII-A, Moosburg, not far from Munich.

For a few nights we had heard the thump of guns like faraway thunder and had seen flashes of light on the night horizon. We knew that, after months for some and years for others, liberation was near.

We were excited but not jubilant. Rumors made the rounds that we would be moved to a redoubt area deep in the Bavarian Alps to be bargained for Hitler's life.

Around the compound prisoners gathered in clusters to hear the latest "gin" from some fellow prisoners, the origin of which was always a little hazy.

About 9 a.m. on our fateful Sunday, an American major, still wearing sidearms, entered camp and conferred with our senior American officers. His news was bad. The Germans would not withdraw from the area to let the battle line move over our camp. There would be a fight and we would have to take our chances. Apparently he came in under a flag of truce.

HARDSHIPS

Most of us were Air Corps officers shot down by flak or fighters. We had survived parachute jumps, civilian attacks, crash landings, interrogation and a blizzard march that taxed the limit of endurance.

Now at the moment before freedom, it was awesomely ironic to think of being killed.

Only wispy recollections of those few hours came through vividly. An L1 artillery spotter plane buzzed lazily across the camp wagging its wings in greetings.

Then two P51 fighters appeared and one dived on a target near the compound. The staccato of its machine guns seemed like a signal for all hell to break loose.

Shells whined over camp from the American tanks of the Third Army aimed at Moosburg. Small arms crackled and a few of us were wounded. We dived for the barracks, in and under, ripping out flooring with superhuman strength.

I lay beneath my bunk sweating and praying. You heard sobbing, cursing and praying in unison.

The eternity' it seemed may have been less than an hour. But suddenly it was quiet and voices drifted in from the compound. Gingerly we trickled outside again to see a Sherman tank lumber through the barbed wire. It was a moment of high emotion to see that barbed wire smashed down.

Someone pointed at Moosburg and laughed. From virtually every window in the hamlet something white floated. Sheets, underwear, shirts, towels — anything—white fluttered a signal of surrender.

While we watched, the German flag was hauled down and the Stars and Stripes went up. It did not matter that it went up upside down at first, then hastily was righted.

GREETINGS

Gen. George Patton, sporting his famous pearl - handled sidearms, roared into camp in a jeep and greeted us ragged prisoners.

That night with bellies full of white bread and C rations, courtesy of the Third Army, we slept free men again.

That was April 29, 1945.

The condensed milk?

During our imprisonment, Sneed would lie on his bunk — the lowest in a tier of three — and with a series of toot-te-toots, in lieu of lyrics, render Dixieland favorites in an Oklahoma monotone.

"Tailgate Ramble" and "When the Saints Go Marching In" sounded much the same the way Sneed toot-te-tooted them.

This would pass the time for him until he would announce it was time for evening coffee.

The 13 other men in the room would gather around to watch Sneed, duly elected coffee chef, measure out with the delicate care of a chemist, enough of the precious coffee powder to give hot water a flavor.

"Let's have cream in it tonight," Sneed would say matter of factly, as though the simple announcement needed no concurrence.

But he knew it would precipitate a crisis.

There were cries of "yes" and "no" and voices would rise in crescendo and the insoluble problem would be up for a vote again.

Would the room rather use the sweet, glorious, delectable condensed milk from the Red Cross parcel in Sneed's coffe or have it mixed with graham cracker crumbs, dried prunes and margarine into a sumptuous dessert so heavy in calories it made the eater break out with perspiration.

Sneed rarely won. The pastry chef, smug with confidence, would disdain arguing the point.

The vote was cast and Sneed would lose by a comfortable margin and would retire with his steaming cup of coffee - colored water to his bunk and cheer himself up with a chorus of St. James' Infirmary.

"When I get home I'm going to get myself a whole damn case of that stuff and have it three times a day," one of the men would say. Everyone would assent.

Barriers Are Broken

EDITORS' NOTE — Disturbingly often in the past Uncle Sam's envoys overseas have been unable to speak foreign languages and ended up with nothing more in their mouths than their foot. With the rapid rise of new nations, the language problem at the State Department is growing ever more acute. Here's what's being done to teach Americans how to speak.

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suppose one of President Kennedy's ambassadors feels a sudden urge to brush up on his French. Or the State Department needs a foreign service officer who speaks Tamil or Pashtu.

Ready to serve is an extraordinary school: The Foreign Service Institute.

It has no ivy on its walls — it dates back only 14 years. It has no campus — it's housed in an apartment building. But look at its curriculum:

53 LANGUAGES

Tamil, a minority language spoken in Ceylon, and Pashtu, spoken in Afghanistan and Pakistan, are only two of the 53 languages the institute teaches.

During his election campaign, President Kennedy said: "We must be represented abroad by our best people, and they must know languages other than their own."

The institute was established in 1947 and located in the Arlington Towers, an apartment house overlooking the Potomac River. It has two branches: The School of Foreign Affairs and the School of Languages.

All future diplomats, the young men and women who pass the exacting entrance examinations of the State Department, take a three-month course at the institute.

Then, after 10-15 years in the service, diplomats may come back for a three-month midcareer course. Finally a selected few who climb to the lofty heights of the hierarchy may be invited to attend a nine-month senior course, preparing them for top executive positions.

OTHER COURSES

Beside the three basic courses there are several others, lasting from one to four weeks, where experts lecture on a variety of subjects, such as Communist strategy, international labor affairs or atomic energy.

There also is an orientation course for diplomats' wives, offering guidance on social usage, the written and unwritten rules of protocol, on the peculiarities of the country to which the wife has to accompany her husband.

Nobody denies that foreign language skills are vital in the conduct of foreign affairs. "Speech is the mirror of the speaker," according to a Persian proverb, chosen by the institute as its slogan.

Also Congress recognized this and declared in a 1960 amendment of the Foreign Service Act that every foreign service officer should have a knowledge of the language spoken in the country he is assigned to. The amendment also ordered the Secretary of State to establish foreign language standards for assignment abroad.

The minimum desired goal is defined as "sufficient control of the language to participate effectively in all general conversation; discuss particular professional interests with reasonable ease ..."

At the institute native teachers, teach French, German, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese, for four months in daily six-hour classes. This, officials explain, is about all a student can take, considering the stiff requirements and their homework.

DELICATE POST

In such a delicate post as Moscow about 80 per cent of officers assigned to Spanish - speaking lands have what is called a professional level of proficiency in that language. The rate is 66 and 63 per cent respectively at French and German posts.

Even in the more remote posts there is generally at least one qualified language officer. For instance, in Phnom Penh there are two diplomats speaking Cambodian, and Addis Ababa in Ethiopia has two Amharic-speaking foreign service officials.

The institute rates 1,784 foreign service officers with a good knowledge of French, once the official language of diplomacy; Spanish second with 1,188; German 1,004; Italian 457; Portuguese 204; Chinese 75; Arabic 69; Norwegian 69; Swedish 63; Hindi and Urdu 29; Icelandic 4; Laotian 1; Japanese 57, and so on. Some officers speak more than one.

CHALLENGING

Africa represents a challenging problem. Although the present leaders of the emerging countries speak either French or English, there is little doubt that sooner or later these nations will adopt one of their dialects as the official language.

The trouble is that in most of the newly independent countries in Africa there is no one language generally spoken. There is, of course, Swahili and Housa, the former the Linqua Franca of the East, the latter of West Africa.

Since the unhappy incident of not so long ago, when an Eisenhower ambassadorial appointee to Ceylon confessed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he could not pronounce the name of the prime minister there, the institute also has been offering a 100-hour five-week training for non-career envoys.

Chaille-Long was one of 50 American Civil War veterans for whom the military road did not end with Appomatax.

Seeking to modernize his army, the Khedive Ismail had seen an opportunity in the reservoir of officers with fighting experience produced by America's Civil War. He brought half a hundred senior officers to Egypt, veterans of both the Union and Confederate armies.

Men who had worn the blue and the gray now donned a common uniform and once more became comrades in arms. Men who had fought against each other over the slavery issue now made common cause in fighting to suppress the slave trade in the barbaric regions of the Upper Nile.

The Khedive began recruiting officers for his army in 1870. The first was chosen on the recommendation of General William Tecumseh Sherman. Of the 50 who came to Egypt, 25 were Confederate veterans and 16 were from the Union army. Records are not clear on the other 9.

Reflect On War Prison Days

Ex-GIs Sip 'Milk Of Memory'

EDITOR'S NOTE — Each year on April 29, a group of former American prisoners of war in Germany go through an unusual ceremony involving a can of condensed milk and reminiscence. Here's the dramatic story behind the rite.

By KEITH FULLER

NEW YORK (AP) — At dinner Saturday night I performed a simple little ceremony of spooning a few bites of sweet condensed milk.

In Lawton, Okla., Frank C. Sneed was having his portion of the gooey sweetness. And perhaps in Frankfurt, Ky., Vernon Ligon; in Riverside, Calif., Harold Aschman; somewhere in New Jersey, James Bogart; and in Dallas, Dr. Tom Herndon.

In fact, in cities and towns across the country you were likely to find our kind holding their April Thanksgiving.

Ours is not a strange cult with the love of condensed milk. It is just symbolic of a time and place remembered.

PRISONERS

We were prisoners of war in Germany.

The year was 1945, the day April 29 and the place, Stalag VII-A, Moosburg, not far from Munich.

For a few nights we had heard the thump of guns like faraway thunder and had seen flashes of light on the night horizon. We knew that, after months for some and years for others, liberation was near.

We were excited but not jubilant. Rumors made the rounds that we would be moved to a redoubt area deep in the Bavarian Alps to be bargained for Hitler's life.

Around the compound prisoners gathered in clusters to hear the latest "gin" from some fellow prisoners, the origin of which was always a little hazy.

About 9 a.m. on our fateful Sunday, an American major, still wearing sidearms, entered camp and conferred with our senior American officers. His news was bad. The Germans would not withdraw from the area to let the battle line move over our camp. There would be a fight and we would have to take our chances. Apparently he came in under a flag of truce.

HARDSHIPS

Most of us were Air Corps officers shot down by flak or fighters. We had survived parachute jumps, civilian attacks, crash landings, interrogation and a blizzard march that taxed the limit of endurance.

Now at the moment before freedom, it was awesomely ironic to think of being killed.

Only wispy recollections of those few hours came through vividly. An L1 artillery spotter plane buzzed lazily across the camp wagging its wings in greetings.

Then two P51 fighters appeared and one dived on a target near the compound. The staccato of its machine guns seemed like a signal for all hell to break loose.

Shells whined over camp from the American tanks of the Third Army aimed at Moosburg. Small arms crackled and a few of us were wounded. We dived for the out flooring with superhuman strength.

I lay beneath my bunk sweating and praying. You heard sobbing, cursing and praying in unison.

The eternity it seemed may have been less than an hour. But suddenly it was quiet and voices drifted in from the compound. Gingerly we trickled outside again to see a Sherman tank lumber through the barbed wire. It was a moment of high emotion to see that barbed wire smashed down.

Someone pointed at Moosburg and laughed. From virtually every window in the hamlet something white floated. Sheets, underwear, shirts, towels — anything— white fluttered a signal of surrender.

While we watched, the German flag was hauled down and the Stars and Stripes went up. It did not matter that it went up upside down at first, then hastily was righted.

GREETINGS

Gen. George Patton, sporting his famous pearl - handled sidearms, roared into camp in a jeep and greeted us ragged prisoners.

That night with bellies full of white bread and C-rations, courtesy of the Third Army, we slept free men again.

That was April 29, 1945.

The condensed milk?

During our imprisonment, Sneed would lie on his bunk — the lowest in a tier of three — and with a series of toot-te-toots, in lieu of lyrics, render Dixieland favorites in an Oklahoma monotone.

"Tailgate Ramble" and "When the Saints Go Marching In" sounded much the same the way Sneed toot-te-tooted them.

This would pass the time for him until he would announce it was time for evening coffee.

The 13 other men in the room would gather around to watch Sneed, duly elected coffee chef, measure out with the delicate care of a chemist, enough of the precious coffee powder to give hot water a flavor.

"Let's have cream in it tonight," Sneed would say matter-of factly, as though the simple announcement needed no concurrence.

But he knew it would precipitate a crisis.

There were cries of "yes" and "no" and voices would rise in crescendo and the insoluble problem would be up for a vote again.

Would the room rather use the sweet, glorious, delectable condensed milk from the Red Cross parcel in Sneed's coffe or have it mixed with graham cracker crumbs, dried prunes and margarine into a sumptuous dessert so heavy in calories it made the eater break out with perspiration

Sneed rarely won. The pastry chef, smug with confidence, would disdain arguing the point.

The vote was cast and Sneed would lose by a comfortable margin and would retire with his steaming cup of coffee - colored water to his bunk and cheer himself up with a chorus of St. James' Infirmary.

"When I get home I'm going to get myself a whole damn case of that stuff and have it three times a day," one of the men would say. Everyone would assent.

Barriers Are Broken

EDITORS' NOTE — Disturbingly often in the past Uncle Sam's envoys overseas have been unable to speak foreign languages and ended up with nothing more in their mouths than their foot. With the rapid rise of new nations, the language problem at the State Department is growing ever more acute. Here's what's being done to teach Americans how to speak.

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Suppose one of President Kennedy's ambassadors feels a sudden urge to brush up on his French. Or the State Department needs a foreign service officer who speaks Tamil, or Pushtu.

Ready to serve is an extraordinary school: The Foreign Service Institute.

It has no ivy on its walls— it dates back only 14 years. It has no campus — it's housed in an apartment building. But look at its curriculum:

53 LANGUAGES

Tamil, a minority language spoken in Ceylon, and Pushtu, spoken in Afghanistan and Pakistan, are only two of the 53 languages the institute teaches.

During his election campaign, President Kennedy said: "We must be represented abroad by our best people, and they must know languages other than their own."

The institute was established in 1947 and located in the Arlington Towers, an apartment house overlooking the Potomac River. It has two branches: The School of Foreign Affairs and the School of Languages.

All future diplomats, the young men and women who pass the exacting entrance examinations of the State Department, take a three-month course at the institute.

service, diplomats may come back for a three-month midcareer course. Finally a selected few who climb to the lofty heights of the hierarchy may be invited to attend a nine-month senior course, preparing them for top executive positions.

OTHER COURSES

Beside the three basic courses there are several others, lasting from one to four weeks, where experts lecture on a variety of subjects, such as Communist strategy, international labor affairs, or atomic energy.

There also is an orientation course for diplomats wives, offering guidance on social usage, the written and unwritten rules of protocol, on the peculiarities of the country to which the wife has to accompany her husband.

Nobody denies that foreign language skills are vital in the conduct of foreign affairs. "Speech is the mirror of the speaker," according to a Persian proverb, chosen by the institute as its slogan.

Also Congress recognized this and declared in a 1960 amendment of the Foreign Service Act that every foreign service officer should have a knowledge of the language spoken in the country he is assigned to. The amendment also ordered the Secretary of State to establish foreign language standards for assignment abroad.

The minimum desired goal is defined as "sufficient control of the language to participate effectively in all general conversation; discuss particular professional interests with reasonable ease . . ."

At the institute native teachers, teach French, German, Spanish, Italian and Portuguese, for four months in daily six-hour classes. This, officials explain, is about ing the stiff requirements and their homework.

DELICATE POST

In such a delicate post as Moscow about 80 per cent of officers assigned to Spanish - speaking lands have what is called a professional level of proficiency in that language. The rate is 66 and 63 per cent respectively at French and German posts.

Even in the more remote posts there is generally at least one qualified language officer. For instance, in Phnom Penh there are two diplomats speaking Cambodian, and Addis Ababa in Ethiopia has two Amharic-speaking foreign service officials.

The institute rates 1,784 foreign service officers with a good knowledge of French, once the official language of diplomacy; Spanish second with 1,188; German 1,091; Italian 457; Portuguese 204; Chinese 75; Arabic 69; Norwegian 69; Swedish 63; Hindi and Urdu 28; Icelandic 4; Laotian 1; Japanese 57, and so on. Some officers speak more than one.

CHALLENGING

Africa represents a challenging problem. Although the present leaders of the emerging countries speak either French or English, there is little doubt that sooner or later these nations will adopt one of their dialects as the official language.

The trouble is that in most of the newly independent countries in Africa there is no one language generally spoken. There is, of course, Swahili and Housa, the former the Linqua Franca of the East, the latter of West Africa.

Since the unhappy incident of not so long ago, when an Eisenhower ambassadorial appointee to Ceylon confessed to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he could not pronounce the name of the prime minister there, the institute also has been offering a 100-hour five-week training for

Law Day USA Is Set

May 1 has been designated as Law Day USA by joint resolution of Congress and by proclamation of President Kennedy. Its observance is sponsored by the American state and local bar associations.

Its objectives are:

To foster a deeper respect for law by teaching how laws serve all citizens.

To encourage responsible citizenship by demonstrating that individual rights and freedoms involve individual obligations.

To promote national strength and by reaffirming faith in the "rule of law," as the foundation stone of American life and government, and as an example to the world of what reliance upon the rule of law can mean to peoples of all nations.

The rule of law is a system under which people are governed by established rules, whereby the freedom, dignity and worth of the individual are assured, and whereby disputes are settled by impartial courts. Our tradition of government by laws is the greatest legacy of freedom in the history of civilized peoples. Our country has been guided by the precept that individual rights and opportunities are of paramount importance.

The statement of these rights and principles, even in the Constitution, would not be enough. A legal system dedicated to giving them effect and preserving them is necessary. Such a legal order has given Americans their unusual freedoms and their singular opportunities for individual achievement. It has enabled our country to attain its present place of world leadership.

We rely upon law in some form in almost everything we do. We are protected by laws day and night—while we work, play, eat and sleep. The evidence of this is all about us. Every church stands as a monument to freedom of religion, every newspaper a fulfillment of the promise of freedom of speech, every school and library an evidence of our freedom to learn, every courthouse a symbol of equal justice under law.

With individual rights go individual responsibilities. Every American shares them. Persons exercising governmental authority have a responsibility to do so with fairness and with dedication to the public good.

Our system is dependent upon voluntary compliance with laws. The best answer to rising crime rates at home is a redoubling of efforts to strengthen voluntary obedience to law—through the home, the church, the school and the community agencies. Likewise the best antidote for tyranny abroad is a demonstration of the virtues of freedom at home.

Liberty under law is our precious heritage. Its continuance depends upon our respect for law and order.

This is the message of Law Day USA.

Our Peace Emissaries

One of the principal faults of President Kennedy's peace corps is that it is an extension of the plan to put the federal governmen into everything.

A great deal can be said for the proposal that young people can serve by going abroad as volunteers, giving of their skills and experience for bare expenses.

Americans have been doing exactly that for more than a century. Able young volunteers have brought American generosity and American skills to China, India, Africa and other underdeveloped and war-devasted areas of the globe.

These people were sent by private agencies. They did not represent the American government. Even when they made serious mistakes, they did not inspire "Yanks, go home!" signs. The natives judged them as individuals or as representatives of a religious denomination or even as Americans, but not as the agent of the United States government, which they were not.

Considering the small sums spent by private agencies as contrasted with government expenditures for foreign aid, incalculable good has been done both in advancing the morality and the educational and economic progress of the backward countries. If as much had been spent in sending missionaries to the underprivileged nations as the United States government has spent on foreign aid the good will of other nations for this country would have been vastly greater than it is and communism, as contrasted to Christianity, would have been greatly retarded.

Even infidelism is a form of religion or anti-religion. Communism embraces infidelism and it could not have made the advances it has made if religious principles had been more widespread.

As pointed out by Human Events, a conservative, anti-communist publication, most of the Americans who have gone abroad over the years to lend help to the backward countries were sent by the missionary societies of church denominations. Others were sent by private, non-profit organizations set up after World War I, such as the Near East Foundation, or by college groups, such as Yale in China. They have made indispensable contributions in education, health, farming skills and good will for their country.

The religious denominations of America have tens of thousands of these young people all over the world. They have been in darkest Africa and India for generations.

Some U.S. missionaries, at the risk of their lives stayed on in China after the communist takeover despite communist hatred for anything connected with Christianity.

The missionary-educational effort of the American people has been carried on with amazingly small amounts of money—the voluntary contributions of American churches.

One of the most glorious examples of American voluntary effort was that headed by Herbert Hoover (before he became president) from the first days of the invasion of Belgium in 1914 to the last days of the man-made famine in Soviet Russia.

Any American needing inspiration should read An American Epic" the report of the Hoover missions, published by the Henry Regnery company of Chicago.

Every dollar of the millions spent by the Hoover missions was a private gift.

Why can missionary societies, philanthropic foundations and private, non-profit organizations do a better job than the federal government?

First, missionary headquarters have had decades of experience in screening out the romantically naive see-the-world applicants. Second, they can be stricter than modern governments in handling those sent abroad. Third, there is no government involvement, and consequent loss of prestige or good will, when mistakes are made.

We have too much let-the-government-do-it in every phase of life, including our attempts at good relations abroad.

Dulles Denies Responsibility

Much-Criticized Central Intelligence Director Points Finger At White House And Pentagon

Central Intelligence Director Allen Dulles is emphatically denying that his much - criticized agency was responsible for the Cuban invasion fiasco.

In effect, he is pointing the finger at the White House and the Pentagon.

President Kennedy is inferentially agreeing with Dulles.

In talks with congressional leaders, the President has stressed that a number of high - placed and experienced officials participated in the deliberations that led to the Cuban setbake. He has carefully avoided singling out Dulles or anyone else for criticism.

This may explain in part the CIA chief's unexpected appointment as one of the four experts the President has named to make a thorough survey of U. S. "Intelligence and other para-military operations."

Dulles' categoric refutation of blame directly contradicts State Department views.

It holds Intelligence miscalculations were the principal culprit.

Significantly, the State Department is not represented on the group making the Intelligence study. The other three members are Attorney General Robert Kennedy, Admiral Arleigh Burke, Chief of Naval Operations and General Maxwell Taylor, retired Army Chief of Staff.

Secretary Dean Rusk is known to have advised against the ill-fated Cuban invasion. Congressional authorities are being told the State Department attributes that disaster to two main reasons:

(1) Inaccurate information on the extent of hostility inside Cuba to the Red - dominated Castro regime. The invasion was supposed to set off mass uprisings — which did not materialize. (2) Equally erroneous information on Castro's military capability to counter the attempts to establish operational beachheads.

The attackers counted on having three to five days to do that before Castro could effectively strike back. Instead, they were massively blasted virtually as they hit the beaches.

Dulles flatly denies responsibility for this costly tragedy.

CIA information, he firmly insists, was accurate, sound and reliable. The timing, strength and other invasion decisions were not made by him or his agency.

Those were decided by the White House and the Pentagon.

Who is right as between Dulles and the State Department remains to be shown. Obviously the President thinks well enough of Dulles to name him one of the Intellligence scrutinizers.

NEW CRACKDOWN — The forthcoming ban against Cuban imports to the U. S. — due next week — is one of two drastic measures in the works against the Castro regime.

The other is economic sanctions by the Organization of American States.

They are now being sounded out on that by the State Department, and a majority already have agreed to it. Principal exception so far is Mexico.

Main purpose of the proposed OAS embargo is to shut off the reshipment of U. S. machinery, parts and other equipment to Cuba by Latin Americans.

Most of Cuban industry, particularly sugar plants, utilities and transport facilities are U. S. made. They are encountering increasing breakdowns and difficulties due to lack of replacements as the result of the embargo imposed by President Eisenhower last December.

The Castro regime is frantically trying to obtain these supplies through Latin American sources.

Some of those countries, particularly the nine which have joined the U. S. in breaking diplomatic relations with Cuba, already are barring such shipments. Formal OAS approval of economic sanctions is counted on extending this embargo throughout Latin America.

CUBAN FLASHES — An "international brigade" of Latin Americans is reported to be in training in Czechoslovakia. They are estimated as numbering around 1,500 in a camp near Prague. These "volunteers" are in addition to Cuban pilots and technicians undergoing training in Czechoslovakia on MIG-17 jet fighters. Source of this information is German Intelligence . . . Senator Eugene McCarthy, (D., Wis.), is introducing a measure to set up a joint committee for the express purpose of keeping a check on the Central Intelligence Agency. Prospects of this legislation are not promising. Similar proposals have been made before without results. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., offered three bills of this kind, but they never got out of committee.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Informed People

Everybody Seems To Know About Everything At Parties

A dinner party is amusing when the conversation is exciting or brilliant or gay. When it gets heavy, it can be a bore, particularly when one has to make a point with emphasis of voice and gesture. Might just as well stay home and listen to connubial instructions.

Always at dinners, the discussions are topical and everybody seems to be well-informed on all topics, even if the preparation is neither knowledgeable nor meaningful. Keep it up, so that there is no deadly lull in the conversation. Suppose, you do not know what you are talking about—it does not matter as long as what you say is currently fashionable.

At this moment, the popular subjects are Cuba, Eichmann, Caroline Kennedy and the John Birch Society.

As for Cuba, the argument these days is that we have to go it alone but we don't want war. How do you go it alone without war — that is a very bad question to ask. It is fashionable to say that we should go it alone without war. Next month, war may not be currently conformable. Then those who opposed war will be in favor of war, provided that their men folks will be let off. It is startling to meet so many young men today who should have been in World War II but were not.

As for Eichmann, his trial is getting to be dull. A funny little man in a glass cage being tried for killing 6,000,000 persons is an interesting show for a week or two. The prolongation of the trial the legalisms, do not make exciting conversation. What can one say about Eichmann? It was all said so cogently in the Biblical text of Esther when Haman was the exterminator and Ahasuerus (Artaxerxes) was King of Persia. Man always kills men whether it is the Nazi who kills Jews, the Mau Mau who kill whoever stands in the way, Russians who slaughter Hungarians, Turks who murder Greeks, Greeks who murder Turks — the history of the human race is a prolonged tale of murder, individual and mass. Little Eichmann evokes neither hatred nor sympathy, sitting in the glass cage, he looks like a shnook.

Before television, talk had to be entertaining; otherwise one went to sleep. Today, the easiest way to avoid boredom is to turn on television — at least, you can see a murder or a war picture or a missile being hurled into the air. Television spoiled the Eichmann case as a conversation piece. Perry Mason conducts a much more interesting trial and his witnesses look alive. Eichmann is given no make-up and he already looks half dead.

So one turns to Caroline's ducks and that is good talk because every mamma can talk about dogs and rabbits and hamsters and other objects of special affection and concentrated kindness. You can never tell about children. Some of them get gawky and others take on blubber. And some are shy and others are fresh. And all that leads to talk about pediatricians, schools, clothes and clever talk.

Throwing the atom bomb at Hiroshima when Japan was begging for an armistice was not nice at all, but then it was war and war seems to be an excuse for anything. A friend argued against that. He insists that obedience in war time is not a moral equivalent for anything. He does not believe that anyone can order him to kill. He will not kill. That, of course, is very noble and genteel except it gives all the advantages to him who is willing to kill. The impudent can control the world unless someone stops them. Murder, Inc. might have controlled New York and chosen its Mayor — if nobody had electrocuted Lepke. It is very sweet to say "I shall not kill," but if Soviet Russia makes war on us those who are not for us are against us.

WASHINGTON Shorts

FARM LEGISLATION —There may be more farm legislation this year than anyone expected a month ago, but still is little prospect of an all - crop agricultural bill. Secretary Freeman is certain to propose legislation to cut the wheat surplus, appears ready to attack the glut of feed grains also. Both bills will likely deny price support to farmers who fail to cut acreage of surplus crops. Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the Senate Agriculture Committee opposes tackling other crops this year, and the Administration seems content to go along.

STORE KEEPER'S VISIT — American Retail Federation predicts hundreds of retail merchants will descend on Washington week of Arpil 10. Purpose: To induce Senate to pass Holland amendment to preserve the retail-service exemption. House bill exempted stores doing less than $200,000 a year volume, even though they were members of a chain.

Lessons Of Cuba

President's Ghastly Failure Needs Recording In History

WASHINGTON, D. C. — For history, if for nothing else, we need to review President Kennedy's ghastly failure in Cuba—and to find, if it's within truth and reason, some constructive lessons.

Mr. Kennedy failed in Cuba because he tried to ride two horses, and fell between them. One group of his advisors, the activists, urged him to throw the full resources of the United States military forces behind the Cuban invasion. Although the invasion was to be launched by Cuban patriots and other volunteers, trained and financed by our Central Intelligence Agency, the president was warned by the activists that the landing must not be allowed to fail — even if we had to commit the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The other group, the inactivists, were against the invasion, first and last. They opposed its launching. They opposed a presidential policy of insuring it against failure. They raised the hobgoblins of World War III, a retaliatory strike by Khrushchev at Berlin, Iran and Laos. Their counsel kept the president from throwing his heart over the fence — which is the only way to ride steeplechases or to lead a nation in time of peril. Three names were mentioned as White House inactivists, and I think the American public ought to have them. They are Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., McGeorge Bundy and W. W. Rostow.

The despicable alibis for Mr. Kennedy by some of his followers are so completely out of the president's character that they must be considered unauthorized by him. The alibi line is that the arming and training of the anti-Castro forces was an Eisenhower plan, and that Mr. Kennedy wasn't around and deserves no responsibility.

This is wholly false. To the president's credit he is taking full blame and responsibility. For the record, candidate Kennedy was fully briefed by CIA Director Allen Dulles before the fourth Nixon - Kennedy debate last autumn. Actually, if JFK had done as Ike did at Lebanon and in the defense of Quemoy - Matsu, the Cuban invasion would have succeeded.

President Eisenhower (a) put on a strong display of U. S. military power and (b) kept the enemy in doubt as to our willingness to shoot it out. President Kennedy (a) made no military display and (b) announced in advance that the U. S. would not intervene in Cuba. The contrast is between a mature man who had already lived amid world events, taken great risks, made enormous decisions, and an underdeveloped, younger man whose greatest decisions to date had been to enter the West Virginia and Wisconsin primary elections.

This much said, it should be instantly added that John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 43, has now walked through the flame. He has been bloodied as a president, battle-tested as the military leader, probed to the depths of his soul, searched with agonizing lancets and radition. This experience could make him — or break him.

As a personal opinion, backed by testimony of those who have sat with JFK in the torture chamber on the Avenue, I venture that Mr. Kennedy will come away from this experience a better man. My faith will be fortified on the day he expels Allen Dulles, downgrades or dismisses all the eggheads with Adlai Stevenson as the first to go, and fires a few shots heard round the world in defense of the American position.

But the time is past for rhetoric, for "reorganization," which means stalling, for "reappraisal," which means indecision, for writhing around in entangling alliances, which means allowing American foreign policy to be decided in foreign chancelries, for food - for - peace and buy-friendship plans, which mean that the USA will do everything for honor and liberty — everything, that is, except fight!

Views Of Our Readers

U. S. Alliances

WEST MONROE, La.

To the Editor,

This nation was warned of entangling alliances with foreign nations. This warning our government did not heed as a result we have alliances with nations around the world, with friendly, neutural and enemy nations as well.

The communist use these alliances to their own advantage to further their cause, our government, over the years, worked for the independance of people under colonial rule most of which were ruled by our present allies. The communists used colonialism as a means to win over these nations as they became independent, as well as to create more tension among the allies.

While the U. S. A. was acting as nursemaid to both our allies as well as the nations that became independent, at a cost of billions of dollars to the tax payers, only to have the communists either take over or a form of government friendly to Russia, an they neutral black mail us with the threat unless we gave them aid with no strings attached they would go communist. What a deplorable situation we find ourselves in at this time, caught like a fish in a net.

With the highest national debt of all time and owing more than the other nations combined, and if the present administration has its way we will be further in debt.

It is not enough to be against something. We must be for something and work to bring about our American ideals of a constitutional government which has proved its value over the years in building this nation.

A U.P.I. survey reports that several state legislatures has proposed legislation to either abolish or to limit the federal tax. None of them got very far. This same report states that if 34 state legislatures would promote amendments to federal income tax laws to demand a special congressional convention national legislators would be compelled under our constitution to consider the question, and I would suggest we also include the sale of all government surplus property that cost us taxes and apply on the national debt and abolish the agencies that handle the business of the surplus property, thus save the interest and the salaries of these employes, I understand that four states have passed laws, one of them being Louisiana, to sell government property after a period of three years. I don't think these laws would get any further than the supreme court which would rule it unconstitutional as they do other state laws. I would think if congress would pass a law to force the government to sell the surplus property the sale should start as soon as it becomes law as Uncle Sam might not have anything to sell at the end of three years at the present rate of spending.

I believe both the sale of government surplus property and to limit the amount of federal tax can be accomplished by the people through our civic organizations, our local officials the state legislators and the governor's office of the several states by using all means available such as the press radio and TV.

When the federal tax was adopted as a source of revenue some one suggested a ten per cent limit. This was called reduction yet today we know that they can tax you up to 91 per cent, for any and all kinds of wild spending schemes. It is up to the people either to do something about it or suffer the penalty of the burden of higher taxes, more deficit spending, a higher debt limit with the interest added on.

To the Editor:

National Library Week for 1961 has come to a close and I feel that it has been most successful. With your help we have been able to make an impact on a large segment of the population of the parish. In today's world there is an urgent need for a better read, better informed populace and I feel that we made real progress in this direction last week.

I wish I could write each of you a personal letter thanking you for your contribution to National Library Week, but I know what each of you did and appreciate it more than I can ever tell you.

Criticizes Lewis

MONROE, La.

To the Editor:

Mr. Fulton Lewis Jr. has been belaboring the Cuban situation at considerable length lately, as regards the State Departments efforts to install a Mr. Cardono in Castro's place. It being a foregone conclusion that Castro's days are numbered.

Mr. Lewis is either the biggest LIAR in print or on the air or treason is being committed by some one very high in our government. Incidentally, to argue the point as to my use of the word treason would, in my opinion, be simply a resort to technicalities.

What do you think?

The statement of these rights and principles, even in the Constitution, would not be enough. A legal system dedicated to giving them effect and preserving them is necessary. Such a legal order has given Americans their unusual freedoms and their singular opportunities for individual achievement. It has enabled our country to attain its present place of world leadership.

We rely upon law in some form in almost everything we do. We are protected by laws day and night—while we work, play, eat and sleep. The evidence of this is all about us. Every church stands as a monument to freedom of religion, every newspaper a fulfillment of the promise of freedom of speech, every school and library an evidence of our freedom to learn, every courthouse a symbol of equal justice under law.

With individual rights go individual responsibilities. Every American shares them. Persons exercising governmental authority have a responsibility to do so with fairness and with dedication to the public good.

Our system is dependent upon voluntary compliance with laws. The best answer to rising crime rates at home is a redoubling of efforts to strengthen voluntary obedience to law—through the home, the church, the school and the community agencies. Likewise the best antidote for tyranny abroad is a demonstration of the virtues of freedom at home.

Liberty under law is our precious heritage. Its continuance depends upon our respect for law and order.

This is the message of Law Day USA.

Our Peace Emissaries

One of the principal faults of President Kennedy's peace corps is that it is an extension of the plan to put the federal governmen into everything.

A great deal can be said for the proposal that young people can serve by going abroad as volunteers, giving of their skills and experience for bare expenses.

Americans have been doing exactly that for more than a century. Able young volunteers have brought American generosity and American skills to China, India, Africa and other underdeveloped and war-devasted areas of the globe.

These people were sent by private agencies. They did not represent the American government. Even when they made serious mistakes, they did not inspire "Yanks, go home!" signs. The natives judged them as individuals or as representatives of a religious denomination or even as Americans, but not as the agent of the United States government, which they were not.

Considering the small sums spent by private agencies as contrasted with government expenditures for foreign aid, incalculable good has been done both in advancing the morality and the educational and economic progress of the backward countries. If as much had been spent in sending missionaries to the underprivileged nations as the United States government has spent on foreign aid the good will of other nations for this country would have been vastly greater than it is and communism, as contrasted to Christianity, would have been greatly retarded.

Even infidelism is a form of religion or anti-religion. Communism embraces infidelism and it could not have made the advances it has made if religious principles had been more widespread.

As pointed out by Human Events, a conservative, anti-communist publication, most of the Americans who have gone abroad over the years to lend help to the backward countries were sent by the missionary societies of church denominations. Others were sent by private, non - profit organizations set up after World War I, such as the Near East Foundation, or by college groups, such as Yale in China. They have made indispensable contributions in education, health, farming skills and good will for their country.

The religious denominations of America have tens of thousands of these young people all over the world. They have been in darkest Africa and India for generations.

Some U.S. missionaries, at the risk of their lives stayed on in China after the communist takeover despite communist hatred for anything connected with Christianity.

The missionary-educational effort of the American people has been carried on with amazingly small amounts of money—the voluntary contributions of American churches.

One of the most glorious examples of American voluntary effort was that headed by Herbert Hoover (before he became president) from the first days of the invasion of Belgium in 1914 to the last days of the man-made famine in Soviet Russia.

Any American needing inspiration should read An American Epic" the report of the Hoover missions, published by the Henry Regnery company of Chicago.

Every dollar of the millions spent by the Hoover missions was a private gift.

Why can missionary societies, philanthropic foundations and private, non-profit organizations do a better job than the federal government?

First, missionary headquarters have had decades of experience in screening out the romantically naive see-the-world applicants. Second, they can be stricter than modern governments in handling those sent abroad. Third, there is no government involvement, and consequent loss of prestige or good will, when mistakes are made.

We have too much let-the-government-do-it in every phase of life, including our attempts at good relations abroad.

Dulles Denies Responsibility

Much-Criticized Central Intelligence Director Points Finger At White House And Pentagon

Central Intelligence Director Allen Dulles is emphatically denying that his much - criticized agency was responsible for the Cuban invasion fiasco.

In effect, he is pointing the finger at the White House and the Pentagon.

President Kennedy is inferentially agreeing with Dulles.

In talks with congressional leaders, the President has stressed that a number of high - placed and experienced officials participated in the deliberations that led to the Cuban setbakc. He has carefully avoided singling out Dulles or anyone else for criticism.

This may explain in part the CIA chief's unexpected appointment as one of the four experts the President has named to make a thorough survey of U. S. "Intelligence and other para-military operations."

Dulles' categoric refutation of blame directly contradicts State Department views.

It holds Intelligence miscalculations were the principal culprit.

Significantly, the State Department is not represented on the group making the Intelligence study. The other three members are Attorney General Robert Kennedy, Admiral Arleigh Burke, Chief of Naval Operations and General Maxwell Taylor, retired Army Chief of Staff.

Secretary Dean Rusk is known to have advised against the ill-fated Cuban nvasion. Congressional authorities are being told the State Department attributes that disaster to two main reasons:

(1) Inaccurate information on the extent of hostility inside Cuba to the Red - dominated Castro regime. The invasion was supposed to set off mass uprisings — which did not materialize. (2) Equally erroneous information on Castro's military capability to counter the attempts to establish operational beachheads.

The attackers counted on having three to five days to do that before Castro could effectively strike back. Instead, they were massively blasted virtually as they hit the beaches.

Dulles flatly denies responsibility for this costly tragedy.

CIA information, he firmly insists, was accurate, sound and reliable. The timing, strength and other invasion decisions were not made by him or his agency.

Those were decided by the White House and the Pentagon.

Who is right as between Dulles and the State Department remains to be shown. Obviously the President thinks well enough of Dulles to name him one of the Intellligence scrutinizers.

NEW CRACKDOWN — The forthcoming ban against Cuban imports to the U. S. — due next week — is one of two drastic measures in the works against the Castro regime.

The other is economic sanctions by the Organization of American States.

They are now being sounded out on that by the State Department, and a majority already have agreed to it. Principal exception so far is Mexico.

Main purpose of the proposed OAS embargo is to shut off the reshipment of U. S. machinery, parts and other equipment to Cuba by Latin Americans.

Most of Cuban industry, particularly sugar plants, utilities and transport facilities are U. S. made. They are encountering increasing breakdowns and difficulties due to lack of replacements as the result of the embargo imposed by President Eisenhower last December.

The Castro regime is frantically trying to obtain these supplies through Latin American sources.

Some of those countries, particularly the nine which have joined the U. S. in breaking diplomatic relations with Cuba, already are barring such shipments. Formal OAS approval of economic sanctions is counted on extending this embargo throughout Latin America.

CUBAN FLASHES — An "international brigade" of Latin Americans is reported to be in training in Czechoslovakia. They are estimated as numbering around 1,500 in a camp near Prague. These "volunteers" are in addition to Cuban pilots and technicians undergoing training in Czechoslovakia on MIG-17 jet fighters. Source of this information is German Intelligence . . . Senator Eugene McCarthy, (D., Wis.), is introducing a measure to set up a joint committee for the express purpose of keeping a check on the Central Intelligence Agency. Prospects of this legislation are not promising. Similar proposals have been made before without results. Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., offered three bills of this kind, but they never got out of committee.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Everybody Seems To Know About Everything At Parties

A dinner party is amusing when the conversation is exciting or brilliant or gay. When it gets heavy, it can be a bore, particularly when one has to make a point with emphasis of voice and gesture. Might just as well stay home and listen to connubial instructions.

Always at dinners, the discussions are topical and everybody seems to be well-informed on all topics, even if the preparation is neither knowledgeable nor meaningful. Keep it up, so that there is no deadly lull in the conversation. Suppose, you do not know what you are talking about—it does not matter as long as what you say is currently fashionable.

At this moment, the popular subjects are Cuba, Eichmann, Caroline Kennedy and the John Birch Society.

As for Cuba, the argument these days is that we have to go it alone but we don't want war. How do you go it alone without war — that is a very bad question to ask. It is fashionable to say that we should go it alone without war. Next month, war may not be currently conformable. Then those who opposed war will be in favor of war, provided that their men folks will be let off. It is startling to meet so many young men today who should have been in World War II but were not.

As for Eichmann, his trial is getting to be dull. A funny little man in a glass cage being tried for killing 6,000,000 persons is an interesting show for a week or two. The prolongation of the trial the legalisms, do not make exciting conversation. What can one say about Eichmann? It was all said so cogently in the Biblical text of Esther when Haman was the exterminator and Ahasuerus (Artaxerxes) was King of Persia. Man always kills men whether it is the Nazi who kills Jews, the Mau Mau who kill whoever stands in the way, Russians who slaughter Hungarians, Turks who murder Greeks, Greeks who murder Turks — the history of the human race is a prolonged tale of murder, individual and mass. Little Eichmann evokes neither hatred nor sympathy, sitting in the glass cage, he looks like a shnook.

Before television, talk had to be entertaining; otherwise one went to sleep. Today, the easiest way to avoid boredom is to turn on television — at least, you can see a murder or a war picture or a missile being hurled into the air. Television spoiled the Eichmann case as a conversation piece. Perry Mason conducts a much more interesting trial and his witnesses look alive. Eichmann is given no make-up and he already looks half dead.

So one turns to Caroline's ducks and that is good talk because every mamma can talk about dogs and rabbits and hamsters and other objects of special affection and concentrated kindness. You can never tell about children. Some of them get gawky and others take on blubber. And some are shy and others are fresh. And all that leads to talk about pediatricians, schools, clothes and clever talk.

Throwing the atom bomb at Hiroshima when Japan was begging for an armistice was not nice at all, but then it was war and war seems to be an excuse for anything. A friend argued against that. He insists that obedience in war time is not a moral equivalent for anything. He does not believe that anyone can order him to kill. He will not kill. That, of course, is very noble and genteel except it gives all the advantages to him who is willing to kill. The impudent can control the world unless someone stops them. Murder, Inc. might have controlled New York and chosen its Mayor — if nobody had elecctrocuted Lepke. It is very sweet to say "I shall not kill," but if Soviet Russia makes war on us those who are not for us are against us.

FARM LEGISLATION —There may be more farm legislation this year than anyone expected a month ago, but still is little prospect of an all - crop agricultural bill. Secretary Freeman is certain to propose legislation to cut the wheat surplus, appears ready to attack the glut of feed grains also. Both bills will likely deny price support to farmers who fail to cut acreage of surplus crops. Chairman Allen J. Ellender of the Senate Agriculture Committee opposes tackling other crops this year, and the Administration seems content to go along.

STORE KEEPER'S VISIT — American Retail Federation predicts hundreds of retail merchants will descend on Washington week of Arpil 10. Lessons Of Cuba

President's Ghastly Failure Needs Recording In History

WASHINGTON, D. C. — For history, if for nothing else, we need to review President Kennedy's ghastly failure in Cuba—and to find, if it's within truth and reason, some constructive lessons.

Mr. Kennedy failed in Cuba because he tried to ride two horses, and fell between them. One group of his advisors, the activists, urged him to throw the full resources of the United States military forces behind the Cuban invasion. Although the invasion was to be launched by Cuban patriots and other volunteers, trained and financed by our Central Intelligence Agency, the president was warned by the activists that the landing must not be allowed to fail — even if we had to commit the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The other group, the inactivists, were against the invasion, first and last. They opposed its launching. They opposed a presidential policy of insuring it against failure. They raised the hobgoblins of World War III, a retaliatory strike by Khrushchev at Berlin, Iran and Laos. Their counsel kept the president from throwing his heart over the fence — which is the only way to ride steeplechases or to lead a nation in time of peril. Three names were mentioned as White House inactivists, and I think the American public ought to have them. They are Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., McGeorge Bundy and W. W. Rostow.

The despicable alibis for Mr. Kennedy by some of his followers are so completely out of the president's character that they must be considered unauthorized by him. The alibi line is that the arming and training of the anti-Castro forces was an Eisenhower plan, and that Mr. Kennedy wasn't around and deserves no responsibility.

This is wholly false. To the president's credit he is taking full blame and responsibility. For the record, candidate Kennedy was fully briefed by CIA Director Allen Dulles before the fourth Nixon - Kennedy debate last autumn. Actually, if JFK had done as Ike did at Lebanon and in the defense of Quemoy - Matsu, the Cuban invasion would have succeeded.

President Eisenhower (a) put on a strong display of U. S. military power and (b) kept the enemy in doubt as to our willingness to shoot it out. President Kennedy (a) made no military display and (b) announced in advance that the U. S. would not intervene in Cuba. The contrast is between a mature man who had already lived amid world events, taken great risks, made enormous decisions, and an underdeveloped, younger man whose greatest decisions to date had been to enter the West Virginia and Wisconsin primary elections.

This much said, it should be instantly added that John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 43, has now walked through the flame. He has been bloodied as a president, battle-tested as the military leader, probed to the depths of his soul, searched with agonizing lancets and radition. This experience could make him — or break him.

As a personal opinion, backed by testimony of those who have sat with JFK in the torture chamber on the Avenue, I venture that Mr. Kennedy will come away from this experience a better man. My faith will be fortified on the day he expels Allen Dulles, downgrades or dismisses all the eggheads with Adlai Stevenson as the first to go, and fires a few shots heard round the world in defense of the American position.

But the time is past for rhetoric, for "reorganization," which means stalling, for "reappraisal," which means indecision, for writhing around in entangling alliances, which means allowing American foreign policy to be decided in foreign chancelries, for food - for - peace and buy-friendship plans, which mean that the USA will do everything for honor and liberty — everything, that is, except fight!

Views Of Our Readers

U. S. Alliances

WEST MONROE, La.

To the Editor,

This nation was warned of entangling alliances with foreign nations. This warning our government did not heed as a result we have alliances with nations around the world, with friendly, neutural and enemy nations as well.

The communist use these alliances to their own advantage to further their cause, our government, over the years, worked for the independance of people under colonial rule most of which were ruled by our present allies. The communists used colonialism as a means to win over these nations as they became independent, as well as to create more tension among the allies.

While the U. S. A. was acting as nursemaid to both our allies as well as the nations that became independent, at a cost of billions of dollars to the tax payers, only to have the communists either take over or a form of government friendly to Russia, an they neutral black mail us with the threat unless we gave them aid with no strings attached they would go communist. What a deplorable situation we find ourselves in at this time, caught like a fish in a net.

With the highest national debt of all time and owing more than the other nations combined, and if the present administration has its way we will be further in debt.

It is not enough to be against something. We must be for something and work to bring about our American ideals of a constitutional government which has proved its value over the years in building this nation.

A U.P.I. survey reports that several state legislatures has proposed legislation to either abolish or to limit the federal tax. None of them got very far. This same report states that if 34 state legislatures would promote amendments to federal income tax laws to demand a special congressional convention national legislators would be compelled under our constitution to consider the question, and I would suggest we also include the sale of all government surplus property that cost us taxes and apply on the national debt and abolish the agencies that handle the business of the surplus property, thus save the interest and the salaries of these employes, I understand that four states have passed laws, one of them being Louisiana, to sell government property after a period of three years. I don't think these laws would get any further than the supreme court which would rule it unconstitutional as they do other state laws. I would think if congress would pass a law to force the government to sell the surplus property the sale should start as soon as it becomes law as Uncle Sam might not have anything to sell at the end of three years at the present rate of spending.

I believe both the sale of government surplus property and to limit the amount of federal tax can be accomplished by the people through our civic organizations, our local officials the state legislators and the governor's office of the several states by using all means available such as the press radio and TV.

When the federal tax was adopted as a source of revenue some one suggested a ten per cent limit. This was called reduction yet today we know that they can tax you up to 91 per cent, for any and all kinds of wild spending schemes. It is up to the people either to do something about it or suffer the penalty of the burden of higher taxes, more deficit spending, a higher debt limit with the interest added on.

National Library Week for 1961 has come to a close and I feel that it has been most successful. With your help we have been able to make an impact on a large segment of the population of the parish. In today's world there is an urgent need for a better read, better informed populace and I feel that we made real progress in this direction last week.

I wish I could write each of you a personal letter thanking you for your contribution to National Library Week, but I know what each of you did and appreciate it more than I can ever tell you.

Criticizes Lewis

MONROE, La.

To the Editor:

Mr. Fulton Lewis Jr. has been belaboring the Cuban situation at considerable length lately, as regards the State Departments efforts to install a Mr. Cardono in Castro's place. It being a foregone conclusion that Castro's days are numbered.

Mr. Lewis is either the biggest LIAR in print or on the air or treason is being committed by some one very high in our government. Incidentally, to argue the point as to my use of the word treason would, in my opinion, be simply a resort to technicalities.

What do you think?

Yanks Trek To Oxford

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Kennedy Administration, with its accent on the intellectual, may be characterized as one of "scholarship." A number of top administration men are known as "Rhodes Scholars." What is a Rhodes Scholar? Here is a background report on Rhodes Scholarships —and the man who made them possible.

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The United States fascinated Cecil John Rhodes, the diamond tycoon and builder of the British Empire.

When he drafted his first will in 1877, at the callow age of 24, he stipulated that part of his considerable fortune be used to found a secret society dedicated to recovering the lost American colonies for the empire.

By the time he drew his seventh and final will in 1899, three years before his death, he had given up hope of reclaiming the United States and turned instead to the minds of its youth.

Rhodes created a program for luring Americans, and other foreigners, to a fountainhead of British learning. Thus, the famed Rhodes Scholarships were born and the phrase "a Yank at Oxford" came into the language.

Some of America's most pominent men have been beneficiaries of Rhodes' preoccupation with the Colonies.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is a Rhodesman. So is Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) So is Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan and M. A. MacIntyre president of Eastern Airlines.

ECHELONS

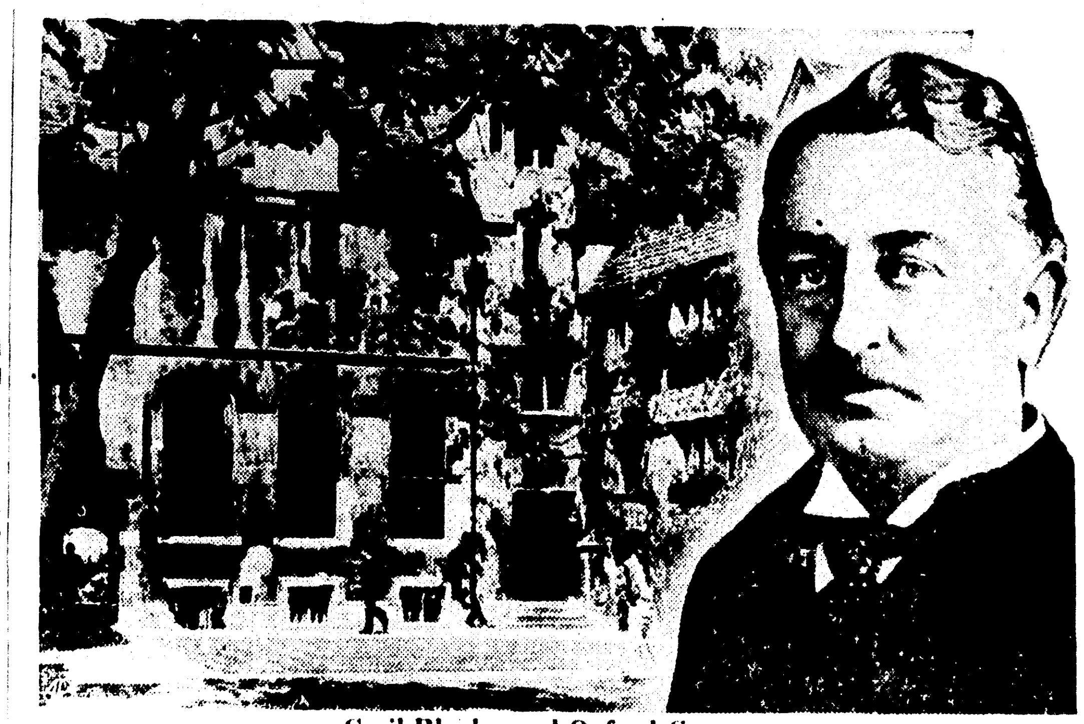
The secondary echelons of the Kennedy administration contain almost as many Rhodesmen as Harvards: men who heeded Rhodes admonition to "esteem the performances of public duties as their highest aim."

Any male citizen of the United States, unmarried, age 19 to 25, and at least a junior in college can apply.

Application is made either in the state where the student lives or where he attends school. Then he faces interview by a state selection board.

If he is one of the two chosen there, he is interviewed again by one of eight district boards, each of which annually selects four Rhodes scholars.

Rhodes will set forth the qualities a successful scholarship candidate should have:



Cecil Rhodes and Oxford Campus

1. Demonstrated ability and achievement.
2. Solidity of character.
3. Interest in his fellows and instincts for leadership.
4. Proficiency in manly outdoor sport.

The third qualification is the hardest to determine, says Frank G. Swain, Los Angeles judge and Rhodes scholar who has served on selection boards. Says Swain, who's a bit of a poet, too:

"Rejecting a candidate causes these fears

"That he may be president in just 30 years."

The fourth qualification, proficiency in manly outdoor sport, is given least weight.

It's true that Pete Dawkins, all-American football player at West Point, is in his second year at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar and last year amazed the British by winning a "blue" in both rugby and hockey.

But Dawkins also was first cadet scholastically, Phi Beta Kappa and class president at the military academy.

LARGE PORTION

Americans have received more than half (1,606) of the total scholarships granted since 1904, but the U. S. has never been the only country in the program. It started with the United States, Germany and 18 British colonies.

Today Rhodes Scholars come from Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Ghana, India, Jamaica, Malaya, Malta, New Zealand, Pakistan, Rhodesia, South Africa and the United States. Nigeria will come into the program this year and the Caribbean region in 1962.

A Rhodes Scholarship is worth $2,100 annually. It is for two years, although some scholars are permitted to remain at Oxford for three.

Rhodes himself attended Oxford eight years, off and on, with frequent trips to South Africa to protect his growing interests in the Kimberly diamond mines.

When Rhodes was 17 in 1870 his parents sent him from England to live with an older brother who was growing cotton in Natal. A year later the brothers sold the farm and staked a claim in the diamond fields.

By 1873 Cecil Rhodes had enough money to go to Oxford. Seven years later and a year before he received his degree, he formed the DeBeers Mining Co. In 1888 he gained control of DeBeers' largest competitor, the Kimberly Co., and consolidated the two, thus becoming master of the world's largest corporation at the age of 35.

The next year he chartered the British South Africa Co. to develop Rhodesia, a territory named after him. He also was prime minister of the Cape Colony for five years, 1890-95.

But he's best remembered for his scholarships.

What does a Rhodes Scholarship mean in the later lives of men who hold it?

GRATEFUL

Sen. Fulbright says:

"I have always been grateful for the days I spent at Oxford as beneficiary of a Rhodes Scholarship. My studies at Oxford and my experiences while traveling in Europe immediately thereafter proved to me that there is no substitute, in learning to know peoples of other lands and cultures, for living with them in their own countries.

"This conviction of the value of the international exchange of persons led me to author the legislaton which is the foundation of our current educational exchange program. It was my hope when the law went into effect in 1946 that the rapport between people which it might help to foster would lessen the tensions and stress plaguing our world."

Justice Harlan adds:

"First and foremost Oxford will give the American student a lively and abiding appreciation of the importance of the rule of law in the workings of a democratic society. No observant person can live in England for any substantial period of time without learning how thoroughly respect for law permeates all phases of English life."

First Chapter Of JFK Run Is Recounted

Editors Note: Sunday marks the end of the first 100 days of the Kennedy administration. John M. Hightower, veteran Associated Press diplomatic affairs writer, reviews the President's foreign policy experiences in the following story.

y JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Life was rough on the new frontiers of U.S. foreign policy during President Kennedy's first 100 days.

U. S. prestige suffered two damaging blows as the result of the Soviet Union's man in space triumph and the defeat of the Cuban rebel invasion.

Relations between Moscow and ashington turned worse after an initial "honeymoon" following ennedy's inauguration.

The possibility of new Communist conquests in Southeast Asia grew into a dangerous htreat despite the Soviet's long delayed agreement to a cease-fire in Laos.

The Atlantic alliance upon investigation by the new President proved to be shaky at the center. The European members were split over whether NATO should have its own nuclear striking force.

Negotiations with the Soviet Union for a ban on nuclear weapons tests degenerated rapidly into a new deadlock after a hopeful resumption at Geneva in March. Kennedy faced the prospect of having to decide soon whether the United States should resume nuclear test explosions.

As troubles multiplied the new President fell into the habit of reminding people with whom he conferred that he had warned last January: "The news will be worse before it is better."

But a reputation as a prophet is the least of the attributes required for greatness in the presidency and Kennedy's reputation, whatever it is to be, is only just beginning to develop. His great opportunities and his great challenges lie ahead.

The President's overriding problem since he took office Jan. 20 has been to accomplish two things simultaneously: He has faced the need to hold the line against Communist expansion into new lands and he has had to start preparing a counteroffensive by the United States and the Western allies. The counteroffensive would be a major new development in U. S. cold war policy—if Kennedy can bring it off.

To do it he must marshal new reserves of economic and military power and keep them ready for quick and flexible use. He must devise a plan of action which by his own definition would put the Communist bloc on the defensive without creating the danger of nuclear war. Perhaps most difficult of all he must win allied concurrence.

Snakes Repelled From Yards By New Compound

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A friend of snakes has invented a substance that throws them into a tailspin.

It is a repellant — so effective, he says, that its mere odor drives most reptiles away.

For "dumb" ones that barge on into it, an element has been added that kills them on contact.

Developer of the preparation — which should have a ready reception in snaky areas the world over — is a college professor, Dr. James H. Jenkins.

Teacher of wildlife management at the University of Georgia School of Forestry, he is known as a friend and champion of most snakes. He says they are beneficial to man as destroyers of insects and rodents.

HASTENS

That doesn't mean, he hastens to add, that such obnoxious crawling creatures as the vicious diamondback rattlesnake, the deadly bushmaster or king cobra have ary business in the home and yard.

Jenkins says his mixture will keep all these — and their less baneful cousins strictly out of small areas such as yards, campsites and compounds.

He and an associate, Robert Dixon of Griffin, Ga., already have begun international distribution. They report responses from about 30 foreign countries, among them India, Israel, Australia and atin American nations where snakes are a major problem.

Part of the repellant's effectiveness lies in a musk odor similar to that of a snake's natural enemies such as the mink and the mongoose.

DIFFERENCE

The odor, the professor says, is not obnoxious to persons, nor is the product poisonous or dangerous to children or pets.

He emphasizes that his preparation is not likely to eradicate snakes or upset the balance of nature. It is not practical, he explains, to apply it over wide enough areas.

The best results, he adds, are obtained by treating restricted areas to keep snakes from crawling under the house, harming campers or other groups.

A treated border 12 - to - 20 feet wide, he suggests, would keep snakes from a house and lot, housing development or [illegible] occupied area.

Anna Maria Counts On Big Hunches

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Anna Maria counts on big hunches.

"Just about 99 per cent of everything I do is by instinct," explains Broadway's new toast.

As star of the musical "Carnival!," the golden-voiced young lady, last name Alberghetti, is completing a show world slam which began with her debut as a prodigy of 13 in Carnegie Hall.

Television, movies and the big night clubs have since lifted Miss Alberghetti, 24 now, to the six-figure income bracket. For a while she yearned for opera. Now she feels popular entertainment is more her dish.

SUMMER STORK

"In the last three years I turned down about six musicals for Broadway," reports Anne Maria, whose only theater training has been in summer stock. "My instincts told me 'no' I was sitting by a swimming pool in Las Vegas when I got this script.

"When I finished the last page I was weeping. I guess everyone thought I was crazy."

The tears flow afresh for Miss Alberghetti at each performance in the final scene. This is not because "Carnival!" is remotely mournful, but because the luminouseyed star gets herself pitched to a peak of emotional involvement.

"There is no way to think it, you have to feel it," is her description of the moment when Lili, her naive stage being, leaves the world of childish wonderment forever to accept adult reality.

Everyone, including her mother, says Anna Maria, has learned to stay out of the dressing room for five minutes while she composes herself after the final curtain.

NO LESSONS

A performer who has never had an acting lesson in her life, Miss Alberghetti gives large credit to "instincts" for the way in which she develops Lili into three-dimensional being.

"The director, Gower Champion, let me go a lot on my instincts—but of course didn't approve every little bit I tried."

"Carnival!," which holds the New York Drama Critics Circle citation as the best musical of the season, takes place in a small European traveling show. It is based upon the same plot material a "Lili," a notable film of eight years ago.

"All I remembered about the movie," says Anna Maria, "was that Leslie Caron was wonderful and that the story was a simple one."

She avoided looking at it anew, to avoid any accidental imitation. Besides, "Carnival!" has a brand new score of its own, by Bob Merrill.

MEMORABLE

Meeting the composer and producer David Merrick were memorable moments for Miss Alberghetti.

"Bob drives everyone insane," she reports with a laugh. "He always wants more from you."

Her approach to Merrick was marked by some trepidation. She had heard he was a difficult boss.

"He was so charming," she says. "He told me he had heard I was hard to get along with.

"I'm sure a lot of people think I am temperamental. But that is something that is out of my control."

Learned Men Write History For Students

RECONSIDERATIONS. By Arnold J. Toynbee. Oxford. $10.

THE CITY IN HISTORY. By Lewis Mumford. Harcourt, Brace and World. $11.50.

These two books are by learned men, who take all of recorded history as their province. Hence it is the serious reader, not the casual one, who will find stimulating hours in these pages.

But no one needs to be equipped with a doctorate to reap enlightenment and enjoyment, particularly in the case of Mumford.

Toynbee's book is Vol. XI of his famous Study of History, and its title is apt. Ever since the earliest volumes of the Study were published in 1934, criticism and comment have been pouring forth from many sources. Furthermore, archeological research has turned up new facts in certain areas. So in this volume he has brought together his second thoughts on many topics and his replies to his critics.

CANDID

He is quite candid. He admits not without a quite pride, that his mind has changed, and grown, while his Study was being written. He reviews his use of certain historical terms, his methods of measuring certain civilizations. And in an annex titled "Ad Hominem" he cheerfully discusses the possible distortions which might have arisen from his own ancestry, education and place in life.

To cite only one theme on which he has second thoughts, he finds "some truth" in the contention of Jewish scholars that his "irritation at the Jews, like my opposition to a Europocentric presentation of history, comes from a sense of guilt toward the Western colonial powers' subject peoples."

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Vacation Plans Made

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

National Library Week has drawn to a close and it was a complete success. Now we are busy rescheduling the Bookmobiles routes for the summer trips and making plans for the summer vacation reading clubs for the children of Ouachita Parish.

We have had most successful clubs in previous years and are looking forward to a fine one this summer. New books continue to arrive and are eagerly read by the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

"Pilgrim Strangers," is the title of a new novel by Charles Mercer. This story is as modern as tomorrow and has it's setting in the Congo of today. Mercer has written a tragic comedy which poses searching questions about the role of other countries in revolutionary Africa today. Its view of Africans is realistic as it shows the west gap between the dim gropings of the Congolese for independence and the sense of responsibility essential to true freedom. It is also a good story of an American family in this region and has a tender love story to appeal to many readers.

NEW LIGHT

For a new light on the world in which we live, do not miss "Pilgrim Strangers." Those who like stories of high adventure and far away places will want to read "Days of Gold," a novel of the Yukon country, written by Irwin R. Blacker. The author has traveled in this country and has succeeded in writing a rare kind of novel-the serious adventure story in which the adventurer himself is more important than the adventure. This book will be compared with the work of Joseph Conrad, which it resembles in some respects.

A true story of adventure in the far north is "Angel of Hudson Bay." This is the true story of Maud Watt, who did so much for the Indians of that region. It was written by William Ashley Anderson, and is interesting and enlightening.

FOR YOUNG ADULTS

A delightful and interesting novel written especially for young adults is "Ship Afire," by Richard Armstrong. This is an exciting story of adventure on the high seas and will appeal to many readers. Much is being written at the present time about the necessity of libraries in elementary schools. The Ouachita Parish school system was the first in Louisiana to have such a library in every elementary school There are many people in this field, who will want to read a new book called "Elementary School Libraries," written by Jean Elizabeth Lowrie. It gives much valuable information about settin up such a library, physical facilities and the book collection. Another valuable book in the field of education is "Programs for the Gifted: a Case Book in Secondary Education," edited by Samuel Everett. This study suggests programs to meet specific situation, including ones designed to overcome limitations of a rural environment, or a small high school and others planned to take advantage of the opportunities in a larger school system. It too will be of great interest to educators.

Everyone who read "The Hidden Persuaders," by Vance Packard will want to read "The Strategy of Desire," by Ernest Dichter. The author is president of the institute for Motivational Research. He believes that human desires are alterable and that this is a necessary step in human progress. This is a challenging and illuminating book for the serious reader. A welcome addition to the field of literature is "Selected Poems of Thomas Randy,"edited by John Crowe Ransom. This is the sort of thing which a library purchases to build up the quality of it's book collection and will be used by students of literatue. In a lighter vein is "Put Your Best Look Forward," by Glynne Hiller. This is a guide to good looks, good health and good grooming, written for teen age girls. There is a copy in each branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library, for we know by experience that we can never have enough of this sort of material.

Readers of western stories will want to read "The Treasure of Fan Fan Flat," by William O. Turner. This is a Double Western and makes exciting reading. Recently the library was given a complate set of the works of Max Brand. These books will also appeal to the many people who like a good western.

College students have made requests for the college outline series in English Literature. We ordered them in the fall and two of them came at once, but only this week, did the first one in the series arrive. It is called "Guide to English Literature; from Beowulf Through Chaucer and Medieval Drama." It will be invalnable to students of this early period of English literature and we are happy to have it before the summer term opens at the college.

A valuable addition to our Reference Collection is the 1961 edition of the Congressional Directory, which came to us as a gift from our congressman, Otto Passman. This book contains much valuable information a b o u t government agencies as well as biographical material about the members of the United States Congress. We are very happy to have it in our collection.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Serenade, Dutch Treat In Offing

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

While the Monroe Little Theatre was enjoying its successful opening run, two young Monroyans were holding forth before the footlights at Louisiana College in Pineville.

In the school's presentation of "The Lark," a story of Joan of Arc by Jean Anouilh adapted into English by Lillian Hellman, Charlotte Salley and James Horton played leading parts.

Charlotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salley and a freshman at Louisiana College, took the lead role of Joan.

COMING EVENTS

One of the musical highlights of the La. Tech concert season will be the appearance of the Amsterdam, Holland, Concert-gebouw orchestra. The world famous musical organization will play two concerts in Howard Auditorium on Thursday, May 11.

The spring concert of the Twin City Symphony Orchestra is slated for tomorrow evening at 8:15 at Brown Hall on the Northeast campus.

Here's an educated guess as to what that Dutch "Concert-gebouw" means — concert building or music hall.

SERENADE

The ninth annual "Spring Serenade" variety show will be sponsored by the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce. Date for the production has been set for Monday, May 8, at Neville auditorium.

Theme of this year's serenade is "A Grand Night for Singing," and the program will consist of a variety of selections from Broadway musicals and opera to special effect numbers.

In the last mentioned category will be piano rendition of Liszt's "Liebestraume" with a humming chorus in the background and Handel's "Largo," performed as a vocal solo with a cello as part of the accompaniment. LeRoy Ansbach will perform as piano soloist and Mrs. Betty Martin as cellist.

Special lighting and backdrops will make possible a variety of backgrounds in this year's "Spring Serenade." Scenes will range from an outdoor garden, a palace ballroom, and a Spanish courtyard to alternating red, white and blue columns for the patriotic finale, "America Our Heritage."

Out Denton, Texas, way the music department has added over 50,000 square feet of area to its facilities. North Texas State rings a bell in the mind of many Monroyans since Miss Margaret Kalil, local soprano who made good in New York, was invited to join the resident artist faculty there.

So well - designed are the new facilities until even the practice rooms are built with non - parallel walls in order to avoid unwanted reverberation. Dean Kenneth Cuthbert who assisted with the design and planning of the new facilities said the school has 32 full - time teachers, seven part - time, 30 doctoral fellows and masters tutors and 476 music majors.

As E. Clyde Whitlock of the Fort Worth Star Telegram put it, "There is the evidence of earnest activity about the place."

A Fable: The Owl Always Hoots Twice

THE OWL HOOTS TWICE AT CATFISH BEND. By Ben Lucian Berman. Taplinger. $2.95.

This is the third in the Catfish Bend series, an animal fable told by the mayor of the community, a raccoon.

Being a fable, it naturally develops on the two levels of animal adventure and human connotations.

It is the story of a renegade gray fox who ingratiated himself with the animals of the Bend and then brought in gangster rats to help him take over the place.

There is a pompous eagle who turns out to be an appeaser when the fox and the rats break the truce between the animals and the birds. There is a black snake who is a cliche - quoting bore, but he manages to stick with the mayor right down to the almost fatal end. And there is a little bat who is terribly upset because he isn't sure whether he is a bird or an animal, and doesn't know which side to help.

Finally, at the moment when the animals — led by the wrong leaders — are about to overcome the birds, a pack of tomcats summoned from the outside by the raccoon makes quick work of the bad leaders. The Bend's animals come apologetically back to the raccoon and want him to lead them again. So the animals and birds make peace once more.

You can figure out the allusions.

About Records

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — At least three of the songs in the remake of the movie "State Fair" will carry a history-making credit line:

"Music by Richard Rodgers. Lyrics by Richard Rodgers."

And next season a new but still unwritten Broadway musical will carry another set of unprecedented credits.

"Music by Richard Rodgers Lyrics by Alan Jay Lerner."

After 25 years of writing music in anticipation of lyrics by Lorenz Hart and 19 years of fitting music to the lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein ---, Broadway's most successful and most prolific composer is setting off in two different directions on a brand new career.

JOY

No matter what the assignment, even writing his own lyrics, Rodgers (at 58) can still generate the same effervescence and undimised joy as he did when he was a freshman writing the undergraduate shows at Columbia University.

"People always think that writing lyrics is simply a matter of making words rhyme. It's not. It's more like a mosaic, putting a lot of little things together—ideas, images, words, meter, rhythm, rhyme — and making them fit."

Its work, all right, hard work, and so is the job of getting used to a new lyricist, whether it be Larry Hart, Oscar Hammerstein, Richard Rodgers or Alan Jay Lerner.

"I always e n j o y working," Rodgers says. "This is not blood, sweat and tears. It never h a s been. When Oscar handed me a typewritten lyric, it presented a problem. I love solving problems. That's the fun of writing music."

Light And Lance Penetration By James Thurber

LANTERNS AND LANCES. By James Thurber. Harper. $3.95.

At the age of 66 going on 50, James Thurber finds that "I cannot confine myself to lightness in a period of human life that demands light," as he says in the foreward to this collection of essays from various publications.

So he throws a few lantern beams — don't let him fool you, they usually are as penetrating as an antiaircraft searchlight — and "a few lances at the people and ideas that have disturbed me."

Some of the l a n c e s are hurled in "How the Kooks Crumble," a piece printed here for the first time, and it is very clear that the radio is one thing that has disturbed him no end.

Some of his best light is shed in "The Saving Grace." Ostensibly this is a bit of cocktail party banter about the present state of humor, but within the framework of this zany conversation are some astringent observations about the grim, negative cheerfulness that often passes for humor these days.

DISCUSSES

He also discusses, in a less flippant manner, the modern theater, in "A Case for Comedy." He makes the point that humor and comedy have taken an ideological beating from the intellectual left and the political right. But although he finds the modern theater morbid, existing in what he calls our Oral Culture, he refuses to believe the present cycle of decadence will go on forever.

Some of these pieces lag a bit when the author becomes entangled in alphabetical games to cure insomnia, but these lapses are offset by some outrageous spoofs. Such as one about colossal advertising for super-spectacle movies. And some of his puns [illegible]

Yanks Trek To Oxford

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Kennedy Administration, with its accent on the intellectual, may be characterized as one of "scholarship." A number of top administration men are known as "Rhodes Scholars." What is a Rhodes Scholar? Here is a background report on Rhodes Scholarships —and the man who made them possible.

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The United States fascinated Cecil John Rhodes; the diamond tycoon and builder of the British Empire.

When he drafted his first will in 1877, at the callow age of 24, he stipulated that part of his considerable fortune be used to found a secret society dedicated to recovering the lost American colonies for the empire.

By the time he drew his seventh and final will in 1899, three years before his death, he had given up hope of reclaiming the United States and turned instead to the minds of its youth.

Rhodes created a program for luring Americans, and other foreigners, to a fountainhead of British learning. Thus, the famed Rhodes Scholarships were born and the phrase "a Yank at Oxford" came into the language.

Some of America's most pominent men have been beneficiaries of Rhodes' preoccupation with the Colonies.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is a Rhodesman. So is Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) So is Supreme Court Justice John M. Harlan and M. A. MacIntyre president of Eastern Airlines.

ECHELONS

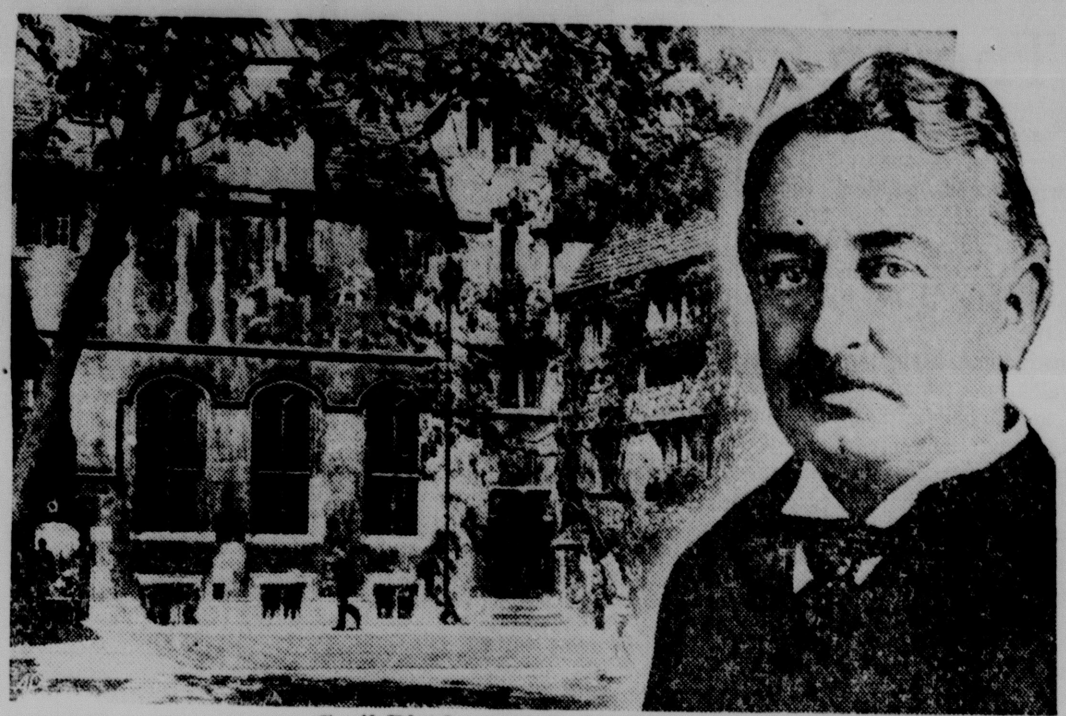
The secondary echelons of the Kennedy administration contain almost as many Rhodesmen as Harvards; men who heeded Rhodes admonition to "esteem the performances of public duties as their highest aim."

Any male citizen of the United States, unmarried, age 19 to 25, and at least a junior in college can apply.

Application is made either in the state where the student lives or where he attends school. Then he faces interview by a state selection board.

If he is one of the two chosen there, he is interviewed again by one of eight district boards, each of which annually selects four Rhodes scholars.

Rhodes will set forth the qualities a successful scholarship candidate should have:



Cecil Rhodes and Oxford Campus

1. Demonstrated ability and achievement.
2. Solidity of character.
3. Interest in his fellows and instincts for leadership.
4. Proficiency in manly outdoor sport.

The third qualification is the hardest to determine, says Frank G. Swain, Los Angeles judge and Rhodes scholar who has served on selection boards. Says Swain, who's a bit of a poet, too:

"Rejecting a candidate causes these fears

"That he may be president in just 30 years."

The fourth qualification, proficiency in manly outdoor sport, is given least weight.

It's true that Pete Dawkins, all-American football player at West Point, is in his second year at Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar and last year amazed the British by winning a "blue" in both rugby and hockey.

But Dawkins also was first cadet scholastically, Phi Beta Kappa and class president at the military academy.

LARGE PORTION

Americans have received more than half (1,606) of the total scholarships granted since 1904, but the U. S. has never been the only country in the program. It started with the United States, Germany and 18 British colonies.

Today Rhodes Scholars come from Australia, Canada, Ceylon, Ghana, India, Jamaica, Malaya, Malta, New Zealand, Pakistan, Rhodesia, South Africa and the United States. Nigeria will come into the program this year and the Caribbean region in 1962.

A Rhodes Scholarship is worth $2,100 annually. It is for two years, although some scholars are permitted to remain at Oxford for three.

Rhodes himself attended Oxford eight years, off and on, with frequent trips to South Africa to protect his growing interests in the Kimberly diamond mines.

When Rhodes was 17 in 1870 his parents sent him from England to live with an older brother who was growing cotton in Natal. A year later the brothers sold the farm and staked a claim in the diamond fields.

By 1873 Cecil Rhodes had enough money to go to Oxford. Seven years later and a year before he received his degree, he formed the DeBeers Mining Co. In 1888 he gained control of DeBeers' largest competitor, the Kimberly Co., and consolidated the two, thus becoming master of the world's largest corporation at the age of 35.

The next year he chartered the British South Africa Co. to develop Rhodesia, a territory named after him. He also was prime minister of the Cape Colony for five years, 1890-95.

But he's best remembered for his scholarships.

What does a Rhodes Scholarship mean in the later lives of men who hold it?

GRATEFUL

Sen. Fulbright says:

"I have always been grateful for the days I spent at Oxford as beneficiary of a Rhodes Scholarship. My studies at Oxford and my experiences while traveling in Europe immediately thereafter proved to me that there is no substitute, in learning to know peoples of other lands and cultures, for living with them in their own countries.

"This conviction of the value of the international exchange of persons led me to author the legislaton which is the foundation of our current educational exchange program. It was my hope when the law went into effect in 1946 that the rapport between people which it might help to foster would lessen the tensions and stress plaguing our world."

Justice Harlan adds:

"First and foremost Oxford will give the American student a lively and abiding appreciation of the importance of the rule of law in the workings of a democratic society. No observant person can live in England for any substantial period of time without learning how thoroughly respect for law permeates all phases of English life."

First Chapter Of JFK Run Is Recounted

Editors Note: Sunday marks the end of the first 100 days of the Kennedy administration. John M. Hightower, veteran Associated Press diplomatic affairs writer, reviews the President's foreign policy experiences in the following story.

y JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Life was rough on the new frontiers of U.S. foreign policy during President Kennedy's first 100 days.

U. S. prestige suffered two damaging blows as the result of the Soviet Union's man in space triumph and the defeat of the Cuban rebel invasion.

Relations between Moscow and Washington turned worse after an initial "honeymoon" following Kennedy's inauguration.

The possibility of new Communist conquests in Southeast Asia grew into a dangerous htreat despite the Soviet's long delayed agreement to a cease-fire in Laos.

The Atlantic alliance upon investigation by the new President proved to be shaky at the center. The European members were split over whether NATO should have its own nuclear striking force.

Negotiations with the Soviet Union for a ban on nuclear weapons tests degenerated rapidly into a new deadlock after a hopeful resumption at Geneva in March. Kennedy faced the prospect of having to decide soon whether the United States should resume nuclear test explosions.

As troubles multiplied the new President fell into the habit of reminding people with whom he conferred that he had warned last January: "The news will be worse before it is better."

But a reputation as a prophet is the least of the attributes required for greatness in the presidency and Kennedy's reputation, whatever it is to be, is only just beginning to develop. His great opportunities and his great challenges lie ahead.

The President's overriding problem since he took office Jan. 20 has been to accomplish two things simultaneously: He has faced the need to hold the line against Communist expansion into new lands and he has had to start preparing a counteroffensive by the United States and the Western allies. The counteroffensive would be a major new development in U. S. cold war policy—if Kennedy can bring it off.

To do it he must marshal new reserves of economic and military power and keep them ready for quick and flexible use. He must devise a plan of action which by his own definition would put the Communist bloc on the defensive without creating the danger of nuclear war. Perhaps most difficult of all he must win allied concurrence.

Snakes Repelled From Yards By New Compound

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A friend of snakes has invented a substance that throws them into a tailspin.

It is a repellant — so effective, he says, that its mere odor drives most reptiles away.

For "dumb" ones that barge on into it, an element has been added that kills them on contact.

Developer of the preparation — which should have a ready reception in snaky areas the world over — is a college professor, Dr. James H. Jenkins.

Teacher of wildlife management at the University of Georgia School of Forestry, he is known as a friend and champion of most snakes. He says they are beneficial to man as destroyers of insects and rodents.

HASTENS

That doesn't mean, he hastens to add, that such obnoxious crawling creatures as the vicious diamondback rattlesnake, the deadly bushmaster or king cobra have any business in the home and yard.

Jenkins says his mixture will keep all these — and their less baneful cousins strictly out of small areas such as yards, campsites and compounds.

He and an associate, Robert Dixon of Griffin, Ga., alrady have begun international distrution. They report responses from about 30 foreign countries, among them India, Israel, Australia and Latin American nations where snakes are a major problem.

Part of the repellant's effectiveness lies in a musk odor similar to that of a snake's natural enemies such as the mink and the mongoose.

DIFFERENCE

The odor, the professor says, is not obnoxious to persons, nor is the product poisonous or dangerous to children or pets.

He emphasizes that his preparation is not likelty to eradicate snakes or upset the balance of nature. It is not practical, he explains, to apply it over wide enough areas.

The best results, he adds, are obtained by treating restricted areas to keep snakes from crawling under the house, harming campers or other groups.

A treated border 12 - to - 20 feet wide, he suggests, would keep snakes from a house and lot, housing development or similar occupied area.

Anna Maria Counts On Big Hunches

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Anna Maria counts on big hunches.

"Just about 99 per cent of everything I do is by instinct," explains Broadway's new toast.

As star of the musical "Carnival!," the golden-voiced young lady, last name Alberghetti, is completing a show world slam which began with her debut as a prodigy of 13 in Carnegie Hall.

"When I finished the last page I was weeping. I guess everyone thought I was crazy."

The tears flow afresh for Miss Alberghetti at each performance in the final scene. This is not because "Carnival!" is remotely mournful, but because the luminouseyed star gets herself pitched to a peak of emotional involvement.

"There is no way to think it, you have to feel it," is her description of the moment when Lili, her naive stage being, leaves the world of childish wonderment forever to accept adult reality.

Everyone, including her mother, says Anna Maria, has learned to stay out of the dressing room for five minutes while she composes herself after the final curtain.

"The director, Gower Champion, let me go a lot on my instincts—but of course didn't approve every little bit I tried."

"Carnival!," which holds the New York Drama Critics Circle citation as the best musical of the season, takes place in a small European traveling show. It is based upon the same plot material a "Lili," a notable film of eight years ago.

"All I remembered about the movie," says Anna Maria, "was that Leslie Caron was wonderful and that the story was a simple one."

She avoided looking at it anew, to avoid any accidental initation. Besides, "Carnival:" has a brand new score of its own, by Bob Merrill.

Meeting the composer and producer David Merrick were memorable moments for Miss Alberghetti.

"Bob drives everyone insane," she reports with a laugh. "He always wants more from you."

Her approach to Merrick was marked by some trepidation. She had heard he was a difficult boss.

"He was so charming," she says. "He told me he had heard I was hard to get along with.

THE CITY IN HISTORY. By Lewis Mumford. Harcourt, Brace and World. $11.50.

These two books are by learned men, who take all of recorded history as their province. Hence it is the serious reader, not the casual one, who will find stimulating hours in these pages.

But no one needs to be equipped with a doctorate to reap enlightenment and enjoyment, particularly in the case of Mumford.

Toynbee's book is Vol. XI of his famous Study of History, and its title is apt. Ever since the earliest volumes of the Study were published in 1934, criticism and comment have been pouring forth from many sources. Furthermore, archeological research has turned up new facts in certain areas. So in this volume he has brought together his second thoughts on many topics and his replies to his critics.

CANDID

He is quite candid. He admits, not without a quite pride, that his mind has changed, and grown, while his Study was being written. He reviews his use of certain historical terms, his methods of measuring certain civilizations. And in an annex titled "Ad Hominem" he cheerfully discusses the possible distortions which might have arisen from his own ancestry, education and place in life.

To cite only one theme on which he has second thoughts, he finds "some truth" in the contention of Jewish scholars that his "irritation at the Jews, like my opposition to a Europocentric presentation of history, comes from a sense of guilt toward the Western colonial powers' subject peoples."

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Vacation Plans Made

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

National Library Week has drawn to a close and it was a complete success. Now we are busy rescheduling the Bookmobiles routes for the summer trips and making plans for the summer vacation reading clubs for the children of Ouachita Parish.

We have had most successful clubs in previous years and are looking forward to a fine one this summer. New books continue to arrive and are eagerly read by the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

"Pilgrim Strangers," is the title of a new novel by Charles Mercer. This story is as modern as tomorrow and has it's setting in the Congo of today. Mercer has written a tragic comedy which poses searching questions about the role of other countries in revolutionary Africa today. Its view of Africans is realistic as it shows the west gap between the dim gropings of the Congolese for independence and the sense of responsibility essential to true freedom. It is also a good story of an American family in this region and has a tender love story to appeal to many readers.

NEW LIGHT

For a new light on the world in which we live, do not miss "Pilgrim Strangers." Those who like stories of high adventure and far away places will want to read "Days of Gold," a novel of the Yukon country, written by Irwin R. Blacker. The author has traveled in this country and has succeeded in writing a rare kind of novel-the serious adventure story in which the adventurer himself is more important than the adventure. This book will be compared with the work of Joseph Conrad, which it resembles in some respects.

A true story of adventure in the far north is "Angel of Hudson Bay." This is the true story of Maud Watt, who did so much for the Indians of that region. It was written by William Ashley Anderson, and is interesting and enlightening.

FOR YOUNG ADULTS

A delightful and interesting novel written especially for young adults is "Ship Afire," by Richard Armstrong. This is an exciting story of adventure on the high seas and will appeal to many readers. Much is being written at the present time about the necessity of libraries in elementary schools. The Ouachita Parish school system was the first in Louisiana to have such a library in every elementary school There are many people in this field, who will want to read a new book called "Elementary School Libraries," written by Jean Elizabeth Lowrie. It gives much valuable information about settin up such a library, physical facilities and the book collection. Another valuable book in the field of education is "Programs for the Gifted: a Case Book in Secondary Education," edited by Samuel Everett. This study suggests programs to meet specific situation, including ones designed to overcome limitations of a rural environment, or a small high school and others planned to take advantage of the opportunities in a larger school system. It too will be of great interest to educators.

Everyone who read "The Hidden Persuaders," by Vance Packard will want to read "The Strategy of Desire," by Ernest Dichter. The author is president of the institute for Motivational Research. He believes that human desires are alterable and that this is a necessary step in human progress. This is a challenging and illuminating book for the serious reader. A welcome addition to the field of literature is "Selected Poems of Thomas Randy,"edited by John Crowe Ransom. This is the sort of thing which a library purchases to build up the quality of it's book collection and will be used by students of literatue. In a lighter vein is "Put Your Best Look Forward," by Glynne Hiller. This is a guide to good looks, good heatlh and good grooming, written for teen age girls. There is a copy in each branch of the Ouachita Parish Public Library, for we know by experience that we can never have enough of this sort of material.

Readers of western stories will want to read "The Treasure of Fan Fan Flat," by William O. Turner. This is a Double Western and makes exciting reading. Recently the library was given a complate set of the works of Max Brand. These books will also appeal to the many people who like a good western.

College students have made requests for the college outline series in English Literature. We ordered them in the fall and two of them came at once, but only this week, did the first one in the series arrive. It is called "Guide to English Literature; from Beowulf Through Chaucer and Medieval Drama." It will be invaluable to students of this early period of English literature and we are happy to have it before the summer term opens at the college.

A valuable addition to our Reference Collection is the 1961 edition of the Congressional Directory, which came to us as a gift from our congressman, Otto Passman. This book contains much valuable information a b o u t government agencies as well as biographical material about the members of the United States Congress. We are very happy to have it in our collection.

RUNNING THE SCALES

Serenade, Dutch Treat In Offing

By JOHN CALE
Staff Writer

While the Monroe Little Theatre was enjoying its successful opening run, two young Monroyans were holding forth before the footlights at Louisiana College in Pineville.

In the school's presentation of "The Lark," a story of Joan of Arc by Jean Anouilh adapted into English by Lillian Hellman, Charlotte Salley and James Horton played leading parts.

Charlotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salley and a freshman at Louisiana College, took the lead role of Joan.

COMING EVENTS

One of the musical highlights of the La. Tech concert season will be the appearance of the Amsterdam, Holland, Concert-gebouw orchestra. The world famous musical organization will play two concerts in Howard Auditorium on Thursday, May 11.

The spring concert of the Twin City Symphony Orchestra is slated for tomorrow evening at 8:15 at Brown Hall on the Northeast campus.

Here's an educated guess as to what that Dutch "Concert-gebouw" means — concert building or music hall.

SERENADE

The ninth annual "Spring Serenade" variety show will be sponsored by the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce. Date for the production has been set for Monday, May 8, at Neville auditorium.

Theme of this year's serenade is "A Grand Night for Singing," and the program will consist of a variety of selections from Broadway musicals and opera to special effect numbers.

In the last mentioned category will be piano rendition of Liszt's "Liebestraume" with a humming chorus in the background and Handel's "Largo," performed as a vocal solo with a cello as part of the accompaniment. LeRoy Ansbach will perform as piano soloist and Mrs. Betty Martin as cellist.

Special lighting and backdrops will make possible a variety of backgrounds in this year's "Spring Serenade." Scenes will range from an outdoor garden, a palace ballroom, and a Spanish courtyard to alternating red, white and blue columns for the patriotic finale, "America Our Heritage."

Out Denton, Texas, way the music department has added over 50,000 square feet of area to its facilities. North Texas State rings a bell in the mind of many Monroyans since Miss Margaret Kalil, local soprano who made good in New York, was invited to join the resident artist faculty there.

So well - designed are the new facilities until even the practice rooms are built with non - parallel walls in order to avoid unwanted reverberation. Dean Kenneth Cuthbert who assisted with the design and planning of the new facilities said the school has 32 full - time teachers, seven part - time, 30 doctoral fellows and masters tutors and 476 music majors.

As E. Clyde Whitlock of the Fort Worth Star Telegram put it, "There is the evidence of earnest activity about the place."

A Fable: The Owl Always Hoots Twice

THE OWL HOOTS TWICE AT CATFISH BEND. By Ben Lucian Berman. Taplinger. $2.95.

This is the third in the Catfish Bend series, an animal fable told by the mayor of the community, a raccoon.

Being a fable, it naturally develops on the two levels of animal adventure and human connotations.

It is the story of a renegade gray fox who ingratiated himself with the animals of the Bend and then brought in gangster rats to help him take over the place.

There is a pompous eagle who turns out to be an appeaser when the fox and the rats break the truce between the animals and the birds. There is a black snake who is a cliche - quoting bore, but he manages to stick with the mayor right down to the almost fatal end. And there is a little bat who is terribly upset because he isn't sure whether he is a bird or an animal, and doesn't know which side to help.

Finally, at the moment when the animals — led by the wrong leaders — are about to overcome the birds, a pack of tomcats summoned from the outside by the raccoon makes quick work of the bad leaders. The Bead's animals come apologetically back to the raccoon and want him to lead them again. So the animals and birds make peace once more.

You can figure out the allusions.

About Records

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — At least three of the songs in the remake of the movie "State Fair" will carry a history-making credit line:

"Music by Richard Rodgers. Lyrics by Richard Rodgers."

And next season a new but still unwritten Broadway musical will carry another set of unprecedented credits:

"Music by Richard Rodgers. Lyrics by Alan Jay Lerner."

After 25 years of writing music in anticipation of lyrics by Lorenz Hart and 19 years of fitting music to the lyrics of Oscar Hammerstein —, Broadway's most successful and most prolific composer is setting off in two different directions on a brand new career.

JOY

No matter what the assignment, even writing his own lyrics, Rodgers (at 59) can still generate the same effervescence and undiguised joy as he did when he was a freshman writing the undergraduate shows at Columbia University.

"People always think that writing lyrics is simply a matter of making words rhyme. It's not. It's more like a mosaic, putting a lot of little things together—ideas, images, words, meter, rhythm, rhyme — and making them fit."

Its work, all right, hard work, and so is the job of getting used to a new lyricist, whether it be Larry Hart, Oscar Hammerstein, Richard Rodgers or Alan Jay Lerner.

"I always e n j o y working," Rodgers says. "This is not blood, sweat and tears. It never h a s been. When Oscar handed me a typewritten lyric, it presented a problem. I love solving problems. That's the fun of writing music."

Light And Lance Penetration By James Thurber

LANTERNS AND LANCES. By James Thurber. Harper. $3.95.

At the age of 66 going on 50, James Thurber finds that "I cannot confine myself to lightness in a period of human life that demands light," as he says in the foreward to this collection of essays from various publications.

So he throws a few lantern beams — don't let him fool you, they usually are as penetrating as an antiaircraft searchlight — and "a few lances at the people and ideas that have disturbed me."

Some of the lances are hurled in "How the Kooks Crumble," a piece printed here for the first time, and it is very clear that the radio is one thing that has disturbed him no end.

Some of his best light is shed in "The Saving Grace." Ostensibly this is a bit of cocktail party banter about the present state of humor, but within the framework of this zany conversation are some astringent observations about the grim, negative cheerfulness that often passes for humor these days.

DISCUSSES

He also discusses, in a less flippant manner, the modern theater, in "A Case for Comedy." He makes the point that humor and comedy have taken an ideological beating from the intellectual left and the political right. But although he finds the modern theater morbid, existing in what he calls our Oral Culture, he refuses to believe the present cycle of decadence will go on forever.

Some of these pieces lag a bit when the author becomes entangled in alphabetical games to cure insomnia, but these lapses are offset by some outrageous spoofs. Such as one about colossal advertising for super-spectacle movies. And some of his puns are real dillies.

FLYING A FLIVVER to Washington is impossible, except in the new Walt Disney comedy "The Absent Minded Professor," which opens Wednesday at the Jim Theatre. The picture stars Fred MacMurray and Nancy Olson, along with Keenan Wynn and Tommy Kirk.

Sensational Trial, Theme Of Picture

A sensational and gripping murder trial in the midst of a bitterly fought political contest provides the screen with high-voltage entertainment in Warner Bros.' "A Fever in the Blood," opening today at the Paramount Theatre.

Headlining an all-star cast that literally runs from A-to-Z— Ameche to Zimbalist, the frank and provocative screenplay details the tangled love lives and the turbulent passions that obscure the usual political issues in the rough-and-tumble intra-party struggle of three men for the gubernatorial nomination.

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., Angie Dickinson, Jack Kelly and Don Ameche are top - billed in the Roy Huggins production which also stars Ray Danton, Herbert Marshall and Andra Martin. Director Vincent Sherman drew his stars from stage (Ameche), screen (Dickinson, Marshall, Danton) and television (Zimbalist, Kelly).

ZOOMED

Zimbalist, who zoomed to stardom in Warner Bros.' "77 Sunset Strip" TV series as a private detective, switches to dignified judicial robes as an idealistic judge being groomed for the governorship. Kelly, who similarly scored on TV as Bart in "Maverick," stars as the district attorney whose career has been sponsored by Zimbalist but whose ambition goads him into running against him with a flamboyant prosecution of the accused murderer in the sensational trial conducted in Zimbalist's court.

Returning to Hollywood after 12 years of Broadway and TV stardom, Don Ameche portrays the U.S. Senator who brings the political pot to a violent boil when he unexpectedly reveals his determination to win the gubernatorial nomination as a stepping stone toward the White House.

Angie Dickinson most recently scored in "Ocean's Eleven" after winning stardom overnight with her provocative performance in "Rio Bravo." The long - legged beauty has already been acclaimed the successor to Marlene Dietrich and Betty Grable as possessor of the screen's most beautiful underpinnings.

BASIS

Like "Anatomy of a Murder," with whose frank courtroom testimony it has much in common, "A Fever in the Blood" is based on an outstanding best - selling novel written by a lawyer. Colorado lawyer William Pearson abandoned his highly successful law practice to write the novel which immediately soared to the top of the national best seller lists.

Opening with the violent murder of an unfaithful wife and climaxing with the tumult and suspense of a stormy political convention, "A Fever in the Blood," written for the screen by Roy Huggins and Harry Kleiner, spotlights the manueverings of the principals in the taut courtroom drama set against the backdrop of the political tug-of-war.

Star Reaches Broadway After Role In Fizzle

NEW YORK (AP) — Nancy Dussault, who cuts a pleasing and melodious figure as Tilda Mullen in the musical comedy "Do Re Mi," comes to Broadway via a flop.

The daughter of a Navy captain from Arlington, Va., Miss Dussault appeared last season in "Lock Up Your Daughters," which closed during out - of - town tryout. Critics panned the show but Nancy won personal praise.

In "Do Re Mi," written by Garson Kanin and with music by Jules Styne, she plays a back - country lass from Virginia who's promoted to a recording star by Phil Silvers.

Big Box Office Draw Results From New Show

NEW YORK (AP) — David Ross is finding Ibsen as big a box office draw as Chekhov for his off - Broadway Fourth Street theater.

Producer - Director Ross scored with press and public in revivals during the past several seasons of the Russian play - wright's four most famous works. This season he decided to vary the programming with the Norwegian classic, "Hedda Gabler."

The production is proving one of the town's most popular attractions. Ross planned another Ibsen drama, "Ghosts" this season, but has postponed it until next fall because of flourishing Hedda.

Joe Friday's Creator Is On Sabbatical

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Sgt. Joe Friday is no more. And Jack Webb, who created him is on a television sabbatical.

"Dragnet" succumbed a couple of seasons back to general TV wear and tear, although there remain plenty of its children and grandchildren on the home screens—"Naked City" and "The Detectives" are just two—and its innovations (remember the "dum-de-dum-dum" theme?) are still widely imitated.

BELIEF

Webb, at 41, as smart a businessman as he is an actor, believe that "Dragnet" was allowed to live too long.

"Seven years is too long and I knew it," he said. "Three years is enough for any one production and, no matter how successful, should stop then. And it certainly is true of a performer. I think that it is really harmful for the performer and his career to stay in one thing, no matter how successful, for longer than three seasons."

Actually, both "Dragnet" and Sgt. Friday are still very much around on television, but as reruns. Webb long ago sold the films to a distribution company. Since then he has made a couple of stabs at television but his main interest is producing, directing and acting in motion pictures.

NO HURRY

"I'm in no hurry to get back into television," Webb explained. "I had my years at the head of the TV line—and television was very kind to me and it taught me a lot. Now I'm perfectly willing to take my place at the end of the line and wait for my turn again."

"Dragnet" started as a radio show in 1949. Webb was playing a small role in a cops-and-robbers movie, "They Walked By Night," when a police officer acting as consultant, mentioned casually that nobody had ever done a radio show based on authentic police work.

Webb researched his subject thoroughly, riding prowl cars, watching policemen at work, and finally launched the hit radio series.

After a few months, he was approached with the suggestion that he move the series into TV. He waited longer—two years—and then made the plunge, with fantastic success.

COMEDY TRY

Webb recently was in New York on his motion picture business; he has his Mark VII production of "The Last Time I Saw Archie" on the fire—Webb's first attempt at comedy.

"But I'm thinking about some television series," he said. "Not for next season, but the 1962-63 season. One is about airline stewardesses, and I'm taking my time to do it right."

Curtain Call

By BB STRON

Everyone is still on Cloud Nine about "Damn Yankees," and its wonderful reception in this area. We still have one bouquet to toss and that is our thanks to the capable backstage crew who worked tirelessly to make it so successful. Crew chief, C. J. Fontana, deserves a great deal of credit, together with his able crew of Claude Fuller, Bobby George, Gayle Creel, Don Claridge, Bruce Jones, Mackie Ward, Mary Lon Clay, and Nelson Lloyd. Without all of these people, you would not have enjoyed the musical comedy, "Damn Yankees." Again, we say a great big "thanks."

IN TEXAS

Don't forget the annual meeting for all Little Theatre members, to be held Monday, May 1st, at 7:30 p.m. at the Struass Playhouse. This is an important meeting, wherein five new board members will be elected, and we urge everyone to attend. Preceding the open meeting, there will be a board meeting at 6:30 p.m. Keep this in mind and plan to be in attendance.

Headlining an all-star cast that literally runs from A-to-Z— Ameche to Zimbalist, the frank and provocative screenplay details the tangled love lives and the turbulent passions that obscure the usual political issues in the rough-and-tumble intra-party struggle of three men for the gubernatorial nomination.

Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., Angie Dickinson, Jack Kelly and Don Ameche are top - billed in the Roy Huggins production which also stars Ray Danton, Herbert Marshall and Andra Martin. Director Vincent Sherman drew his stars from stage (Ameche), screen (Dickinson, Marshall, Danton) and television (Zimbalist, Kelly).

ZOOMED

Zimbalist, who zoomed to stardom in Warner Bros.' "77 Sunset Strip" TV series as a private detective, switches to dignified judicial robes as an idealistic judge being groomed for the governorship. Kelly, who similarly scored on TV as Bart in "Maverick," stars as the district attorney whose career has been sponsored by Zimbalist but whose ambition goads him into running against him with a flamboyant prosecution of the accused murderer in the sensational trial conducted in Zimbalist's court.

Returning to Hollywood after 12 years of Broadway and TV stardom, Don Ameche portrays the U.S. Senator who brings the political pot to a violent boil when he unexpectedly reveals his determination to win the gubernatorial nomination as a stepping stone toward the White House.

Angie Dickinson most recently scored in "Ocean's Eleven" after winning stardom overnight with her provocative performance in "Rio Bravo." The long - legged beauty has already been acclaimed the successor to Marlene Dietrich and Betty Grable as possessor of the screen's most beautiful underpinnings.

BASIS

Like "Anatomy of a Murder," with whose frank courtroom testimony it has much in common, "A Fever in the Blood" is based on an outstanding best - selling novel written by a lawyer. Colorado lawyer William Pearson abandoned his highly successful law practice to write the novel which immediately soared to the top of the national best seller lists.

Opening with the violent murder of an unfaithful wife and climaxing with the tumult and suspense of a stormy political convention, "A Fever in the Blood," written for the screen by Roy Huggins and Harry Kleiner, spotlights the manueverings of the principals in the taut courtroom drama set against the backdrop of the political tug-of-war.

Star Reaches Broadway After Role In Fizzle

NEW YORK (AP) — Nancy Dussault, who cuts a pleasing and melodious figure as Tilda Mullen in the musical comedy "Do Re Mi," comes to Broadway via a flop.

The daughter of a Navy captain from Arlington, Va., Miss Dussault appeared last season in "Lock Up Your Daughters," which closed during out - of - town tryout. Critics panned the show but Nancy won personal praise.

In "Do Re Mi," written by Garson Kanin and with music by Jules Styne, she plays a back - country lass from Virginia who's promoted to a recording star by Phil Silvers.

Big Box Office Draw Results From New Show

NEW YORK (AP) — David Ross is finding Ibsen as big a box office draw as Chekhov for his off - Broadway Fourth Street theater.

Producer - Director Ross scored with press and public in revivals during the past several seasons of the Russian play - wright's four most famous works. This season he decided to vary the programming with the Norwegian classic, "Hedda Gabler."

The production is proving one of the town's most popular attractions. Ross planned another Ibsen drama, "Ghosts" this season, but has postponed it until next fall because of flourishing Hedda.

Joe Friday's Creator Is On Sabbatical

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Sgt. Joe Friday is no more. And Jack Webb, who created him is on a television sabbatical.

"Dragnet" succumbed a couple of seasons back to general TV wear and tear, although there remain plenty of its children and grandchildren on the home screens—"Naked City" and "The Detectives" are just two—and its innovations (remember the "dum-de-dum-dum" theme?) are still widely imitated.

BELIEF

Webb, at 41, as smart a businessman as he is an actor, believe that "Dragnet" was allowed to live too long.

"Seven years is too long and I knew it," he said. "Three years is enough for any one production and, no matter how successful, should stop then. And it certainly is true of a performer. I think that it is really harmful for the performer and his career to stay in one thing, no matter how successful, for longer than three seasons."

Actually, both "Dragnet" and Sgt. Friday are still very much around on television, but as reruns. Webb long ago sold the films to a distribution company. Since then he has made a couple of stabs at television but his main interest is producing, directing and acting in motion pictures.

NO HURRY

"I'm in no hurry to get back into television," Webb explained. "I had my years at the head of the TV line—and television was very kind to me and it taught me a lot. Now I'm perfectly willing to take my place at the end of the line and wait for my turn again."

"Dragnet" started as a radio show in 1949. Webb was playing a small role in a cops-and-robbers movie, "They Walked By Night," when a police officer acting as consultant, mentioned casually that nobody had ever done a radio show based on authentic police work.

Webb researched his subject thoroughly, riding prowl cars, watching policemen at work, and finally launched the hit radio series.

After a few months, he was approached with the suggestion that he move the series into TV. He waited longer—two years—and then made the plunge, with fantastic success.

COMEDY TRY

Webb recently was in New York on his motion picture business: he has his Mark VII production of "The Last Time I Saw Archie" on the fire—Webb's first attempt at comedy.

"But I'm thinking about some television series," he said. "Not for next season, but the 1962-63 season. One is about airline stewardesses, and I'm taking my time to do it right."

POLITICAL AMBITIONS reach the boiling point in Warner Brothers' "A Fever in the Blood," which opens today at the Paramount Theatre. Starring in the production are Jack Kelly, Angie Dickinson, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., and Don Ameche, along with Ray Danton and Herbert Marshall.

Curtain Call

By BB STRON

Everyone is still on Cloud Nine about "Damn Yankees," and its wonderful reception in this area. We still have one bouquet to toss and that is our thanks to the capable backstage crew who worked tirelessly to make it so successful. Crew chief, C. J. Fontana, deserves a great deal of credit, together with his able crew of Claude Fuller, Bobby George, Gayle Creel, Don Claridge, Bruce Jones, Mackie Ward, Mary Lon Clay, and Nelson Lloyd. Without all of these people, you would not have enjoyed the musical comedy, "Damn Yankees." Again, we say a great big "thanks."

Proposals To Overhaul Gas Laws Are Made

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Policy makers for the nation's independent oil and gas producers take a look next week at President Kennedy's proposals to overhaul the natural gas act.

Imports also will be a major policy matter before the Monday opening of the two-day midyear meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA).

Tax problems also will be discussed but recent actions by the Kennedy administration have placed major emphasis on natural gas and imports policy matters.

President Kennedy has asked Congress to make five major changes in the natural gas act under which the Federal Power Commission (FPC) regulates wellhead prices of gas sold into interstate commerce.

The Interior Department next week is to begin public hearings designed to obtain a re-appraisal of results of the mandatory program to control imports of crude and petroleum products.

Gas act changes suggested by President Kennedy include exemption of small producers from federal controls and the addition of two new members to the FPC. Congress was asked to exempt producers who sell less than two billion cubic feet of gas annually.

IPAA and other groups of independent operators long have opposed federal control of wellhead prices but few have embraced the Kennedy exemption proposal. Some believe such a plan would develop into a legal nightmare. Others fear there would be discrimination among producers on the basis of size. Some believe the FPC already has authority to exempt small producers.

Exemption has figured in current proceedings designed to develop ground rules for formal hearings on the FPC's new area policy for regulating prices. The cutoff point mentioned most frequently in these discussions, however, has been 10 billion cubic feet annually.

IPAA on March 21 asked Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall for a review of the imports program and a sharp reduction in allocations for both crude and products.

The decision by the Interior Department to hold the May hearings on imports was preceded by several changes in the mandatory controls program. Included were a switch from quarterly to annual quota allocations and a change designed to permit new firms to import heavy fuel oils along the East Coast.

Four congressmen will participate in Monday's discussions. Senator Russell B. Long, D-La., will discuss oil and gas matters in general.

LAIA Members To Attend Meet

Monroe members of the Louisiana Association of Insurance Agents planning to attend the 59th annual meeting at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel in Mississippi are W. Bill Jackson, Charles McKenzie, Jr., Harold Monk Sr., Harold Monk, Jr., L. C. Fourney, Gordy Roy and Ed Seymour, Sr.

Charles McKenzie, Jr. will appear on the program. Alan Sugar and Charles McKenzie are members of the Board of Directors.

New Oil Field Is Possible In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A wildcat oil well 2½ miles southeast of the Sandersville Oil Field unloaded this week and spewed oil to the top of its 136-foot-tall derrick, indicating what may be the eighth oil field in Jones County.

The wildcat, E. L. Erickson's Weems et al No. 1, sec. 22-9n-1w, recovered 6,700 feet of 26 gravity oil at 10,496-506 feet. Pressures for the test were 4,620 pounds shut in and 2,985 pounds flowing bottom hole.

Contract depth is 12,000 feet and coring operations continued below 10,540 feet in the Rodessa zone.

In Yazoo County, Continental Oil Co. continued testing the wildcat Freudenberg No. 1, sec. 24-12n-2w. Tests on two perforated intervals below 13,490 feet in the smackover lime formation recovered a small amount of gas and condensate.

Operators tested a lower Cotton Valley sand above the Smackover lime. The well is three miles northeast of Yazoo City.

In Marion County, D. A. Bigland has abandoned the wildcat Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-2n-3e, after evaluating sidewall cores in two gas sands at 9,735 and 11,145 feet. The well is three miles north of Dexter Field in Walthall County.

In Amite County's Smithdale Field, CitiesService Petroleum Co. began production tests on the board of supervisors No. 3, sec. 16-4n-6e. The well logged 81 feet of oil sand in the lower Tuscaloosa formation for the thickest sand section found in Amite County.

In Franklin County, Sun Oil Co. abandoned the wildcat USA No. 1, sec. 34-7n-3e, after sabbing a large amount of salt water and some oil from a thin Tuscaloosa sand at 10,625-28 feet. The well was drilled by Pete Harris three miles north of Meadville.

In Covington County, Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. continued coring below 13,600 feet in the wildcat Speed No. 1, sec. 18-8n-14w. Numerous asphaltic oil shows were logged in the hard Rodessa sands from 12,411 to 12,533 feet.

In field drilling, three new oilers and one gas condensate well were completed.

In Pike County's McComb Field, Lyle Cashion Co. completed the Parsons No. 1, sec. 5-3n-7e at 145 barrels of oil daily from a sand at 10,953-73 feet.

In Amite County's East Fork field, Pan American Petroleum Corp. has completed the first dual well for the field. The well, the Moore No. 1, sec. 15-3n-5e, flowed 182 barrels of oil daily from the upper Tuscaloosa at 10,614-17 feet, and 132 barrels daily from the lower Tuscaloosa at 11,183-93 feet.

In Lincoln County's Brookhaven Field, California Co. completed the Brookhaven unit No. 22, sec. 33-8n-7e, at 12 barrels of oil daily from a sand at 10,382-402 feet.

In Forrest County's Pistol Ridge Field, Lee and Ladner completed the Crosby Forrest products no. 1, sec. 17-1s-13w, at 820,000 cubic feet of gas and 12 barrels of condensate daily from a sand at 8,080-84 feet.

INTERNATIONAL CRISIS

Market Advance Is Temporarily Halted

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, upset by international crisis, took a slight loss in April, bringing the 1961 advance to at least a temporary halt.

At the same time, volume for the month simmered down to about 102 million shares compared with 118 million for March, the highest for any month in nearly 28 years.

For the first four months of 1961, however, trading was a record for any similar period in the history of the New York Stock Exchange, totaling 402 million shares compared with the previous peak of 377 million set in the first four months of 1929.

UPSET

The French-Algerian crisis, just as the Cuban invasion the week before, upset the market. The nervous situation in Laos also contributed to uncertainty.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week fell 6.55 to 678.71.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .80 to 242.50, its second straight weekly loss.

Volume for the week declined to 22,400,970 shares from 24,716,930 the week before and was the lightest since the week ended April 1 when 19,760,270 shares were traded.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was Sapphire Petroleum, up ⅛ at 9-16 on 1,402-400 shares.

Corporate bond prices nosedived this month. But bonds of the U.S. government recouped almost all of March's losses.

The corporate plunge was the worst since December 1959, according to the Associated Press average of 60 bonds. The averages were off all four weeks of the month and now have fallen six weeks in a row. The year opened with 10 weekly gains.

Utility and high grade investment issues fell the most in April. The low yield component dipped over 1½ index points and utilities almost 1¼. Rails and industrials were only slightly lower.

For the government list the month produced moderate improvement. Gains ran from ⅛ to 1⅛ point. Three of the four weeks ended in advances with the overall rise just about erasing the March loss.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange declined to $31,692,000 par value from $37,445,000 the previous week and was the lowest of the year for a nonholiday week.

Monroe Chapter Of API To Hold Barbeque Meet

The Monroe Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will climax its first year of operation with a barbeque picnic the evening of May 19.

The Monroe Chapter was organized in the fall of 1960 to promote fellowship among the members and interested people of the oil and gas industry in and around Monroe and for a meeting group to be addressed by feature speakers on topics relative to the industry. During the first year the group has heard talks on "The Effect of the Monroe Gas Field on the City of Monroe," "Fracturing in the Monroe Gas Field," and "The Role of Government in the Oil and Gas Industry."

From eighty to ninety people in the oil, gas and related industries in the Monroe area have attended these meetings. The planned barbeque picnic is the final meeting for the group for this year.

The barbeque will be held at Bancroft's Camp on Cheniere Lake. The affair is open to the wives and men of the oil and gas industry in Monroe and surrounding areas. Following the barbeque and refreshment, Bud Fletcher of Lafayette, will entertain the group with "Cajun Stories."

As this event will conclude the first year's activity of the Monroe Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute, all interested persons should plan to attend.

Production Leaders See Steady Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's biggest industry — steel — appears to be leading the way out of the recession.

Its output is going up steadily and industry leaders are optimistic about the future.

Production chalked up its sixth consecutive weekly increase, rising 2.1 per cent last week to 1,784,000 tons. It was the greatest total since the week ended May 28, 1960.

Output for April is estimated at 7.5 million tons, biggest since last May.

The increasing demand for steel caused plants to fire up additional furnaces and call back more idle workers. For example, in the Buffalo, N.Y., area, unemployment among steelworkers was being cut by 100 men a day.

"As it stands now, the steel industry is close to equilibrium," said the trade publication, Iron Age. "The rate of incoming orders, steelmaking operations and the rate of consumption are all in balance around 60 per cent."

STATEMENT

Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., said: "We seem to have reached bottom in February. We're hoping for some improvement in May. Confidence with respect to the economic situation is improving."

The automobile industry is showing signs of joining steel in the climb although its production slipped last week from the previous week.

Output totaled 115,000 passenger cars, down from 124,607. However, production for April is estimated at 443,000 cars, compared with 403,539 in March.

Ford Motor Co. increased its second-quarter production schedules for the third time in six weeks. The company now plans to build 496,000 cars in April, May and June, a 51 per cent increase over the first quarter.

New car sales in the middle 10 days of April were encouraging. The total of 164,689 domestic cars represented the best daily selling rate for a midmonth period since November. There also were good reports on sales of used cars.

FUTURE BETTER

This was report card week for many of the nation's big businesses. A lot of grades weren't up to par but most firms expected to do better next semester.

The occasion was a rash of annual meetings at which earnings for the first quarter of this year were announced.

Declines from earnings levels of the 1960 first quarter were particularly sharp in the steel and automobile industries, which were operating full blast at that time last year to catch up after the seel strike.

However, there wereg bright spots among the earnings reports. Among companies with substantial gains were Colgate-Palmolive Co., Cities Service Co., Socony Mobil Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp. and American Tobacco Co.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said "we're still not out of the woods" on the unemployment problem as he reported an increase in April in the number of smaller areas suffering from substantial unemployment. The number of these areas went up from 184 to 199.

In an effort to alleviate the problem, the House passed President Kennedy's $394 million bill to aid depressed areas.

The government reported living costs in March remained unchanged from the record high in February. The consumer price index stayed at 127.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average, 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

Among encouraging straws in the economic wind were a sharp increase in machine tool orders in March to the highest level since July 1959, and a 4 per cent rise in construction contracts in March.

The Algerian crisis piling atop the Cuban situation sent jitters through the stock market Monday and it suffered its sharpest slump in seven months. But it snapped back to make up a lot of the ground.

New Department Could Be Major Help To Economy

NEW YORK (UPI)—The recent establishment of the Labor Department Office of Automation and Manpower could be just what the doctor ordered to help solve two of the biggest problems facing the nation's economy today.

While this new federal unit will study the manpower situation and develop plans to retrain displaced workers, there also will be an urgent need for labor and industry to provide jobs and increase the rate of recovery to full production.

But amid all the professional hand - wringing concerning automation and the current unemployment problem, the steel industry recently sounded a note of reassurance.

With respect to steel, it appears that automation is not the unemployment bugaboo it is so often pictured for industry generally.

This view was reflected in the recent testimony of R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president, U.S. Steel Corp., before the House education and labor committee's subcommittee on unemployment and the impact of automation.

The major point emphasized by Cooper was that unemployment in steel results primarily from cyclical rather than technological causes.

He said no long-term problem of technological unemployment exists in steel, adding that even at a constant level of business the steel industry will be hiring new employes.

Proposals To Overhaul Gas Laws Are Made

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Policy makers for the nation's independent oil and gas producers take a look next week at President Kennedy's proposals to overhaul the natural gas act.

Imports also will be a major policy matter before the Monday opening of the two-day midyear meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA).

Tax problems also will be discussed but recent actions by the Kennedy administration have placed major emphasis on natural gas and imports policy matters.

President Kennedy has asked Congress to make five major changes in the natural gas act under which the Federal Power Commission (FPC) regulates wellhead prices of gas sold into interstate commerce.

The Interior Department next week is to begin public hearings designed to obtain a re-appraisal of results of the mandatory program to control imports of crude and petroleum products.

Gas act changes suggested by President Kennedy include exemption of small producers from federal controls and the addition of two new members to the FPC. Congress was asked to exempt producers who sell less than two billion cubic feet of gas annually.

IPAA and other groups of independent operators long have opposed federal control of wellhead prices but few have embraced the Kennedy exemption proposal. Some believe such a plan would develop into a legal nightmare. Others fear there would be discrimination among producers on the basis of size. Some believe the FPC already has authority to exempt small producers.

Exemption has figured in current proceedings designed to develop ground rules for formal hearings on the FPC's new area policy for regulating prices. The cutoff point mentioned most frequently in these discussions, however, has been 10 billion cubic feet annually.

IPAA on March 21 asked Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall for a review of the imports program and a sharp reduction in allocations for both crude and products.

The decision by the Interior Department to hold the May hearings on imports was preceded by several changes in the mandatory controls program. Included were a switch from quarterly to annual quota allocations and a change designed to permit new firms to import heavy fuel oils along the East Coast.

Four congressmen will participate in Monday's discussions. Senator Russell B. Long, D-La., will discuss oil and gas matters in general.

Charles McKenzie, Jr. will appear on the program. Alan Sugar and Charles McKenzie are members of the Board of Directors.

New Oil Field Is Possible In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A wildcat oil well 2½ miles southeast of the Sandersville Oil Field unloaded this week and spewed oil to the top of its 136-foot-tall derrick, indicating what may be the eighth oil field in Jones County.

The wildcat, E. L. Erickson's Weems et al No. 1, sec. 22-9n-1w, recovered 6,700 feet of 26 gravity oil at 10,496-506 feet. Pressures for the test were 4,620 pounds shut in and 2,985 pounds flowing bottom hole.

Contract depth is 12,000 feet and coring operations continued below 10,540 feet in the Rodessa zone.

In Yazoo County, Continental Oil Co. continued testing the wildcat Freudenberg No. 1, sec. 24-12n-2w. Tests on two perforated intervals below 13,490 feet in the smackover lime formation recovered a small amount of gas and condensate.

Operators tested a lower Cotton Valley sand above the Smackover lime. The well is three miles northeast of Yazoo City.

In Marion County, D. A. Bigland has abandoned the wildcat Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-2n-3e, after evaluating sidewall cores in two gas sands at 9,735 and 11,145 feet. The well is three miles north of Dexter Field in Walthall County.

In Amite County's Smithdale Field, CitiesService Petroleum Co. began production tests on the board of supervisors No. 3, sec. 16-4n-6e. The well logged 81 feet of oil sand in the lower Tuscaloosa formation for the thickest sand section found in Amite County.

In Franklin County, Sun Oil Co. abandoned the wildcat USA No. 1, sec. 34-7n-3e, after sabbing a large amount of salt water and some oil from a thin Tuscaloosa sand at 10,625-28 feet. The well was drilled by Pete Harris three miles north of Meadville.

In Covington County, Sinclair Oil and Gas Co. continued coring below 13,600 feet in the wildcat Speed No. 1, sec. 18-8n-14w. Numerous asphaltic oil shows were logged in the hard Rodessa sands from 12,411 to 12,533 feet.

In field drilling, three new oilers and one gas condensate well were completed.

In Pike County's McComb Field, Lyle Cashion Co. completed the Parsons No. 1, sec. 5-3n-7e at 145 barrels of oil daily from a sand at 10,933-73 feet.

In Amite County's East Fork field, Pan American Petroleum Corp. has completed the first dual well for the field. The well, the Moore No. 1, sec. 15-3n-5e, flowed 182 barrels of oil daily from the upper Tuscaloosa at 10,614-17 feet, and 132 barrels daily from the lower Tuscaloosa at 11,183-93 feet.

In Lincoln County's Brookhaven Field, California Co. completed the Brookhaven unit No. 22, sec. 33-8n-7e, at 12 barrels of oil daily from a sand at 10,382-402 feet.

In Forrest County's Pistol Ridge Field, Lee and Ladner completed the Crosby Forrest products no. 1, sec. 17-1s-13w, at 820,000 cubic feet of gas and 12 barrels of condensate daily from a sand at 8,080-84 feet.

INTERNATIONAL CRISIS

Market Advance Is Temporarily Halted

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, upset by international crisis, took a slight loss in April, bringing the 1961 advance to at least a temporary halt.

At the same time, volume for the month simmered down to about 102 million shares compared with 118 million for March, the highest for any month in nearly 28 years.

For the first four months of 1961, however, trading was a record for any similar period in the history of the New York Stock Exchange, totaling 402 million shares compared with the previous peak of 377 million set in the first four months of 1929.

UPSET

The French-Algerian crisis, just as the Cuban invasion the week before, upset the market. The nervous situation in Laos also contributed to uncertainty.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week fell 6.55 to 678.71.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined .80 to 242.50, its second straight weekly loss.

Volume for the week declined to 22,400,970 shares from 24,716,960 the week before and was the lightest since the week ended April 1 when 19,760,270 shares were traded.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was Sapphire Petroleum, up ⅛ at 9-16 on 1,402-400 shares.

Corporate bond prices nosedived this month. But bonds of the U.S. government recouped almost all of March's losses.

The corporate plunge was the worst since December 1959, according to the Associated Press average of 60 bonds. The averages were off all four weeks of the month and now have fallen six weeks in a row. The year opened with 10 weekly gains.

Utility and high grade investment issues fell the most in April. The low yield component dipped over 1½ index points and utilities almost 1¼. Rails and industrials were only slightly lower.

For the government list the month produced moderate improvement. Gains ran from ⅛ to 1⅛ point. Three of the four weeks ended in advances with the overall rise just about erasing the March loss.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange declined to $31,692,000 par value from $37,445,000 the previous week and was the lowest of the year for a nonholiday week.

Monroe Chapter Of API To Hold Barbeque Meet

The Monroe Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute will climax its first year of operation with a barbeque picnic the evening of May 19.

The Monroe Chapter was organized in the fall of 1960 to promote fellowship among the members and interested people of the oil and gas industry in and around Monroe and for a meeting group to be addressed by feature speakers on topics relative to the industry. During the first year the group has heard talks on "The Effect of the Monroe Gas Field on the City of Monroe," "Fracturing in the Monroe Gas Field," and "The Role of Government in the Oil and Gas Industry."

From eighty to ninety people in the oil, gas and related industries in the Monroe area have attended these meetings. The planned barbeque picnic is the final meeting for the group for this year.

The barbeque will be held at Bancroft's Camp on Cheniere Lake. The affair is open to the wives and men of the oil and gas industry in Monroe and surrounding areas. Following the barbeque and refreshment, Bud Fletcher of Lafayette, will entertain the group with "Cajun Stories."

As this event will conclude the first year's activity of the Monroe Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute, all interested persons should plan to attend.

Production Leaders See Steady Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's biggest industry — steel — appears to be leading the way out of the recession.

Its output is going up steadily and industry leaders are optimistic about the future.

Production chalked up its sixth consecutive weekly increase, rising 2.1 per cent last week to 1,784,000 tons. It was the greatest total since the week ended May 28, 1960.

Output for April is estimated at 7.5 million tons, biggest since last May.

The increasing demand for steel caused plants to fire up additional furnaces and call back more idle workers. For example, in the Buffalo, N.Y., area, unemployment among steelworkers was being cut by 100 men a day.

"As it stands now, the steel industry is close to equilibrium," said the trade publication, Iron Age. "The rate of incoming orders, steelmaking operations and the rate of consumption are all in balance around 60 per cent."

STATEMENT

Roger Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel Corp., said: "We seem to have reached bottom in February. We're hoping for some improvement in May. Confidence with respect to the economic situation is improving."

The automobile industry is showing signs of joining steel in the climb although its production slipped last week from the previous week.

Output totaled 115,000 passenger cars, down from 124,607. However, production for April is estimated at 448,000 cars, compared with 408,539 in March.

Ford Motor Co. increased its second-quarter production schedules for the third time in six weeks. The company now plans to build 496,000 cars in April, May and June, a 51 per cent increase over the first quarter.

New car sales in the middle 10 days of April were encouraging. The total of 164,889 domestic cars represented the best daily selling rate for a midmonth period since November. There also were good reports on sales of used cars.

FUTURE BETTER

This was report card week for many of the nation's big businesses. A lot of grades weren't up to par but most firms expected to do better next semester.

The occasion was a rash of annual meetings at which earnings for the first quarter of this year were announced.

Declines from earnings levels of the 1960 first quarter were particularly sharp in the steel and automobile industries, which were operating full blast at that time last year to catch up after the seel strike.

However, there wereg bright spots among the earnings reports. Among companies with substantial gains were Colgate-Palmolive Co., Cities Service Co., Socony Mobil Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp. and American Tobacco Co.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said "we're still not out of the woods" on the unemployment problem as he reported an increase in April in the number of smaller areas suffering from substantial unemployment. The number of these areas went up from 184 to 199.

In an effort to alleviate the problem, the House passed President Kennedy's $394 million bill to aid depressed areas.

The government reported living costs in March remained unchanged from the record high in February. The consumer price index stayed at 127.5 per cent of the 1947-49 average, 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

Among encouraging straws in the economic wind were a sharp increase in machine tool orders in March to the highest level since July 1959, and a 4 per cent rise in construction contracts in March.

The Algerian crisis piling atop the Cuban situation sent jitters through the stock market Monday and it suffered its sharpest slump in seven months. But it snapped back to make up a lot of the ground.

New Department Could Be Major Help To Economy

NEW YORK (UPI)—The recent establishment of the Labor Department Office of Automation and Manpower could be just what the doctor ordered to help solve two of the biggest problems facing the nation's economy today.

While this new federal unit will study the manpower situation and develop plans to retrain displaced workers, there also will be an urgent need for labor and industry to provide jobs and increase the rate of recovery to full production.

But amid all the professional hand - wringing concerning automation and the current unemployment problem, the steel industry recently sounded a note of reassurance.

With respect to steel, it appears that automation is not the unemployment bugaboo it is so often pictured for industry generally.

This view was reflected in the recent testimony of R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president, U.S. Steel Corp., before the House education and labor committee's subcommittee on unenployment and the impact of automation.

The major point emphasized by Cooper was that unemployment in steel results primarily from cyclical rather than technological causes.

He said no long-term problem of technological unemployment exists in steel, adding that even at a constant level of business the steel industry will be hiring new employes.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

'Hoss' Garrett Honored

Twenty-six years of coaching service, 23 of them as boss of athletics at Ruston High School, brought special recognition to L. J. "Hoss" Garrett at Ruston Friday.

It was "Garrett Day" in Ruston, backed with special proclamations from Mayor T. C. Beasley and Lions Club calling for public recognition for "one of the outstanding citizens of the City of Ruston . . . in commemoration of his great service and splendid atitude of cooperation in the fields of athletic en devors. . . "

Coaches of the magnitude of "Hoss" Garrett leave a great impression on those with whom they come in contact. Ruston athletes who have passed under the Garrett influence call him "the greatest."

Only last February Coach Garrett received special tributes at the Ark-La-Tex Sports Award Banquet in Shreveport for his services in high school athletics. Friday night's fete for him alone was a tribute from his hometown people.

The occasion was at the invitational Ruston Relays, a track and field show that drew seven competing teams. Meet action was suspended while "Old Bearcats" presented Garrett a new automobile and a boat. Then the young Bearcat spikemen capped the night by winning the meet far him.

Garrett, a 1934 graduate of Louisiana Tech where he once set 100 and 220 yard dash records of 9.9 and 21.8 that stood for 25 years, coached two years at Forest High in West Carroll parish and then moved to Arcadia for one year where he coached the Hornets through an undefeated season, and then made the move to Ruston.

Rarely has Ruston failed to present a serious championship contender in high school football since Garrett took charge of the Cats. In 1941, 1947, and 1951 he had state champions. His team of 1944 was a state title runner-up. As track coach at Ruston he set a four-year record for Class AA with state team titles from 1956 through 1959.

Like any coach, Garrett's goal is a winner, but we don't think he ever let defeat get him down.

After the Neville - Ruston game of 1948 we had occasion to go to the Ruston dressing room. The Bearcats, who has passed ten previous Neville tests without defeat, were pretty gloomy after taking a 14-13 loss. One Bearcat in particular was fighting off tears trying to apologize to his coach for the loss.

"Don't let it worry you. After eleven games it's time for them to win one." was Garrett's answer. Neville since has been able to win its share of Ruston games, but regardless of what team is playing the Bearcat gridders, all rivals have respect for Garrett coaching.

Cotton States Seniors Separate

The senior division of the annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tournament, a Labor Day holiday special at Bayou DeSiard Country Club, will split away from the September show to become an event all its own.

Replacing the senior flights of the Cotton States on the Bayou DeSiard golf calendar is the first annual Senior Invitational Tournament now dated here for June 1-2-3-4.

Bob Carson has been named chairman of the seniors' tournament committee with Tom Mulholland as co chairman.

The links enjoy a lot of good seniors golfers these days, and the Cotton States division had been growing steadily. Al Villegas, New Orleans, won the event last September, beating N. W. Hatcher, Natchez, in the finals.

Success of area seniors tournaments have been assured by a host of good gentlemen of the links. To name a few we offer, in addition to Villegas and Hatcher:

Dr. Frank P. Rizzo, Everett Lawson, L. F. "Doc" Bennett, Judge Frank Hawthorne, Kenneth Holt, C. C. "Chon" Minard, George Miller, Wesley Shafto, Judge E. L. Gladney, C. L. Dill, Charles Herold, W. O. Webb, H. S. Humphries, O. P. Bobbitt, Harold Moses, L. H. Martin, Frank Davis, W. Kenny Clark, Reid Sale, H. C. "Cy" Mennet.

H. G. Proskl, Warren Roy, Henry Gaude, Dr. Sam Brister, George Thomas, Ernie Seago, Curtis Monts, L. W. Carpenter, H. L. Wood, L. B. Bratton, Horace Lee, David Reynaud, Lionel Billeaud, Herman Egloff, Al Mennet, Cecil Travis, Frank P. Smith, W. B. Jones, John Crump, C. B. McMahan, E. C. Brimberry, Harry Malott, T. F. Wilbanks, W. C. Crowell, Edell Blanks, and T. T. Skinner.

Most of them are still around for the June event. They'll be joined by a new crop just turning the 50-year-old milestone.

And we can't think of any senior event or any golf show of note at Bayou DeSiard without remembering the late E. S. "Shep" Girault. He contributed to much to Twin Cities golf for so many years.

Coming Weeks Crucial For Bulldog Nine

RUSTON, La., (Special) —The next couple of weeks will tell if Berry Hinton's Louisiana Tech nine can win its third straight Gulf States conference title, with action resuming Monday in a twinbill against Northeast State here.

Tech's big lead in the loop race was slashed last Monday when second place Southeastern swept a twinbill at Hammond. The Bulldogs still have a one game lead going into the stretch drive.

One big factor is that Tech won five of eight on the road and has six of its remaining eight loop games on the home field. Tech is 9-3 in league play and 15-5 for the season.

The Bulldogs split earlier with Northeast in Monroe, winning the opener 6-2 and losing the nightcap 11-5. Northeast is 6-6 in the loop race.

Sonny Parker (4-1), who suffered his first loss at Southeastern, and Charlie Fuller (3-0) will probably start against the Indians here Monday.

Tech meets McNeese State in Lake Charles Saturday and then winds up the season with twinbills against Southwestern and SLC here the next week. The season finale doubleheader against SLC here May 10 could decide the loop titlist.

Myrick Pushes Grads Past Oak Grove 19-18

OAK GROVE, La. (Special) — Departing quarterback Ronnie Myrick led the seniors and post grads to a 19-18 win over Oak Grove's varsity here last night, climaxing spring training.

Myrick turned in a great performance, both running and passing for the squeak win.

Bucs Blast Cincinnati Reds By 6-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vern Law, a 20-game winner last year who failed to win in his first three starts this season, gained his first victory Saturday night by checking Cincinnati on five hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Reds 6-3.

It was the Reds' seventh straight defeat.

Law was replaced by Roy Face in the seventh inning after the Reds staged a brief uprising powered by home runs from Gene Freese and Frank Ribinson.

Up to then, Law had given up only one hit — to losing pitcher Joey Jay (0-3), who cracked a double with two out in the third.

The Pirates' march to victory began in the first inning when Dick Stuart singled, scoring Bill Virdon and Dick Groat. It continued in the third on the strength of Roberto Clemente's two-run double.

Law himself added an extra run when Smoky Burgess made it home safely on a run in the sixth.

Burgess batted in another run with a double in the eighth inning.

The Reds started a comeback in the seventh inning when Freese banged his first home run of the season. Then Robinson slammed the ball over the right center wall and scored behind Wally Post, who had walked.

When Gordon Coleman hit a double, Law was pulled out. Face gave up one hit and let go with a wild pitch, but it didn't hurt the Pirates' cause.

Keep First Place Mark With 9-5 Win

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Brown hit the first grand slam home run of his major league career and rookie Jake Wood cracked a three-run homer that carried Frank Lary to his fourth straight victory Saturday as Detroit downed the Boston Red Sox 9-5.

The victory was the Tigers' ninth in 12 starts and kept them in first place in the American League.

Hank Aguirre had to nail down Lary's victory when the veteran righthander gave up all of Boston's runs in the sixth and seventh innings. Lary, who had completed his three previous starts, had given up only one hit until the sixth and the Sox had hit only one ball to the outfield.

The Sox rapped Lary for five hits in the sixth and scored three times on singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Vic Wertz, Pete Runnels and Billy Muffett and a double by Gary Geiger.

Aguirre rescued Lary for the final out in the seventh after Boston put across two more runs on a walk, singles by Geiger and Yastrzemski and a double by Wertz.

Aguirre retired seven straight batters.

Tom Brewer, the Boston starter yielded all the Detroit runs and hits before he was knocked out in the fifth.

Rocky Colavito also homered for the Tigers. It was his fourth of the season and led off the second inning.

Brewer might have escaped damage in the fourth when the Tigers scored four runs. Norm Cash led off with a double, but Brewer retired the next two batters. Chico Fernandez singled to left, but third baseman Runnels cut off Yastrzemski's throw from left and Cash scored on what would have been a close play at the plate. Lary singled to center and Wood poked his second homer into the lower seats in right field.

All four of Detroit's runs in the fifth were unearned. Shortstop Pumpsie Green committed two errors with one out, then Steve Boros drew a walk before Brown laced his third home run into the lower seats in left field.

Phillies Nip St. Louis 3-2 On 4-Hitter

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Art Mahaffey, Philadelphia's fireballing young right-hander, pitched his way past a defensive collapse by his teammates and stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 on a four-hitter Saturday night.

The 22-year-old Ohio native now has a 2-1 season record with a sizzling 0.69 earned run average for 26 innings in which he walked only 8 men, fanned 26 and allowed just 11 hits.

He walked only one and fanned three men. He would have had a shutout except for two Philly errors in the seventh, one a dropped fly ball, which let in two unearned runs.

Bobby Gene Smith drove in the winning run for the Phillies in the eighth off loser Ray Sadecki (1-1). Larry Jackson finished the game for St. Louis.

Mahaffey was breezing with a one-hitter and a 2-0 lead when his fielding support collapsed in the last of the seventh. Shortstop Ruben Amaro's error after a lead-off single by Bob Nieman started it.

NORTHEAST STATE'S hard-hitting shortstop, Phil Petras, pulls up at third base after blasting a triple in the first inning of yesterday's Indian-Mississippi Southern game. Petras' hit drove in Eddie McGowen from second base but the Indians had spotted the Giants 11 runs in their half of the inning and were never able to make it up, losing 16-10. Northeast Drops 16-10 Tilt To Mississippi Southern

By JERRY HARKNESS
World Sports Writer

Mississippi Southern exploded for 11 runs in the first inning here yesterday and kept a jump ahead of Northeast the rest of the way, as the Golden Giants stopped the Indians, 16-10 in a wild hit-heavy game that saw eight pitchers come and go and a total of 31 base hits, including five doubles, two triples and three home runs.

Southern's victory gave the Giants a 1-1 final standing in their series with the Indians. Northeast won the first game Friday by a 4-1 score.

The visitors moved ahead with authority in the opening inning working Tribe starter, L. M. Welch for a quick run and loading the bases before Northeast's second moundsman, Stan Gardner took the hill with one man out.

The Giants got to Gardner just as easily, and pushed across six runs on the heavy hitting of Jim Giles, Bob Vaughn and John Bretchtel before George Luffey sent his third pitcher, Teddy Payne, into action.

Payne managed to retire the sides, but not before Mississippi Southern had added four more runs to the score board and were resting with a comfortable 11-0 lead.

Northeast made a game effort to close the wide gap in the bottom of the first. Giant starter, Doug Bobo found himself in the hole when Indian second baseman Eddie McGowen led off with a double, shortstop Phil Petras drove him across with a triple, and George Bryan scored Petras with a booming double.

The Giants sent in their second pitcher, Carl Hollinsworth, who retired the sides after giving up three more runs.

Northeast added another run in the second when slugging Donnie Brunson lined a single to drive in Phil Petras. Southern jumped right back with two runs in the fourth behind Crawford's triple.

The Tribe scored its sixth run in the bottom of the sixth inning as all-GSC shortstop Phil Petras found his pitch and lofted the ball over the left field fence for his second home run of the two-game Southern series.

Both teams scored three runs each in the last three innings. Northeast couldn't close the gap with their last time at bat, although they did load the bases before Bo-Dick Smith grounded one to second base forcing out Donnie Brunson.

McGowen, Smith and Fields got doubles for Northeast and Petras got a triple in addition to his homer in the sixth inning.

The loss gives Northeast an 8-12 record. The Indians play Louisiana Tech in Ruston Monday.

Athletics Defeat Chicago Sox 13-9

KANSAS CLTY (AP) — Haywood Sullivan rifled a winning two-bagger off the left field wall with the bases loaded and the score tied in the eighth inning and the Kansas City Athletics went on to defeat the Chicago White Sox 13-9 Saturday.

The A's specialized in the long ball with the sacks full to overcome some shaky late inning relief work by their own pitchers.

Marv Throneberry hit a grand slam homer off Herb Score in the third inning to put Kansas City ahead 6-4 and they were never behind afterward although the Sox tied it at 9-9 in the eighth. Ed Rakow, Bill Kunkel and Dave Wickersham all paraded to the mound before expunging the Sox after four runs had come across.

The starting pitchers, Billy Pierce for Chicago and Jerry Walker of the A's, were gone by the end of the third inning. The Sox scored three in the first inning and another in the third to dispose of Walker, and Pierce was rocket for a solo home run by Leo Posada in the initial frame.

The winning hurler was Wickersham, who notched his first decision, and the loser was Gerry Staley, fifth of the six Sox pitchers His record is 0-1.

Throneberry had five runs batted in and Sullivan four. Jim Landis drove in four for the Sox.

Bill Tuttle started the eighth inning rally when he singled against Staley with one out. Norm Siebern grounded out but Andy Carey walked and Frank Baumann came in to pitch. He walked Throneberry and Sullivan followed with his 400-footer off the fence in right center. Sullivan came home on a double by Wickersham.

Rebels Tame Dubach Nine By 6-1 Score

DUBACH, La. (Special) — West Monroe used a brilliant pitching job by Charles Taylor and plenty of hitting to drub Duback here last night, 6-1.

Taylor went the distance for the Rebels and struck out 10 men en route to the victory. The Rebels broke a scoreless battle in the top of the third inning when they pushed across four runs and added two more in the top of the seventh. Dubach's tally came in the fifth.

Leading Dan McClure's power hitters at the plate second baseman John Covington and first baseman Cline Averett, who each got three hits for four trips up.

Buck Fox got two for three including a double. Dubach's Smith was tagged with the loss.

West Monroe got its first four runs with a sharp hitting spree in the third frame. Covington singled, Dykes singled, Averett singled, Fox doubled and Schanks singled to account for the runs.

Morgan drove in Fox and Averett with the last two Rebel runs in the seventh.

McNeese Claims Twinbill Win

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—McNeese ousted Southeastern from second place in the Gulf States Conference Saturday by winning a doubleheader 7-5 and 6-2.

McNeese Lenny Kahn led a home run parade by blasting two in the nightcap. Bob Gilmore and Roland Oubre had one each in the first game for McNeese. SLC's Jerome Mahfouz homered in the opener and Roy Brandhurst socked one in the nightcap.

Minnesota Drops From 2nd Place

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Aspromonte put the Los Angeles Angels in command with a two-run homer and Ken McBride kept them there by pitching a five-hitter Saturday in a 4-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

It was the Twins' second straight loss here and it knocked them out of second place in the American League.

The Angels, playing their third game at home, drew another sparse turnout—5,109. It was the smallest crowd ever to watch a major league game here.

McBride, picking up his first victory in three starts, walked five men but wasn't hurt by his wildness. The Twins got their only run when Earl Battey hit his second homer in the fourth.

The Angels got to left-hander Jim Kaat in the first inning. Albie Pearson led off with a walk and Aspromonte followed with his first homer of the year, a line drive over the left field wall.

Pearson drove in the third Angel run with a two-out single in the fourth. It scored Ken Hamlin, who had walked.

Los Angeles got an unearned run in the fifth, with Bob Cerv reached third on a throwing error by third baseman Reno Bertoia and scored on an infield out.

Kaat, who went 4 1-3 innings, suffered his first loss in two decisions.

McBride's victory was the first of his major league career.

Birds Hand Senators 5-0 Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young Milt Pappas, a 15-game winner in 1960 but knocked out in his first two starts this year, shut out the Senators 5-0 on six hits Saturday.

Baltimore thus swept a three-game series and raised its record to 7-7, while the Senators have lost 10 of 14 games.

Pappas, wild in his earlier efforts, walked only one and struck out five. Only one Senator got as far as third base.

Catcher Gus Triandos and third baseman Brooks Robinson led three hits each. Trindos, Ron Hansen and Jim Gentile each contributed two-base hits.

Ed Hobaugh was the loser. He gave up three runs, one unearned, and eight hits in five innings.

The Orioles scored their first run in the third after two were out. Robinson singled to left-center, moved to second on a walk to Gentile and scored on Triandos' hit to left.

Russ Snyder opened the fourth with a bunt-single down the third base line, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scored on an error. He was trapped between third and home after third baseman Harry Bright fielded a ground ball hit by Pappas, but in the run-down Bright dropped the ball.

Robinson's single and Gentile's double to center brought in the third run in the fifth inning. The Orioles added two more in the ninth off Marty Kutyna, as Triandos hit a bases-loaded double.

'Hoss' Garrett Honored

Twenty-six years of coaching service, 23 of them as boss of athletics at Ruston High School, brought special recognition to L. J. "Hoss" Garrett at Ruston Friday.

It was "Garrett Day" in Ruston, backed with special proclamations from Mayor T. C. Beasley and Lions Club calling for public recognition for "one of the outstanding citizens of the City of Ruston . . . in commemoration of his great service and splendid atitude of cooperation in the fields of athletic en devors. . ."

Coaches of the magnitude of "Hoss" Garrett leave a great impression on those with whom they come in contact. Ruston athletics who have passed under the Garrett influence call him "the greatest."

Only last February Coach Garrett received special tributes at the Ark-La-Tex Sports Award Banquet in Shreveport for his services in high school athletics. Friday night's fete for him alone was a tribute from his hometown people.

The occasion was at the invitational Ruston Relays, a track and field show that drew seven competing teams. Meet action was suspended while "Old Bearcats" presented Garrett a new automobile and a boat. Then the young Bearcat spikemen capped the night by winning the meet for him.

Garrett, a 1934 graduate of Louisiana Tech where he once set 100 and 220-yard dash records of 9.9 and 21.8 that stood for 25 years, coached two years at Forest High in West Carroll parish, and then moved to Arcadia for one year where he coached the Hornets through an undefeated season, and then made the move to Ruston.

Rarely has Ruston failed to present a serious championship contender in high school football since Garrett took charge of the 'Cats. In 1941, 1947, and 1951 he had state champions. His team of 1944 was a state title runner-up. As track coach at Ruston he set a four - for - four record for Class AA with state team titles from 1956 through 1959.

Like any coach, Garrett's goal is a winner, but we don't think he ever let defeat get him down.

After the Neville - Ruston game of 1948 we had occasion to go to the Ruston dressing room. The Bearcats, who has passed ten previous Neville tests without defeat, were pretty gloomy after taking a 14-13 loss. One Bearcat in particular was fighting off tears trying to apologize to his coach for the loss.

"Don't let it worry you. After eleven games it's time for them to win one," was Garrett's answer. Neville since has been able to win its share of Ruston games, but regardless of what team is playing the Bearcat gridders, all rivals have respect for Garrett coaching.

Cotton States Seniors Separate

The senior division of the annual Cotton States Invitational Golf Tournament, a Labor Day holiday special at Bayou DeSiard Country Club, will split away from the September show to become an event all its own.

Replacing the senior flights of the Cotton States on the Bayou DeSiard golf calendar is the first annual Senior Invitational Tournament now dated here for June 1-2-3-4.

Bob Carson has been named chairman of the seniors' tournament committee with Tom Munholland as co - chairman.

The links enjoy a lot of good seniors golfers these days, and the Cotton States division had been growing steadily. Al Villegas, New Orleans, won the event last September, beating N. W. Hatcher, Natchez, in the finals.

Success of area seniors tournaments have been assured by a host of good gentlemen of the links. To name a few we offer, in addition to Villegas and Hatcher:

Dr. Frank P. Rizzo, Everett Lawson, I. F. "Doc" Bennett, Judge Frank Hawthorne, Kenneth Holt, C. C. "Cam Minard, George Miller, Wesley Shafto, Judge E. L. Gladney, C. L. Dill, Charles Herold, W. O. Webb, H. S. Humphrey, O. P. Bobbitt, Harold Moses, L. H. Martin, Frank Davis, W. Kenley Clark, Reid Spier, H. C. "Tot" Menuet.

H. G. Prophit, Warteell Roy, Henry Gaude, Dr. Sam Brister, George Thomas, Ernie Seago, Curtis Monts, L. W. Carpenter, H. L. Woods, L. B. Britain, Horace Lee, David Reynaud, Lionel Billeaud, Herman Egloff, Al Menuet, Cecil Travis, Frank P. Smith, W. B. Jones, John Crump, C. B. McMahan, E. C. Brimberry, Harry Malott, T. F. Wilbanks, W. C. Crowell, Edell Blanks, and T. T. Skinner.

Most of them are still around for the June event. They'll be joined by a new crop just turning the 50-year-old milestone.

And we can't think of any senior event or any golf show of note at Bayou DeSiard without remembering the late E. S. "Shep" Girault. He contributed to much to Twin Cities golf for so many years.

Coming Weeks Crucial For Bulldog Nine

RUSTON, La., (Special) —The next couple of weeks will tell if Berry Hinton's Louisiana Tech nine can win its third straight Gulf States conference title, with action resuming Monday in a twinbill against Northeast State here.

Tech's big lead in the loop race was slashed last Monday when second place Southeastern swept a twinbill at Hammond. The Bulldogs still have a one game lead going into the stretch drive.

One big factor is that Tech won five of eight on the road and has six of its remaining eight loop games on the home field. Tech is 9-3 in league play and 15-5 for the season.

The Bulldogs split earlier with Northeast in Monroe, winning the opener 6-2 and losing the nightcap 11-5. Northeast is 6-6 in the loop race.

Sonny Parker (4-1), who suffered his first loss at Southeastern, and Charlie Fuller (3-0) will probably start against the Indians here Monday.

Tech meets McNeese State in Lake Charles Saturday and then winds up the season with twinbills against Southwestern and SLC here the next week. The season finale doubleheader against SLC here May 10 could decide the loop titlist.

Myrick Pushes Grads Past Oak Grove 19-18

OAK GROVE, La. (Special) — Departing quarterback Ronnie Myrick led the seniors and post grads to a 19-18 win over Oak Grove's varsity here last night, climaxing spring training.

Myrick turned in a great performance, both running and passing for the squeak win.

Bucs Blast Cincinnati Reds By 6-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—Vern Law, a 20-game winner last year who failed to win in his first three starts this season, gained his first victory Saturday night by checking Cincinnati on five hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Reds 6-3.

It was the Reds' seventh straight defeat.

Law was replaced by Roy Face in the seventh inning after the Reds staged a brief uprising powered by home runs from Gene Freese and Frank Ribinson.

Up to then, Law had given up only one hit — to losing pitcher Joey Jay (0-3), who cracked a double with two out in the third.

The Pirates' march to victory began in the first inning when Dick Stuart singled, scoring Bill Virdon and Dick Groat. It continued in the third on the strength of Roberto Clemente's two-run double.

Law himself added an extra run when Smoky Burgess made it home safely on a run in the sixth.

Burgess batted in another run with a double in the eighth inning.

The Reds started a comeback in the seventh inning when Freese banged his first home run of the season. Then Robinson slammed the ball over the right center wall and scored behind Wally Post, who had walked.

When Gordon Coleman hit a double, Law was pulled out. Face gave up one hit and let go with a wild pitch, but it didn't hurt the Pirates' cause.

Keep First Place Mark With 9-5 Win

DETROIT (AP) — Dick Brown hit the first grand slam home run of his major league career and rookie Jake Wood cracked a three-run homer that carried Frank Lary to his fourth straight victory Saturday as Detroit downed the Boston Red Sox 9-5.

The victory was the Tigers' ninth in 12 starts and kept them in first place in the American League.

Hank Aguirre had to nail down Lary's victory when the veteran righthander gave up all of Boston's runs in the sixth and seventh innings. Lary, who had completed his three previous starts, had given up only one hit until the sixth and the Sox had hit only one ball to the outfield.

The Sox rapped Lary for five hits in the sixth and scored three times on singles by Carl Yastrzemski, Vic Wertz, Pete Runnels and Billy Muffett and a double by Gary Geiger.

Aguirre rescued Lary for the final out in the seventh after Boston put across two more runs on a walk, singles by Geiger and Yastrzemski and a double by Wertz.

Aguirre retired seven straight batters.

Tom Brewer, the Boston starter yielded all the Detroit runs and hits before he was knocked out in the fifth.

Rocky Colavito also homered for the Tigers. It was his fourth of the season and led off the second inning.

Brewer might have escaped damage in the fourth when the Tigers scored four runs. Norm Cash led off with a double, but Brewer retired the next two batters. Chico Fernandez singled to left, but third baseman Runnels cut off Yastrzemski's throw from left and Cash scored on what would have been a close play at the plate. Lary singled to center and Wood poked his second homer into the lower seats in right field.

All four of Detroit's runs in the fifth were unearned. Shortstop Pumpsie Green committed two errors with one out, then Steve Boros drew a walk before Brown laced his third home run into the lower seats in left field.

Phillies Nip St. Louis 3-2 On 4-Hitter

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Art Mahaffey, Philadelphia's fireballing young right-hander, pitched his way past a defensive collapse by his teammates and stopped the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 on a four-hitter Saturday night.

The 22-year-old Ohio native now has a 2-1 season record with a sizzling 0.69 earned run average for 26 innings in which he walked only 8 men, fanned 26 and allowed just 11 hits.

He walked only one and fanned three men. He would have had a shutout except for two Philly errors in the seventh, one a dropped fly ball, which let in two unearned runs.

Bobby Gene Smith drove in the winning run for the Phillies in the eighth off loser Ray Sadecki (1-1). Larry Jackson finished the game for St. Louis.

Mahaffey was breezing with a one-hitter and a 2-0 lead when nis fielding support collapsed in the last of the seventh. Shortstop Ruben Amaro's error after a lead-off single by Bob Nieman started it.

Northeast Drops 16-10 Tilt To Mississippi Southern

By JERRY HARKNESS
World Sports Writer

Mississippi Southern exploded for 11 runs in the first inning here yesterday and kept a jump ahead of Northeast the rest of the way, as the Golden Giants stopped the Indians, 16-10 in a wild hit-heavy game that saw eight pitchers come and go and a total of 31 base hits, including five doubles, two triples and three home runs.

Southern's victory gave the Giants a 1-1 final standing in their series with the Indians. Northeast won the first game Friday by a 4-1 score.

The visitors moved ahead with authority in the opening inning working Tribe starter, L. M. Welch for a quick run and loading the bases before Northeast's second moundsman, Stan Gardner took the hill with one man out.

The Giants got to Gardner just as easily, and pushed across six runs on the heavy hitting of Jim Giles, Bob Vaughn and John Bretchtel before George Luffey sent his third pitcher, Teddy Payne, into action.

Payne managed to retire the sides, but not before Mississippi Southern had added four more runs to the score board and were resting with a comfortable 11-0 lead.

Northeast made a game effort to close the wide gap in the bottom of the first. Giant starter, Doug Bobo found himself in the hole when Indian second baseman Eddie McGowen led off with a double, shortstop Phil Petras drove him across with a triple, and George Bryan scored Petras with a booming double.

The Giants sent in their second pitcher, Carl Hollinsworth, who retired the sides after giving up three more runs.

Northeast added another run in the second when slugging Donnie Brunson lined a single to drive in Phil Petras. Southern jumped right back with two runs in the fourth behind Crawford's triple.

The Tribe scored its sixth run in the bottom of the sixth inning as all-GSC shortstop Phil Petras found his pitch and lofted the ball over the left field fence for his second home run of the two-game Southern series.

Both teams scored three runs each in the last three innings. Northeast couldn't close the gap with their last time at bat, although they did load the bases before Bo-Dick Smith grounded one to second base forcing out Donnie Brunson.

McGowen, Smith and Fields got doubles for Northeast and Petras got a triple in addition to his homer in the sixth inning.

Athletics Defeat Chicago Sox 13-9

KANSAS CLTY (AP) — Haywood Sullivan rifled a winning two-bagger off the left field wall with the bases loaded and the score tied in the eighth inning and the Kansas City Athletics went on to defeat the Chicago White Sox 13-9 Saturday.

The A's specialized in the long ball with the sacks full to overcome some shaky late inning relief work by their own pitchers.

Marv Throneberry hit a grand slam homer off Herb Score in the third inning to put Kansas City ahead 6-4 and they were never behind afterward although the Sox tied it at 9-9 in the eighth. Ed Rakow, Bill Kunkel and Dave Wickersham all paraded to the mound before expunging the Sox after four runs had come across.

The starting pitchers, Billy Pierce for Chicago and Jerry Walker of the A's, were gone by the end of the third inning. The Sox scored three in the first inning and another in the third to dispose of Walker, and Pierce was rocket for a solo home run by Leo Posada in the initial frame.

The winning hurler was Wickersham, who notched his first decision, and the loser was Gerry Staley, fifth of the six Sox pitchers His record is 0-1.

Throneberry had five runs batted in and Sullivan four. Jim Landis drove in four for the Sox.

McNeese Claims Twinbill Win

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—McNeese ousted Southeastern from second place in the Gulf States Conference Saturday by winning a doubleheader 7-5 and 6-2.

McNeese Lenny Kahn led a home run parade by blasting two in the nightcap. Bob Gilmore and Roland Oubre had one each in the first game for McNeese. SLC's Jerome Mahfouz homered in the opener and Roy Brandhurst socked one in the nightcap.

Minnesota Drops From 2nd Place

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ken Aspromonte put the Los Angeles Angels in command with a two-run homer and Ken McBride kept them there by pitching a five-hitter Saturday in a 4-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

It was the Twins' second straight loss here and it knocked them out of second place in the American League.

The Angels, playing their third game at home, drew another sparse turnout—5,109. It was the smallest crowd ever to watch a major league game here.

McBride, picking up his first victory in three starts, walked five men but wasn't hurt by his wildness. The Twins got their only run when Earl Battey hit his econd homer in the fourth.

The Angels got to left-hander Jim Kaat in the first inning. Albie Pearson led off with a walk and Aspromonte followed with his first homer of the year, a line drive over the left field wall.

Pearson drove in the third Angel run with a two-out single in the fourth. It scored Ken Hamlin, who had walked.

Los Angeles got an unearned run in the fifth, with Bob Cerv reached third on a throwing error by third baseman Reno Bertoia and scored on an infield out.

Kaat, who went 4 1-3 innings, suffered his first loss in two decisions.

McBride's victory was the first of his major league career.

Birds Hand Senators 5-0 Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young Milt Pappas, a 15-game winner in 1960 but knocked out in his first two starts this year, shut out the Senators 5-0 on six hits Saturday.

Baltimore thus swept a three-game series and raised its record to 7-7, while the Senators have lost 10 of 14 games.

Pappas, wild in his earlier efforts, walked only one and struck out five. Only one Senator got as far as third base.

Catcher Gus Triandos and third baseman Brooks Robinson led three hits each. Trindos, Ron Hansen and Jim Gentile each contributed two-base hits.

Ed Hobaugh was the loser. He gave up three runs, one unearned, and eight hits in five innings.

The Orioles scored their first run in the third after two were out. Robinson singled to left-center, moved to second on a walk to Gentile and scored on Triandos' hit to left.

Russ Snyder opened the fourth with a bunt-single down the third base line, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scored on an error. He was trapped between third and home after third baseman Harry Bright fielded a ground ball hit by Pappas, but in the run-down Bright dropped the ball.

Robinson's single and Gentile's double to center brought in the third run in the fifth inning. The Orioles added two more in the ninth off Marty Kutyna, as Triandos hit a bases-loaded double.

EILAND, WALKER, ROGERS WIN

LSU Wins Relay Crown, Northeast Finishes Second

By BOB ANDERSON

BATON ROUGE, La. — Al Moreau's host Tigers broke Northeast's two-year grip on the LSU invitational track meet championship here Saturday afternoon as well as the pole vault record, shattered when Jess Fatherree Jr. soared 14 feet and nine inches.

Fatheree's vault, which set an LSU record as well as the invitational mark, climaxed an afternoon that also saw two great distance runs. Northeast's little Don "Buddy" Eiland broke his old invitational mark of 4:15.5 with a 4:14 clocking in the mile while Lamar Tech's brilliant Briton, Ian Stewart, ran the two-mile in the excellent time of 9:07.2, easily besting the old record of 9:28.4 set by Eiland last season.

Two other Lamar Stars claimed the other record. Colin Ridgway and Bob Jancik both leaped 6-5½ in the high jump, easing the old record of 6-3⅛ set by Northwestern's Bobby Wicker in 1959.

Fatherree's pole vault, which came about 10 minutes after the track events had concluded, bested a record of 14-5 set minutes Joe Harris and Northeast Star John Pennel. The record going into Saturday's meet was 14-2¾, achieved by Jerry Moore of LSU in 1958. The old LSU team record was 14-8 ½ set by Harris last year. Harris and Pennel failed to clear 14-9 three times before Fatheree went over the bar. Fatheree three times attempted to clear 15 feet but failed.

LSU's winning team total was 65 ½ points. Northeast came in second at 44 5-6, Lamar compiled 32 1-3 points, Louisiana Tech 26 1-3, University of Southwestern Louisiana six points and Tulane one. Northwestern, scheduled to compete, did not show up.

The team victory was LSU's second in this four-year-old meet. The Tigers took the 1958 crown. Northeast edged LSU in 1959 and last season Northeast's unbeaten team scored a smashing victory, setting nine records.

LSU picked up seven first places Saturday and shared another. Northeast had four winners, Lamar three and Louisiana Tech won one event and tied for first in another.

The Northeast winners were Randall Walker in the 440. Eiland's time in the 880 was 1:55.9. Rogers tossed the discus 155-1 ½ and Walker sped through the quarter mile in 48.1.

Northeast coach Bob Groseclose's crack distance corps dominated the mile with George Abbott and Jack Williams finishing behind Eiland in that order. Eiland, running the 880 this season for the first time, passed up the two-mile yesterday.

Northeast's five mile relay quartet finished second to LSU. LSU won the event in 3:15.4 while Northeast, running without injured regular Jim Glass, had a 3:16.4 clocking.

Other Northeast seconds came in the pole vault and the shot put, where Rogers turned in a 52-5½ effort. Gene Harbert of Northeast was third in the javelin. Pennel was third in the broad jump, John Baker third in the 440, Owen Owen third in the low hurdles and Williams third in the two-mile.

Louisiana Tech swiftie Pat Garrett edged LSU's bespectled Doug Constant by less than a foot in the century and ex-Neville strong man Joe Cage gave Tech a piece of the javelin first with a 189-2 throw. Roy Tregre of LSU tied for first with cage in the spear throwing competition.

LSU's 440 relay foursome of Jack O'Neil, Bo Campbell, Constant and Jim Fornaris took that event in 41.8 with Louisiana Tech second and Northeast fourth. Derrell Smith of Lamar Tech skimmed over the high hurdles in 15.2 to win and Constant edged Garrett in the 220, overtaking the Tech sprinter in the last 10 yards to win by a whisker.

Sam Simonton of Ruston won the low hurdles for LSU with a 24.0 clocking while ex-Fair Park High musceleman Ludwig Bandaries of LSU heaved the shot 55-7¼ to beat Rogers. Constant took the broad jump in 22-6.

Eiland took the lead on the last turn in the 880 from Louisiana Tech's Earl Wright to win by about a yard in one of the day's best events. Stewart made a shambles of the two-mile field. The 22-year-old NAIA champion took the lead on the first lap and headed fellow Englishman Peter Linford, also of Lamar, by over 200 yards at the finish.

Eiland led from the first lap on in winning the mile run and Walker followed by pulling even with LSU's Jack O'Neil about 20 yards from the tape and edged him by a foot to take the 440 crown.

TWO OF BEST

Palmer, Player Champions' Picks

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — When the ninth annual Tournament of Champions gets under way at the Desert Inn Country Club course on Thursday, two of the world's greatest golfers will be favored at 6-1 to win the $10,000 first place jackpot.

Arnold Palmer, the National Open champion; and Gary Player the South African who recently dethroned Palmer as Masters champ, are the men to beat.

So that leaves such golfing greats as Sam Snead, Jay Hebert, Ken Venturi, Tommy Bolt and other stars in the 26-man field among the almost-also-ran class.

This is the most exclusive tournament in the world. In order to get into it a golfer must win a PGA sanctioned big-time tournament. Sometimes the field is around 20. This is one of the bigger groups.

In its nine short years of existence, the tournament has gained a lot of ivy. Most of the professionals now rate the Tournament of Champions crown right after the National Open, Masters and PGA as the one they would "like most to win." It has that kind of prestige.

Some golfers refuse to play here yet. Jackie Burke of Houston, Tex., isn't eligible to play here this year. But even in his best days he shied away from this area because of the gambling connections.

But the tournament has gained a respectable place in the golfing sun. Every man eligible to compete will be here this year. Gambling is off-limits on the golf course. There is no whopping golf calcutta as there was in the early years.

The Desert Inn course is a true championship layout. It is long—nearly 7,000 yards—and it is heavily trapped. There are several water holes. While the course is as flat as a platter, the fairways are narrow and the roughs are long. And there are out-of-bounds markers on more than half the holes. Breaking par here is a chore for only the experts.

Favorites, as a general rule, don't win here. Gene Littler upset all the odds by winning three times in a row. And wile he was doing it, singer Frankie Laine won more than a quarter of a million dollars backing Gene in the calcutta pool.

Stan Leonard, another long shot, won the crown in 1959. And the defending champion is little Jerry Barber, who figured to get nowhere.

The gamblers think the same thing about little Jerry again this year. They have him listed at 14-1. He has lots of company there, however, with the like of Bob Goalby, Bill Casper, Bill Collins, Johnny Pott, Dow Finsterwald, Julius Boros, Doug Ford and Billy Maxwell.

Most of the players these days look forward to the Tournament of Champions. And so do the wives. Every player becoming eligible for the tourney automatically gets $1,000 by playing.

"Win or lose," says Venturi, "it's sort of a paid vacation for the players and their wives. They all look forward to it."

The last two rounds of play on Saturday and Sunday will be nationally televised.

Alexandria Girl Defending State Golf Champion

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria will go after her second straight crown when the Louisiana Womens State Golf tournament opens here Monday.

Miss Creed, who won the tourney last year at Alexandria after a year's layoff from competition, will also try to boost her total state championship to six.

Some 100 golfers are expected for the affair over the 5,951-yard Lake Charles Golf and Country Club course. The low 16 after Monday's medal play will go into the championship flight for four days of match play.

Most of Miss Creed's competition probably will come from Barbara Fay White of Shreveport and Marjo Simmons of Bogalusa.

Miss White, a student at Texas Christian University, recently finished as second amateur in the Dallas Civitan tourney and was 11th in the field overall. She lost to Miss Creed in the semifinals of the Louisiana womens' tourney in 1959.

Miss Simmons won the state crown in 1959 but lost to Miss Creed in last years finals.

Merry Ruler Is Delaware Valley Stakes Winner

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Merry Ruler, one of the turf's swiftest 3-year-olds at a mile or less, won his third stakes of the year in five starts Saturday as he captured the $29,55 Delaware Valley Stakes featuring the opening of Garden State Park's 20th season. The gelded son of Grey Soverign who earlier in the season took the Swift and Bay Shore at Aqueduct, came from off the pace in the home stretch to nip the Alamode Farm's Vapor Whirl at the wire. Hasty Honey from the Jaclyn Stable was third.

Merry Ruler picked up $19,207.50 for his New Jersey owner, Harry O.H. Frelinghuysen, and ran his earnings for the year to $66,-512. Under jockey Sammy Boulmetis he carried 124 pounds over the 6 furlongs in 1:11 2-5 and paid $5.40.

Southside Wins Three-Way Track Meet Friday On

Southside won its second track meet of the year here Friday, scoring 79½ to 71 for Lake Providence and 52½ for St. Matthew's

The Pelicans won the shot put, discus, pole vault, high and low hurdles and the mile relay to take the meet.

YANKS TAKE TWO-GAME SERIES

Yogi And Arroyo Combine To Beat Cleveland 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra smashed a two-run homer and relief specialist Luis Arroyo squashed an eighth inning Cleveland threat as the New York Yankees won 4-2 Saturday to sweep a two-game series from the Indians.

Cleveland pitchers Jim Perry and Bob Allen limited the hot-hitting Mickey Mantle to a mere single in three official times at bat but Roger Maris emerged from his batting slump with a couple of runs-batted-in to share hitting laurels with Berra.

Ralph Terry started for the Yankees and was credited with his first victory although hit hard by the Indians. After Jimmy Piersall had opened Cleveland's eighth with a base on balls and moved to second when Willie Kirkland singled, the ninth hit off Terry, Yankee Manager Ralph Houk called Arroyo in from the bullpen.

Arroyo, a crafty little southpaw, induced Bubba Phillips, who had previously tripled, to hit into a double play and ended the inning by getting Vic Power on an infield popup. In the ninth, Held singled for the Indians' 10th hit but Mike Delahoz hit into a game ending double play.

Berra's homer, his first of the season and 319th of his career, climaxed a three-run first inning against Perry, who lost his first after two victories. Tony Kubek opened with a double, went to third on an infield out and scored on Maris' sacrifice fly. Mantle then singled and rode home on Berra's blow into the lower right field stands.

One of Cleveland's runs came on Woody Held's first homer of the season in the fourth.

TEXAS SOUTHERN SHINES

Stars Outdone At Drake Relays

By JERRY LISKA

9-4 OVER CUBS

Howard Smashes Dodgers To Win

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Towering Frank Howard drove in six runs with a pair of homers, one a grand slammer, powering the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The triumph, marking the Dodgers first road start after 15 home games, ended the Cubs' four game winning streak in Wrigley Field.

The 6-foot, 7-inch Howard blasted his second homer of the campaign into the left field stands in the second inning, also scoring Don Demeter. Demeter had reached first when his grounder went through second baseman Don Zimmer's legs for an error.

Howard's four-bagger in the fifth inning came on a 1-2 pitch and carried 440 feet into the center field bleacher seats.

Before serving the gopher ball, starter Dick Ellsworth had filled the bags by yielding a single to Charlie Neal and walks to Wally Moon and Demeter.

Charlie Smith followed Howard's base-cleaning blow with his No. 2 homer, and Joe Schaffernoth replaced Ellsworth.

Maury Wills scored the Dodgers' other two runs. One came in the second inning when he cracked his second single and gained second on a passed ball. After Neal walked, Wills reached third on Moon's sacrifice. He scored when Tommy Davis grounded to Ernie Banks.

Wills tripled in the ninth and scored on a wild pitch.

The Cubs tallied three times in the second on Don Santo's triple, Frank Thomas' single, Billy Williams' double and Dick Bertel's sacrifice fly.

EILAND, WALKER, ROGERS WIN

LSU Wins Relay Crown, Northeast Finishes Second

By BOB ANDERSON

BATON ROUGE, La. — Al Moreau's host Tigers broke Northeast's two-year grip on the LSU invitational track meet championship here Saturday afternoon as well as the pole vault record, shattered when Jess Fatherree Jr. soared 14 feet and nine inches.

Fatheree's vault, which set an LSU record as well as the invitational mark, climaxed an afternoon that also saw two great distance runs. Northeast's little Don "Buddy" Eiland broke his old invitational mark of 4:15.5 with a 4:14 clocking in the mile while Lamar Tech's brilliant Briton, Ian Stewart, ran the two-mile in the excellent time of 9:07.2, easily besting the old record of 9:28.4 set by Eiland last season.

Two other Lamar Stars claimed the other record. Colin Ridgway and Bob Jancik both leaped 6-5½ in the high jump, easing the old record of 6-3⅛ set by Northwestern's Bobby Wicker in 1959.

Fatherree's pole vault, which came about 10 minutes after the track events had concluded, bested a record of 14-5 set minutes Joe Harris and Northeast Star John Pennel. The record going into Saturday's meet was 14-2¾, achieved by Jerry Moore of LSU in 1958. The old LSU team record was 14-8 ½ set by Harris last year. Harris and Pennel failed to clear 14-9 three times before Fatheree went over the bar. Fatheree three times attempted to clear 15 feet but failed.

LSU's winning team total was 65 ½ points. Northeast came in second at 44 5-6, Lamar compiled 32 1-3 points, Louisiana Tech 26 1-3, University of Southwestern Louisiana six points and Tulane one. Northwestern, scheduled to compete, did not show up.

The team victory was LSU's second in this four-year-old meet. The Tigers took the 1958 crown. Northeast edged LSU in 1959 and last season Northeast's unbeaten team scored a smashing victory, setting nine records.

LSU picked up seven first places Saturday and shared another. Northeast had four winners, Lamar three and Louisiana Tech won one event and tied for first in another.

The Northeast winners were Randall Walker in the 440. Eiland's time in the 880 was 1:55.9. Rogers tossed the discus 155-1 ½ and Walker sped through the quarter mile in 48.1.

Northeast coach Bob Groseclose's crack distance corps dominated the mile with George Abbott and Jack Williams finishing behind Eiland in that order. Eiland, running the 880 this season for the first time, passed up the two-mile yesterday.

Northeast's five mile relay quartet finished second to LSU. LSU won the event in 3:15.4 while Northeast, running without injured regular Jim Glass, had a 3:16.4 clocking.

Other Northeast seconds came in the pole vault and the shot put, where Rogers turned in a 52-5½ effort. Gene Harbert of Northeast was third in the javelin, Pennel was third in the broad jump, John Baker third in the 440, Owen Owen third in the low hurdles and Williams third in the two-mile.

Louisiana Tech swiftie Pat Garrett edged LSU's bespectled Doug Constant by less than a foot in the century and ex-Neville strong man Joe Cage gave Tech a piece of the javelin first with a 189-2 throw. Roy Tregre of LSU tied for first with cage in the spear throwing competition.

LSU's 440 relay foursome of Jack O'Neil, Bo Campbell, Constant and Jim Fornaris took that event in 41.8 with Louisiana Tech second and Northeast fourth. Derrell Smith of Lamar Tech skimmed over the high hurdles in 15.2 to win and Constant edged Garrett in the 220, overtaking the Tech sprinter in the last 10 yards to win by a whisker.

Sam Simonton of Ruston won the low hurdles for LSU with a 24.0 clocking while ex-Fair Park High muscleman Ludwig Bandaries of LSU heaved the shot 55-7¼ to beat Rogers. Constant took the broad jump in 22-6.

Eiland took the lead on the last turn in the 880 from Louisiana Tech's Earl Wright to win by about a yard in one of the day's best events. Stewart made a shambles of the two-mile field. The 22-year-old NAIA champion took the lead on the first lap and headed fellow Englishman Peter Linford, also of Lamar, by over 200 yards at the finish.

Eiland led from the first lap on in winning the mile run and Walker followed by pulling even with LSU's Jack O'Neil about 20 yards from the tape and edged him by a foot to take the 440 crown.

TWO OF BEST

Palmer, Player Champions' Picks

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — When the ninth annual Tournament of Champions gets under way at the Desert Inn Country Club course on Thursday, two of the world's greatest golfers will be favored at 6-1 to win the $10,000 first place jackpot.

Arnold Palmer, the National Open champion; and Gary Player the South African who recently dethroned Palmer as Masters champ, are the men to beat.

So that leaves such golfing greats as Sam Snead, Jay Hebert, Ken Venturi, Tommy Bolt and other stars in the 26-man field among the almost-also-ran class.

This is the most exclusive tournament in the world. In order to get into it a golfer must win a PGA sanctioned big-time tournament. Sometimes the field is around 20. This is one of the bigger groups.

In its nine short years of existence, the tournament has gained a lot of ivy. Most of the professionals now rate the Tournament of Champions crown right after the National Open, Masters and PGA as the one they would "like most to win." It has that kind of prestige.

Some golfers refuse to play here yet. Jackie Burke of Houston, Tex., isn't eligible to play here this year. But even in his best days he shied away from this area because of the gambling connections.

But the tournament has gained a respectable place in the golfing sun. Every man eligible to compete will be here this year. Gambling is off-limits on the golf course. There is no whopping golf calcutta as there was in the early years.

The Desert Inn course is a true championship layout. It is long—nearly 7,000 yards—and it is heavily trapped. There are several water holes. While the course is as flat as a platter, the fairways are narrow and the roughs are long. And there are out-of-bounds markers on more than half the holes. Breaking par here is a chore for only the experts.

Favorites, as a general rule, don't win here. Gene Littler upset all the odds by winning three times in a row. And wiile he was doing it, singer Frankie Laine won more than a quarter of a million dollars backing Gene in the calcutta pool.

Stan Leonard, another long shot, won the crown in 1959. And the defending champion is little Jerry Barber, who figured to get nowhere.

The gamblers think the same thing about little Jerry again this year. They have him listed at 14-1. He has lots of company there, however, with the like of Bob Goalby, Bill Casper, Bill Collins, Johnny Pott, Dow Finsterwald, Julius Boros, Doug Ford and Billy Maxwell.

Most of the players these days look forward to the Tournament of Champions. And so do the wives. Every player becoming eligible for the tourney automatically gets $1,000 by playing.

"Win or lose," says Venturi, "it's sort of a paid vacation for the players and their wives. They all look forward to it."

The last two rounds of play on Saturday and Sunday will be nationally televised.

Merry Ruler Is Delaware Valley Stakes Winner

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Merry Ruler, one of the turf's swiftest 3-year-olds at a mile or less, won his third stakes of the year in five starts Saturday as he captured the $29,55 Delaware Valley Stakes featuring the opening of Garden State Park's 20th season. The gelded son of Grey Soverign who earlier in the season took the Swift and Bay Shore at Aqueduct, came from off the pace in the home stretch to nip the Alamode Farm's Vapor Whirl at the wire. Hasty Honey from the Jaclyn Stable was third.

Merry Ruler picked up $19,207.50 for his New Jersey owner, Harry O.H. Frelinghuysen, and ran his earnings for the year to $66,312. Under jockey Sammy Boulmetis he carried 124 pounds over the 6 furlongs in 1:11 2-5 and paid $5.40.

Southside Wins Three-Way Track Meet Friday On

Southside won its second track meet of the year here Friday, scoring 79½ to 71 for Lake Providence and 52½ for St. Matthew's

The Pelicans won the shot put, discus, pole vault, high and low hurdles and the mile relay to take the meet.

Alexandria Girl Defending State Golf Champion

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria will go after her second straight crown when the Louisiana Womens State Golf tournament opens here Monday.

Miss Creed, who won the tourney last year at Alexandria after a year's layoff from competition, will also try to boost her total state championship to six.

Some 100 golfers are expected for the affair over the 5,951-yard Lake Charles Golf and Country Club course. The low 16 after Monday's medal play will go into the championship flight for four days of match play.

Most of Miss Creed's competition probably will come from Barbara Fay White of Shreveport and Marjo Simmons of Bogalusa.

Miss White, a student at Texas Christian University, recently finished as second amateur in the Dallas Civitan tourney and was 11th in the field overall. She lost to Miss Creed in the semifinals of the Louisiana womens' tourney in 1959.

Miss Simmons won the state crown in 1959 but lost to Miss Creed in last years finals.

YANKS TAKE TWO-GAME SERIES

Yogi And Arroyo Combine To Beat Cleveland 4-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra smashed a two-run homer and relief specialist Luis Arroyo squashed an eighth inning Cleveland threat as the New York Yankees won 4-2 Saturday to sweep a two-game series from the Indians.

Cleveland pitchers Jim Perry and Bob Allen limited the hot-hitting Mickey Mantle to a mere single in three official times at bat but Roger Maris emerged from his batting slump with a couple of runs-batted-in to share hitting laurels with Berra.

Ralph Terry started for the Yankees and was credited with his first victory although hit hard by the Indians. After Jimmy Piersall had opened Cleveland's eighth with a base on balls and moved to second when Willie Kirkland singled, the ninth hit off Terry, Yankee Manager Ralph Houk called Arroyo in from the bullpen.

Arroyo, a crafty little southpaw, induced Bubba Phillips, who had previously tripled, to hit into a double play and ended the inning by getting Vic Power on an infield popup. In the ninth, Held singled for the Indians' 10th hit but Mike Delahoz hit into a game ending double play.

Berra's homer, his first of the season and 319th of his career, climaxed a three-run first inning against Perry, who lost his first after two victories. Tony Kubek opened with a double, went to third on an infield out and scored on Maris' sacrifice fly. Mantle then singled and rode home on Berra's blow into the lower right field stands.

One of Cleveland's runs came on Woody Held's first homer of the season in the fourth.

9-4 OVER CUBS

Howard Smashes Dodgers To Win

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP) — Towering Frank Howard drove in six runs with a pair of homers, one a grand slammer, powering the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 9-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

The triumph, marking the Dodgers first road start after 15 home games, ended the Cubs' four game winning streak in Wrigley Field.

The 6-foot, 7-inch Howard blasted his second homer of the campaign into the left field stands in the second inning, also scoring Don Demeter. Demeter had reached first when his grounder went through second baseman Don Zimmer's legs for an error.

Howard's four-bagger in the fifth inning came on a 1-2 pitch and carried 440 feet into the center field bleacher seats.

Before serving the gopher ball, starter Dick Ellsworth had filled the bags by yielding a single to Charlie Neal and walks to Wally Moon and Demeter.

Charlie Smith followed Howard's base-cleaning blow with his No. 2 homer, and Joe Schaffernoth replaced Ellsworth.

Maury Wills scored the Dodgers' other two runs. One came in the second inning when he cracked his second single and gained second on a passed ball. After Neal walked, Wills reached third on Moon's sacrifice. Tommy Davis grounded to Ernie Banks.

Wills tripled in the ninth and scored on a wild pitch.

The Cubs tallied three times in the second on Don Santo's triple, Frank Thomas' single, Billy Williams' double and Dick Bertel's sacrifice fly.

Johnny Podres, going the route to boost his record to 3-0 on a seven-hitter, served a homer to Ernie Banks in the ninth.

IN TEXAS OPEN

Geiberger And Harney In Fore

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Veteran Paul Harney and tour sophomore Al Geiberger rushed past the heralded stars, including the mighty Arnold Palmer, into the lead at 54 holes in the $30,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament Saturday.

Harney fashioned a 5-under-par 65 while Geiberger turned in a steady 68 and the duo tied for the top at 201.

Palmer, who led at the halfway mark with 130, soared to a 1-over-par 72 and fell down to a tie for third place with Rex Baxter, Doug Sanders and Al Balding at 202.

Harney was making the biggest advance—he came from a tie for seventh place. Geiberger was in second place, only three strokes back of Palmer, as the third round began.

The field of 91—80 professionals and 11 amateurs—played in a drizzling rain but 30 cracked par 71 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Palmer, who is noted for his great finishes, made his move in the second round this time and when he round up leading by three strokes it was conceded that the man from Pennsylvania would be very hard to catch.

He wasn't though. He played one of his poorest rounds and went 2-over-par through nine. He missed a 6-foot birdie putt on 17 that would have given him a tie for the lead and he was on the edge of the green on 18, so he had to lay up and take his par.

Arnold had birdied 15 with a 30.

Gary Player, the little man from South Africa who leads the money winners for the year—Palmer is second—had his best round of the tournament, a fine 65, to move into a tie for seventh at 203 with Don Whitt, the first-round leader, and Bill Collins.

Baxter had a 66, Balding a 68, and Sanders a 66 to forge into the tie with Palmer for third place. Whitt had a 66 and Collins followed suit.

HIT FIVE HOMERS

Giants Retaliate Against Milwaukee With 7-3 Win

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The San Francisco Giants unloaded a barrage of five homers, including two by Willie McCovey in a 15-hit attack Saturday for a 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Held hitless by Milwaukee's southpaw ace, Warren Spahn, Friday night, the Giants unloaded their big guns against starter Bob Buhl and relievers Don McMahon and Ken MacKenzie in support of righthander Juan Marichal.

McCovey drove in four runs with his third and fourth homers of the season. Solo shots were belted by Felipe Alou, Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport.

Joe Adcock put the Braves in front briefly 1-0 with his first homer of the year in the second, but Marichal was in command until tiring briefly in the ninth when the Braves erupted for a pair of runs with two out. Marichal yielded eight hits, struck out four and walked one in evening his record at 1-1.

McCovey tied the count in the fourth with a blast of some 450 feet into the runway in right. Alou connected for his first circuit smash in the same inning.

McCovey homered into the stands in left center more than 400 feet away with two mates aboard in the fifth and Cepeda followed with his second homer of the year before Buhl was lifted for a pinch hitter in the last half of the inning.

Although tagged for six hits in the next three innings, McMahon escaped with only one run scored against him. That came on Davenport's first homer, a drive into the stands in left center.

Davenport took over at third base in the third after Harvey Kuenn was forced to retire with a slightly wrenched left knee suffered in a first inning collision with Roy McMillan.

MacKenzie surrendered two hits in the ninth but got out of the inning when Davenport, who also had a pair of singles, was cut down at the plate attempting to score on a pop double to right by Cepeda.

The fielding gem of the game was turned in by Willie Mays of the Giants in the second inning after Adcock's homer. Mays raced to the 392-foot mark in left center and climbed the wall to make a backhanded grab of Johnny DeMerit's long drive.

The loss was charged to Buhl, his second without a victory for the season.

ABILENE GETS ONE

Villanova Takes 3 At Penn Relays

By ED CORRIGAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova whipped to three victories, including the mile for the seventh year in a row, while Abilene Christian had to be content with a single triumph Saturday in the Penn Relays.

The mile, final event on the long program, was run under low hanging clouds and a sprinkling of rain before a Franklin Field crowd of 37,808. It produced four mishaps before Villanova ripped home in 3:14.3.

The troubles started on the first turn when New York University leadoff man Ken Hendler was jostled in the eight-team field.

A few steps later on, Abilene Christian's Dennis Richardson fell and a Southern University runner dropped the baton. Later in the race, Fordham also dropped the baton.

With it all, though, Villanova's Joe Manion, Nick DeAngelis, Bob Raemore and Paul Drayton battered through to the victory. NYU, with Jim Wedderburn at anchor, almost caught Villanova, but Drayton held on to finish about 2 yards to the good.

This was the identical Villanova team that won last year.

Villanova also won the half-mile in 1:24.8, a stunning upset over Abilene Christian, and the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay in 1:00.8.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Veteran Paul Harney and tour sophomore Al Geiberger rushed past the heralded stars, including the mighty Arnold Palmer, into the lead at 54 holes in the $30,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament Saturday.

Harney fashioned a 5-under-par 65 while Geiberger turned in a steady 68 and the due tied for the top at 201.

Palmer, who led at the halfway mark with 130, soared to a 1-over-par 72 and fell down to a tie for third place with Rex Baxter, Doug Sanders and Al Balding at 202.

Harney was making the biggest advance—he came from a tie for seventh place. Geiberger was in second place, only three strokes back of Palmer, as the third round began.

The field of 91—80 professionals and 11 amateurs—played in a drizzling rain but 30 cracked par 71 over the 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

Palmer, who is noted for his great finishes, made his move in the second round this time and when he round up leading by three strokes it was conceded that the man from Pennsylvania would be very hard to catch.

He wasn't though. He played one of his poorest rounds and went 2-over-par through nine. He missed a 6-foot birdie putt on 17 that would have given him a tie for the lead and he was on the edge of the green on 18, so he had to lay up and take his par.

Arnold had birdied 15 with a 3-0.

Gary Player, the little man from South Africa who leads the money winners for the year—Palmer is second—had his best round of the tournament, a fine 65, to move into a tie for seventh at 203 with Don Whitt, the first-round leader, and Bill Collins.

Baxter had a 66, Balding a 68, and Sanders a 66 to forge into the tie with Palmer for third place. White had a 66 and Collins followed suit.

HIT FIVE HOMERS

Giants Retaliate Against Milwaukee With 7-3 Win

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The San Francisco Giants unloaded a barrage of five homers, including two by Willie McCovey in a 15-hit attack Saturday for a 7-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Held hitless by Milwaukee's southpaw ace, Warren Spahn, Friday night, the Giants unloaded their big guns against starter Bob Buhl and relievers Don McMahon and Ken MacKenzie in support of righthander Juan Marichal.

McCovey drove in four runs with his third and fourth homers of the season. Solo shots were belted by Felipe Alou, Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport.

Joe Adcock put the Braves in front briefly 1-0 with his first homer of the year in the second, but Marichal was in command until tiring briefly in the ninth when the Braves erupted for a pair of runs with two out. Marichal yielded eight hits, struck out four and walked one in evening his record at 1-1.

McCovey tied the count in the fourth with a blast of some 450 feet into the runway in right. Alou connected for his first circuit smash in the same inning.

McCovey homered into the stands in left center more than 400 feet away with two mates aboard in the fifth and Cepeda followed with his second homer of the year before Buhl was lifted for a pinch hitter in the last half of the inning.

Although tagged for six hits in the next three innings, McMahon escaped with only one run scored against him. That came on Davenport's first homer, a drive into the stands in left center.

Davenport took over at third base in the third after Harvey Kuenn was forced to retire with a slightly wrenched left knee suffered in a first inning collision with Roy McMillan.

MacKenzie surrendered two hits in the ninth but got out of the inning when Davenport, who also had a pair of singles, was cut down at the plate attempting to score on a pop double to right by Cepeda.

The fielding gem of the game was turned in by Willie Mays of the Giants in the second inning after Adcock's homer. Mays raced to the 392-foot mark in left center and climbed the wall to make a backhanded grab of Johnny DeMerit's long drive.

The loss was charged to Buhl, his second without a victory for the season.

ABILENE GETS ONE

Villanova Takes 3 At Penn Relays

By ED CORRIGAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Villanova whipped to three victories, including the mile for the seventh year in a row, while Abilene Christian had to be content with a single triumph Saturday in the Penn Relays.

The mile, final event on the long program, was run under low hanging clouds and a sprinkling of rain before a Franklin Field crowd of 37,808. It produced four mishaps before Villanova ripped home in 3:14.3.

The troubles started on the first turn when New York University leadoff man Ken Hendler was jostled in the eight-team field.

A few steps later on, Abilene Christian's Dennis Richardson fell and a Southern University runner dropped the baton. Later in the race, Fordham also dropped the baton.

With it all, though, Villanova's Joe Manion, Nick DeAngelis, Bob Raemore and Paul Drayton battered through to the victory. NYU, with Jim Wedderburn at anchor, almost caught Villanova, but Drayton held on to finish about 2 yards to the good.

This was the identical Villanova team that won last year.

Villanova also won the half-mile in 1:24.8, a stunning upset over Abilene Christian, and the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay in 1:00.8.

IF ETERNAL VIGILANCE PREVAILS

Big Time Basketball Is Worth The Risk Say Tops

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Is big time college basketball worth the risk it involves?

American college administrators asked themselves this question Saturday in the wake of the third major game-fixing scandal in the game's history, the others were in 1945 and 1951.

They came up with this answer:

Yes: But only if eternal vigilance is exercised and if there is adequate legislation to stop the would-be fixers, the gamblers.

Twelve college players from seven institutions have been involved so far in the latest bribery scandal which was unfolded Thursday when the New York County grand jury handed down a 37-count indictment charging corruption and conspiracy against Aaron Wagman.

The district attorney's office said the investigation is being continued and indicated that more names may be mentioned. Wagman prevously had been convicted of attempting to fix a college football game.

But what about the thousands and thousands of players who haven't been touched by the scandals?

Donald (Dudey) Moore, coach at LaSalle in Philadelphia, was quick to say that proved the basic honesty of college athletics. One LaSalle player, Ed Bowler, was named as having taken bribes.

"Something like this reinforces your faith," Moore said. "It makes you think of all the honest ones. Why don't they start naming them?"

Walter Byers, executive secretary of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, added an expression of confidence. Since the basketball scandals of 1951 the NCAA has taken an active part in attempting to discourage gambling and in encouraging its 552 members colleges to take precautionary measures.

"I believe that the general public and the college alumni are not going to be shaken by the transgressions of a relatively few and have sufficient confidence in the integrity of college athletics and the college athletes," Byers said.

The 1951 scandals involved 33 basketball players from seven colleges. In the wake of disclosure of fixes of 83 games in 23 cities, several colleges dropped big time basketball. Others refused to play in the major noncollege arenas, including New York's Madison Square Garden. And public confidence was so shaken that for four or five years Garden basketball attendance dwindled far below its 1950 levels.

Indications Saturday were that Philadelphia's Big Five college program at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra might be affected by the recent disclosures of fixing. Seven games at the Palestra were listed in the indictments. Others were at various locations in the East and South.

Jerry Ford, Pennsylvania athletic director, said that the fact the games were at the Palestra "reflects unfavorably on the university." He added that a decision on the future of the doubleheader program depends on whether the trial of the fixers shows that the location had any bearing on the contacts or payoffs.

However, Brother Daniel Bernian, LaSalle president, and Athletic Director Jim Henry said they saw no reason to curtail basketball because of the unfortunate action of a few players. At Philadelphia's St. Joseph's College, which had three players involved, The Rev. Joseph Gieb, moderator of athletics, also indicated there would be no major change in the basketball program.

Since 1951 the NCAA and many of its member conferences have encouraged the passage of state legislation concerning bribery of athletes. The NCAA also has recommended passage of federal laws against attempting to control the outcome of sports events.

There have been recent indications in Washington that such federal legislation may be forthcoming.

The NCAA also has spelled out recommendations to colleges on steps to prevent their players being contacted by gamblers and on requirements to be met if they play games in off-campus arenas.

Another field of current NCAA activity concerns control of the recruiting of athletes. One veteran basketball coach, Glen Rose of Arkansas, called lavish and uncontrolled recruiting one source of trouble.

Said Rose: "If you can buy a player, then someone else can buy him out from under you."

Big Program On Schedule At Roll-Arena

Another big night is in store for wrestling fans tonight at Roll-Arena with three headline matches on tap.

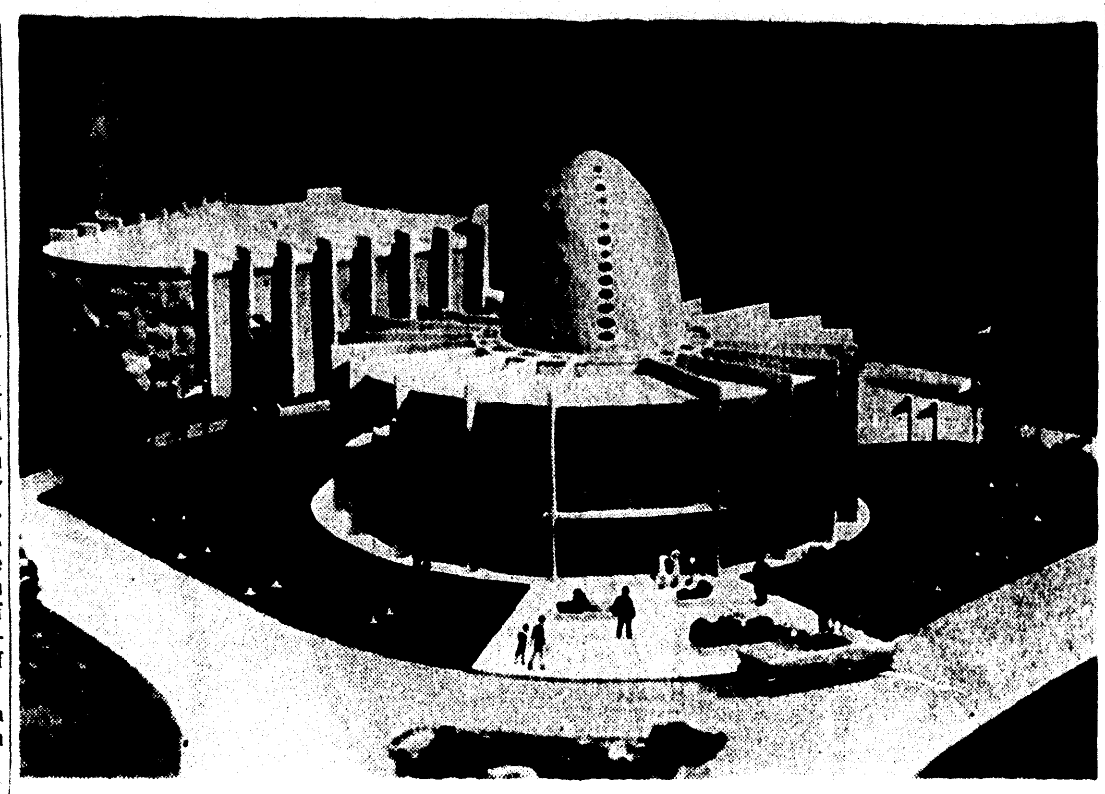
Mr. and Mrs. Wrestling, Al Azaza and Ada Ash, will team up against Margie Ramsey and Tony Neopolitan in a mixed tag-team match to stat things off.

The mixed match will be a one-hour two falls to win battle.

Tony Neopolitan will team with Margie Ramsey in a big effort to overcome Victor, the 310-pound Canadian Black Bear. Neopolitan hasn't done too well against Victor by himself for the last two weeks so he picked Margie to help him out this time.

Victor and his human opponents will again be inside a wire net so nobody can escape, a situation that may become a problem for the humans.

Marco Polo and Prince Omar tie up in a one hour, two falls to win match to close out the program. Both wrestlers have improved with every match at Roll-Arena and should be evenly matched for their struggle Monday.



THIS IS what the National Football League's Hall of Fame will look like when completed sometime in 1963. This scale model, with a football-shaped dome, is based on the prize-winning architect's sketches selected last summer by the Canton, Ohio Hall of Fame Committee. The NFL yesterday agreed with the local organization that Canton was the logical site. The committee plans to raise funds from local contributions to build the $350,000 structure. (AP Wirephoto)

15-20 IN 87TH AT CHURCHILL DOWNS

Big Derby Field Expected With No Real Standouts

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — With no "take charge" colt scaring away the opposition, it appears that from 15 to 20 horses might go to the post next Saturday in the 87th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

America's greatest thoroughbred racing classic usually has one or more standout horses to go after the major share of the $125,000 added purse and the glory that comes to the winner on the first Saturday in May each year.

Mrs. Jack A. Price's Carry Back, who won Florida's two $100,000 races for Derby age colts -the Flamingo and the Florida Derby-is the 3-1 choice.

But Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster put a dent in Carry Back's hide April 22 when he romped home on top in the $36,250 Wood Memorial a week ago at Aqueduct. Carry Back finished second, 3¾ lengths behind the winner.

Two Canadian - owned colts, Four-and-Twenty and Flutterby, may press Carry Back for the favorite's role when they play play "My Old Kentucky Home" as the field goes to the post at 4:30 p.m., EST.

Four-and-Twenty, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby, won the Forerunner Purse by two lengths April 21 at Keeneland. He is second choice in the Caliente future book at 4-1.

The Derby picture was further mixed up in the $34,300 Blue Grass Stakes Thursday at Keeneland, when Jacob Sher's Sherluck, an 11-1 outsider, beat Flutterby. The margin was 6 lengths.

In addition to Carry Back, Four-and-Twenty, Sherluck, Flutterby and Globemaster, the probable Derby starters include Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise, Harbor View Farm's Garwol, Joseph J. Brunetti's Injun, the Kerr Stable entry of Mr. Consistency and Gay Landing, Wilbur Clark and William Radkovich's Ronnie's Ace, Mrs. V. E. Smith's Bass Clef, Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, Ben Weiner's Orleans Doge, J. Graham Brown's pair of On His Metal and He's a Pistol, the Jacnot Stable's Light Talk and Emil A. Dust's Dearborn.

The last time the Derby had 20 starters was 1951, when Count Turf won. Seventeen started when Needles won in 1956, and the same number two years ago when Tomy Lee beat out both Sword Dancer and a foul claim to gain the winner's horseshoe of red roses.

There will be one more important tuneup, the Derby Trial Stakes at one mile on Tuesday. The probable trial starters include Four-and-Twenty, Crozier, He's a Pistol, and Injun. He's a Pistol is a full brother to Venetian Way, winner of the 1960 Derby. The colt finished second in the Fore-runner Purse.

This again brings up the case of Sherluck, and his big upset in winning the Blue Grass. Sherluck ran in the Flamingo and finished fourth, about 10 lengths behind Carry Back, who won by a head from Crozier.

In the forerunner, Sherluck was fifth, almost nine lengths behind Four-and-Twenty. He's a Pistol, Ronnie's Ace and Crozier were second, third and fourth, respectively. Ronnie's Ace had run second in the Santa Anita Derby, and fifth in the Florida Derby.

Flutterby was third in the Santa Anita race.

Also noteworth is the fact that Mr. Consistency, winner of the California Derby at Golden Gate Fields, could do no better than third in the Blue Grass. Bass Clef, the Louisiana Derby winner and Orleans Doge, who took Laurel's Chesapeake Stakes, were out of the money in the Blue Grass.

To further emphasize the confused 3-year-old picture — Ambiopoise beat Globemaster by 6 lengths in the one mile Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct April 8. Two weeks later, in the 1⅛ mile Wood, Ambiopoise finished third, beaten by about 9 lengths.

No wonder they're all heading for Churchill Downs. The loot will be heavy, for if 20 start in the race to be televised nationally CBS, 4:15-4:45 p.m. EST there will be an all-time record purse.

An owner must put up $250 to enter his horse by 10 a.m. Thursday, and an additional $1,250 to start Saturday. If 20 start, the pot will gross $170,500, the winner taking $128,000. Second place is worth $25,000, with $12,500 to third, and $5,000 for fourth place.

Needles, a Florida-bred just like Carry Back, got away with the biggest Derby purse, a $123,450 haul in 1956.

Johnny Sellers, the nation's leading rider of the moment, will pilot Carry Back. Johnny Longden, winner of the 1943 Derby aboard Count Fleet, is expected to ride Four-and-Twenty, with John L. Rotz on Globemaster, and Bobby Ussery on Ambiopoise.

Three of the nation's top jockeys — all winners of the Derby — may not have a mount unless something hot opens up. Willie Shoemaker rides Crozier, but the colt must prove himself in the Derby Trial. Shoemaker won the Derby with Swaps and Tomy Lee. Eddie Arcaro, winner of five Derbies, is without a mount, as is Bill Hartack. Last year Hartack won aboard Venetian Way. He also scored with Iron Liege in 1957.

The Derby is the first of the Triple Crown classics, to be followed by the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico in Baltimore May 20, and the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes in New York June 3. The last horse to make the triple grand slam was Citation in 1948.

TRIBE HOLDS SEVEN MARKS

Pennel In Busy Day At Relays

BATON ROUGE, La. — Northeast pole vault star John Pennel, who suffered a broken foot bone in early season, was one of the busiest performers at Saturday's LSU Invitational Track Meet.

Pennel, who restricted himself almost totally to vaulting last season, competed in three field events, sharing second in the vault, taking third in the broad jump and finishing out of the money in the javelin.

Pennel's broken foot evidently hasn't hurt his vaulting. The sophomore star made the elite 15-foot vault class early last season with a 15¼ effort, a national record for college freshmen, but broke his favorite pole in the process and cleared 14 feet only once the rest of the year. This campaign, after recovering from his injury, he has cleared 14-7 and gone over the 14-foot mark numerous times.

Jess Fatherree Jr., LSU's record-breaking vaulter, is the son of an ex-LSU football halfback great. Young Fatherree's 14-9 vault in the LSU invitational Saturday was his best of the season. His previous high was 14-6¾, achieved against Tulane in a dual meet last weekend. The track star is a senior but wasn't eligible for competition last campaign.

The LSU invitational record list is top - heavy with Northeast names. Northeast set nine records in 1960 and seven of them still stand after yesterday's meet. Don Eiland bettered his own mile mark Saturday while his other invitational standard, in the two-mile, was shattered by Lamar Tech's Ian Stewwrt.

The Northeast record holders are Hoy Rogers in the discus, Dick Hays in the 440, Dave Styron in the 100 and 220, Don Styron in the high and low hurdles and the foursome of the Styrons, who followed ex-Indian coach Lou Hartzog to Southern Illinois, Hays and Jim Mouser in the mile relay.

LSU is a distant second to Northeast in invitational records with four.

Standout LSU hurdler Dickie Durham did not compete in Saturday's meet. Durham pulled a hamstring muscle during the low hurdles of the Tigers' dual meet with Florida State three weeks ago and hasn't competed since.

Ex-Ruston high football and cinder star Sammy Simonton has taken Durham's place as LSU's premier hurdler, winning the lows here Saturday. Simonton came to LSU on a football scholarship but was injured during his freshman year and has dropped the sport.

Mangham Takes Richland Runs Over Rayville

HOLLY RIDGE, La. (Special) — Mangham dominated the first annual Richland Parish track meet here Friday.

The Dragons collected 94½ points to 71 for second place Rayville. Delhi was third with 62½, followed by Holly Ridge with 47 and Start 23.

IF ETERNAL VIGILANCE PREVAILS

Big Time Basketball Is Worth The Risk Say Tops

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Is big time college basketball worth the risk it involves?

American college administrators asked themselves this question Saturday in the wake of the third major game-fixing scandal in the game's history, the others were in 1945 and 1951.

They came up with this answer:

Yes: But only if eternal vigilance is exercised and if there is adequate legislation to stop the would-be fixers, the gamblers.

Twelve college players from seven institutions have been involved so far in the latest bribery scandal which was unfolded Thursday when the New York County grand jury handed down a 37-count indictment charging corruption and conspiracy against Aaron Wagman.

The district attorney's office said the investigation is being continued and indicated that more names may be mentioned. Wagman prevously had been convicted of attempting to fix a college football game.

But what about the thousands and thousands of players who haven't been touched by the scandals?

Donald (Dudey) Moore, coach at LaSalle in Philadelphia, was quick to say that proved the basic honesty of college athletics. One LaSalle player, Ed Bowler, was named as having taken bribes.

"Something like this reinforces your faith," Moore said. "It makes you think of all the honest ones. Why don't they start naming them?"

Walter Byers, executive secretary of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, added an expression of confidence. Since the basketball scandals of 1951 the NCAA has taken an active part in attempting to discourage gambling and in encouraging its 552 members colleges to take precautionary measures.

"I believe that the general public and the college alumni are not going to be shaken by the transgressions of a relatively few and have sufficient confidence in the integrity of college athletics and the college athletes," Byers said.

The 1951 scandals involved 33 basketball players from seven colleges. In the wake of disclosure of fixes of 83 games in 23 cities, several colleges dropped big time basketball. Others refused to play in the major non-college arenas, including New York's Madison Square Garden. And public confidence was so shaken that for four or five years Garden basketball attendance dwindled far below its 1959 levels.

Indications Saturday were that Philadelphia's Big Five college program at the University of Pennsylvania Palestra might be affected by the recent disclosures of fixing. Seven games at the Palestra were listed in the indictments. Others were at various locations in the East and South.

Jerry Ford, Pennsylvania athletic director, said that the fact the games were at the Palestra "reflects unfavorably on the university." He added that a decision on the future of the doubleheader program depends on whether the trial of the fixers shows that the location had any bearing on the contacts or payoffs.

However, Brother Daniel Bernian, LaSalle president, and Athletic Director Jim Henry said they saw no reason to curtail basketball because of the unfortunate action of a few players. At Philadelphia's St. Joseph's College, which had three players involved, The Rev. Joseph Gieb, moderator of athletics, also indicated there would be no major change in the basketball program.

Since 1951 the NCAA and many of its member conferences have encouraged the passage of state legislation concerning bribery of athletes. The NCAA also has recommended passage of federal laws against attempting to control the outcome of sports events.

There have been recent indications in Washington that such federal legislation may be forthcoming.

The NCAA also has spelled out recommendations to colleges on steps to prevent their players being contacted by gamblers and on requirements to be met if they play games in off-campus arenas.

Another field of current NCAA activity concerns control of the recruiting of athletes. One veteran basketball coach, Glen Rose of Arkansas, called lavish and uncontrolled recruiting one source of trouble.

Said Rose: "If you can buy a player, then someone else can buy him out from under you."

Big Program On Schedule At Roll-Arena

Another big night is in store for wrestling fans tonight at Roll-Arena with three headline matches on tap.

Mr. and Mrs. Wrestling, Al Azaza and Ada Ash, will team up against Margie Ramsey and Tony Neopolitan in a mixed tag-team match to stat things off.

The mixed match will be a one-hour two falls to win battle.

Tony Neopolitan will team with Margie Ramsey in a big effort to overcome Victor, the 310-pound Canadian Black Bear. Neopolitan hasn't done too well against Victor by himself for the last two weeks so he picked Margie to help him out this time.

Victor and his human opponents will again be inside a wire net so nobody can escape, a situation that may become a problem for the humans.

Marco Polo and Prince Omar tie up in a one hour, two falls to win match to close out the program. Both wrestlers have improved with every match at Roll-Arena and should be evenly matched for their struggle Monday.

Bowmen Group To Meet On Monday

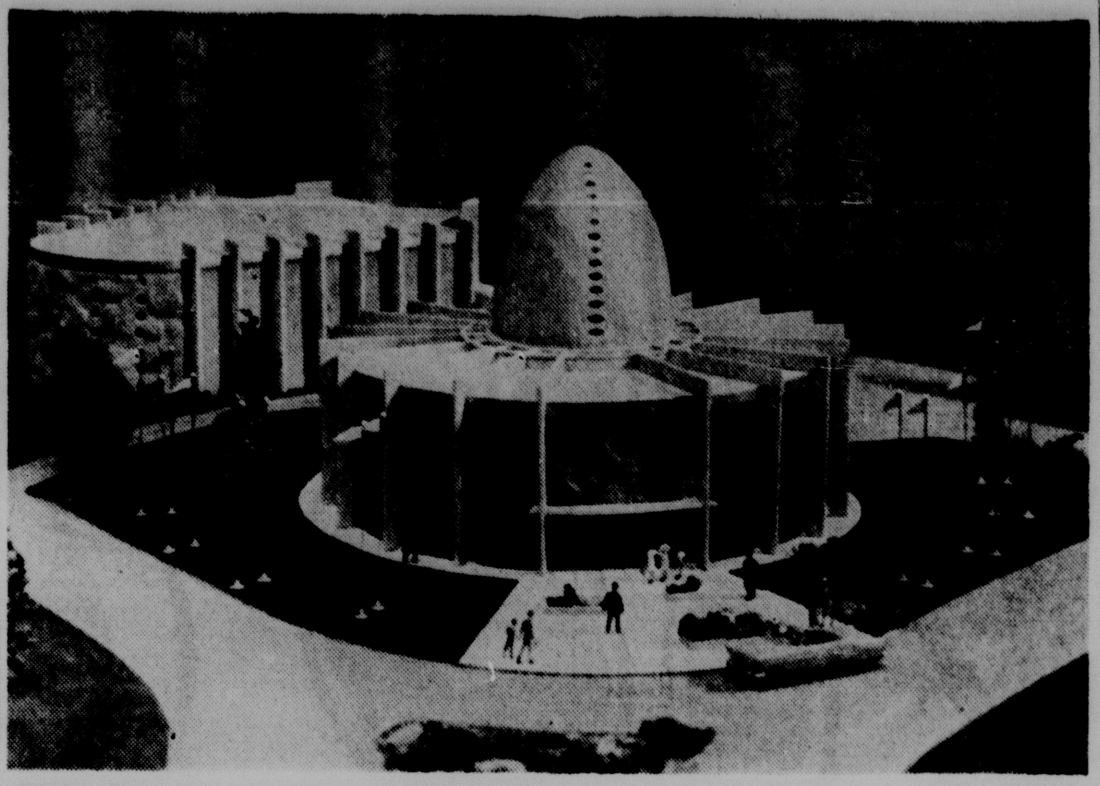
The newly formed Ouachita Bowmen group will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at 113 Catalpa street to adopt a constitution.

A 30 minute movie will be shown on Archery.

J. M. McBeth is president of the organization.

Recruiting Cause?

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Lavish recruiting is blamed by Arkansas basketball Coach Glen Rose for the current fixing scandal.



THIS IS what the National Football League's Hall of Fame will look like when completed sometime in 1963. This scale model, with a football-shaped dome, is based on the prize-winning architect's sketches selected last summer by the Canton, Ohio Hall of Fame Committee. The NFL yesterday agreed with the local organization that Canton was the logical site. The committee plans to raise funds from local contributions to build the $350,000 structure. (AP Wirephoto)

15-20 IN 87TH AT CHURCHILL DOWNS

Big Derby Field Expected With No Real Standouts

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — With no "take charge" colt scaring away the opposition, it appears that from 15 to 20 horses might go to the post next Saturday in the 87th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs.

America's greatest thoroughbred racing classic usually has one or more standout horses to go after the major share of the $125,000 added purse and the glory that comes to the winner on the first Saturday in May each year.

Mrs. Jack A. Price's Carry Back, who won Florida's two $100,000 races for Derby age colts -the Flamingo and the Florida Derby-is the 3-1 choice.

But Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster put a dent in Carry Back's hide April 22 when he romped home on top in the $36,250 Wood Memorial a week ago at Aqueduct. Carry Back finished second, 3¾ lengths behind the winner.

Two Canadian - owned colts, Four-and-Twenty and Flutterby, may press Carry Back for the favorite's role when they play play "My Old Kentucky Home" as the field goes to the post at 4:30 p.m., EST.

Four-and-Twenty, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby, won the Forerunner Purse by two lengths April 21 at Keeneland. He is second choice in the Caliente future book at 4-1.

The Derby picture was further mixed up in the $34,300 Blue Grass Stakes Thursday at Keeneland, when Jacob Sher's Sherluck, an 11-1 outsider, beat Flutterby. The margin was 6 lengths.

In addition to Carry Back, Four-and-Twenty, Sherluck, Flutterby and Globemaster, the probable Derby starters include Robert Lehman's Ambiopoise, Harbor View Farm's Garwol, Joseph J. Brunetti's Injun, the Kerr Stable entry of Mr. Consistency and Gay Landing, Wilbur Clark and William Radkovich's Ronnie's Ace, Mrs. V. E. Smith's Bass Clef, Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, Ben Weiner's Orleans Doge, J. Graham Brown's pair of On His Metal and He's a Pistol, the Jacnot Stable's Light Talk and Emil A. Dust's Dearborn.

The last time the Derby had 20 starters was 1951, when Count Turf won. Seventeen started when Needles won in 1956, and the same number two years ago when Tomy Lee beat out both Sword Dancer and a foul claim to gain the winner's horseshoe of red roses.

There will be one more important tuneup, the Derby Trial Stakes at one mile on Tuesday. The probable trial starters include Four-and-Twenty, Crozier, He's a Pistol, and Injun. He's a Pistol is a full brother to Venetian Way, winner of the 1960 Derby. The colt finished second in the Fore-runner Purse.

This again brings up the case of Sherluck, and his big upset in winning the Blue Grass. Sherluck ran in the Flamingo and finished fourth, about 10 lengths behind Carry Back, who won by a head from Crozier.

In the forerunner, Sherluck was fifth, almost nine lengths behind Four-and-Twenty. He's a Pistol, Ronnie's Ace and Crozier were second, third and fourth, respectively. Ronnie's Ace had run second in the Santa Anita Derby, and fifth in the Florida Derby.

Flutterby was third in the Santa Anita race.

Also noteworth is the fact that Mr. Consistency, winner of the California Derby at Golden Gate Fields, could do no better than third in the Blue Grass. Bass Clef, the Louisiana Derby winner, and Orleans Doge, who took Laurel's Chesapeake Stakes, were out of the money in the Blue Grass.

To further emphasize the confused 3-year-old picture — Ambiopoise beat Globemaster by 6 lengths in the one mile Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct April 8. Two weeks later, in the 1⅛ mile Wood, Ambiopoise finished third, beaten by about 9 lengths.

No wonder they're all heading for Churchill Downs. The loot will be heavy, for if 20 start in the race to be televised nationally CBS, 4:15-4:45 p.m. EST there will be an all-time record purse.

An owner must put up $250 to enter his horse by 10 a.m. Thursday, and an additional $1,250 to start Saturday. If 20 start, the pot will gross $170,500, the winner taking $128,000. Second place is worth $25,000, with $12,500 to third, and $5,000 for fourth place.

Needles, a Florida-bred just like Carry Back, got away with the biggest Derby purse, a $123,450 haul in 1956.

Johnny Sellers, the nation's leading rider of the moment, will pilot Carry Back. Johnny Longden, winner of the 1943 Derby aboard Count Fleet, is expected to ride Four-and-Twenty, with John L. Rotz on Globemaster, and Bobby Ussery on Ambiopoise.

Three of the nation's top jockeys — all winners of the Derby — may not have a mount unless something hot opens up. Willie Shoemaker rides Crozier, but the colt must prove himself in the Derby Trial. Shoemaker won the Derby with Swaps and Tomy Lee. Eddie Arcaro, winner of five Derbies, is without a mount, as is Bill Hartack. Last year Hartack won aboard Venetian Way. He also scored with Iron Liege in 1957.

The Derby is the first of the Triple Crown classics, to be followed by the $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico in Baltimore May 20, and the $125,000-added Belmont Stakes in New York June 3. The last horse to make the triple grand slam was Citation in 1948.

Rayville Hosts St. Francis For Semi-Finals

RAYVILLE, La. (Special) — Rayville will play St. Francis of Houma here Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. for the Class A baseball semi-final.

Admission will be 75 and 25 cents.

St. Francis advanced to the semi-finals by defeating University High of Baton Rouge. Rayville is 7-3 for the season.

TRIBE HOLDS SEVEN MARKS

Pennel In Busy Day At Relays

BATON ROUGE, La. — Northeast pole vault star John Pennel, who suffered a broken foot bone in early season, was one of the busiest performers at Saturday's LSU Invitational Track Meet.

Pennel, who restricted himself almost totally to vaulting last season, competed in three field events, sharing second in the vault, taking third in the broad jump and finishing out of the money in the javelin.

Pennel's broken foot evidently hasn't hurt his vaulting. The sophomore star made the elite 15-foot vault class early last season with a 15¼ effort, a national record for college freshmen, but broke his favorite pole in the process and cleared 14 feet only once the rest of the year. This campaign, after recovering from his injury, he has cleared 14-7 and gone over the 14-foot mark numerous times.

Jess Fatherree Jr., LSU's record-breaking vaulter, is the son of an ex-LSU football halfback great. Young Fatherree's 14-9 vault in the LSU invitational Saturday was his best of the season. His previous high was 14-6¾, achieved against Tulane in a dual meet last weekend. The track star is a senior but wasn't eligible for competition last campaign.

The LSU invitational record list is top - heavy with Northeast names. Northeast set nine records in 1960 and seven of them still stand after yesterday's meet. Don Eiland bettered his own mile mark Saturday while his other invitational standard, in the two-mile, was shattered by Lamar Tech's Ian Stewwrt.

The Northeast record holders are Hoy Rogers in the discus, Dick Hays in the 440, Dave Styron in the 100 and 220, Don Styron in the high and low hurdles and the foursome of the Styrons, who followed ex-Indian coach Lou Hartzog to Southern Illinois, Hays and Jim Mouser in the mile relay.

LSU is a distant second to Northeast in invitational records with four.

Standout LSU hurdler Dickie Durham did not compete in Saturday's meet. Durham pulled a hamstring muscle during the low hurdles of the Tigers' dual meet with Florida State three weeks ago and hasn't competed since.

Ex-Ruston high football and cinder star Sammy Simonton has taken Durham's place as LSU's premier hurdler, winning the lows here Saturday. Simonton came to LSU on a football scholarship but was injured during his freshman year and has dropped the sport.

Mangham Takes Richland Runs Over Rayville

HOLLY RIDGE, La. (Special) — Mangham dominated the first annual Richland Parish track meet here Friday.

The Dragons collected 94½ points to 71 for second place Rayville. Delhi was third with 62½, followed by Holly Ridge with 47 and Start 23.

Ridge Baptist Set To Observe An Anniversary

Ridge Avenue Baptist Church will observe the 21st anniversary of its beginning as a mission church today with a picnic dinner and homecoming day.

The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor, said "Twenty-one years ago this April a little tin top open tabernacle was built in one day to begin the work where now a beautiful streamlined, modern sanctuary is being constructed that when completed with balcony that will seat a thousand people."

Aside from the original property, the church had in the beginning three residences and land had been purchased adjoining the church property. An acre of land back of the buildings has also been purchased to meet needs for future expansion.

The pastor pointed out that "Nice comfortable, air conditioned buildings have not been the greatest contribution this church has made, but the many fine dedicated youth called into special service now in the Master's service beginning in West Monroe and on out across the nation into foreign lands."

Developing from this church have been 15 ministers, two missionaries and four gospel singers, the pastor said.

The Rev. Mitchell also explained that his church has assisted and encouraged "the organization of other churches in our area, the civic, educational and umanitarian movements."

MANY BENEFITS

Improve Lighting On Remodeling

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) —If home improvement is on your current budget, don't overlook lighting in your plans.

Up-dating home lighting brings multiple benefits—increased efficiency, safety and improved appearance, all contributing to the value of the home1

Drab dining rooms can be transformed. Or a coffee table can update a living room by 10 years. A new an·dlarger fixture in the kitchen, along with under - cabinet lighting, can inject a totally new atmosphere. The appearance of bathroom fixtures and decor can be improved with proper lighting. Outdoor living areas can be highlighted and made more useful.

The American Home Lighting Institute estimates, as a rule of thumb, the total cost of fixtures for complete re-lighting of the average 1,200-square-foot home at around $200.

Individual projects, of course, vary with the extent of work involved, type of fixture chosen and whether it is a job for professional or do-it-yourself labor.

The institute in its fact book on home fixture lighting, cautions inexperienced homeowners against outlet installation but lists as do-it-yourself projects the replacement of old fixtures, installation of fixture over a capped outlet, or mounting a fixture which plugs into a convenience outlet.

Many fixtures are available today which require no special outlet. Some wall fixtures have cords that can be run tautly to a wall outlet immediately below. A few ceiling fixtures have cords which run along a chain and disappear behind a drapery, dropping from there to floor level where they are plugged into a wall outlet.

Installation of new outlets in most existing homes can be done without mess and at reasonable cost (a range of around $15 to $30 for a fixture outlet with wall switch depending on local labor rates and the amount of work done at one time).

The institute stresses the need for at least one permanent light in every room with switch control at the entrance as an essential safety measure. In many homes, wall switches have been wired into baseboard outlets to eliminate installed fixtures. In theory, portable lamps are plugged into the outlet and turned on and off at the wall switch. In practice, however, the institute says, these wall switches are nearly always left in the on position and lighting units connected with them turned on and off individually.

In planning a lighting project, the institute recommends that the homeowner obtain, provessional advice, available usually, at no cost, from sources such as the local electric service company, electrical distributor or contractor.

Flower Beauty For Longer Periods Can Be Achieved Easy

Continuous flowering beauty can be achieved by home owners by changing the plants in their garden or patio living area to supply steady bloom most of the year. By having several small gardens or a half dozen tubs in which plants are changed often, the whole property can be made brighter and more cheerful for longer periods.

There are innumerable combinations of plants to afford new flower scenes. Pots or tubs of plants changed often keep the whole property fresher and more colorful, without entailing great expense because the plants are changed only in small areas rather than over the whole property. In tubs, many plants that are extremely beautiful but difficult to grow because of adverse local soil conditions, can easily be maintained.

One of the most gala events of the Spring season was held last Saturday night when members of Cotillion club entertained with their annual formal dance. The party was held in the Paragon ballroom, with music by the Dukes from nine until one a.m.

An Hawaiian motif was carried out in decorations, with candles, leis, and hibiscus on each table. An Oriental screen was placed behind the bandstand, which was banked with lush greenery and hibiscus. The musicians, each of whom was wearing a flower lei, stood beneath a fishnet caught with seashells. At one side was placed a three - tiered fountain in which floated roses and water lilies.

Opposite the bandstand was a buffet table, from which hors d'oeuvres were served throughout the evening. A lavish arrangement of pineapple, grapes, and bananas centered the table.

Among the dancing dresses, we noted LOLLY NEEL's pale yellow cotton chiffon with cummerbund and full, full skirt . . . and EILEEN RUBEN's pink and blue printed polished cotton with white organdy overskirt . . . With a sheath of aqua peau de soie and lace, HELEN LEWIS wore a matching stole . . . BARBARA RIVERS chose white silk, printed in blue, styled with a tippled train skirt . . . Intricate draping distinguished NANINE BELL'S rose net and organza . . . LINDA DANSBY chose moss green peau de soie, fashioned with very full skirt and a green velvet rose placed at the portrait neckline . . . Pink roses encircled the full skirt of ROSEANNE FRAZIER'S white dress.

Preceding the dance, the BUDDY BODRONS entertained friends by their home. Laverne was wearing white organza with white flowers brocaded into the skirt. An arrangement of English dogwood centered the table where hot hors d'oeuvres were served to ten couples who attended.

ADELE RANSOM celebrated the Spring season by inviting both her bridge clubs for a day at Ransom's camp. Four tables of players enjoyed the games on the wide screened porch. At noon, Adele served a country dinner of fried chicken, hot biscuits, tomato aspic, and homemade chocolate cake. Prizewinners at bridge were JEAN HUENEFELD, high, and HUGH TOUCHSTONE, travelling prize.

Members of Bayou DeSiard country club are looking forward to this coming Saturday, and the second annual DERBY DAY party. The affair is to begin at 2 p.m. with local races scheduled to precede and follow viewing of the Kentucky Derby on television. Buffet supper is planned for 6:30 p.m.

When the JOE MICKEYS entertained at dinner last Saturday night, flowers from Elaine's new garden were used to advantage in decorating. Pink and red anemone were placed in the living room; and in the den, a massive arrangement of pale pink Floribunda roses. Sweet William centered individual tables in the dining room. Small vases of anemone flanked silver candlesticks on the buffet. Prime ribs of beef, new potatoes, green beans with bacon and onions, and homemade rolls were served to fourteen guests. Dessert was cheesecake and coffee.

THIS COMING FRIDAY is the date set for the annual Silver Tea of the Junior Charity League. JEAN DICKENHORSTS' lovely new home at 2778 Point Drive will be the scene of party, from three until six Friday afternoon. All club women in the Twin City area are invited to this affair.

Saturday night the D. F. BURKHALTERS were hosts at dinner honoring MARY LYNN and JOE BERRY THOMAS. The table in Bayou DeSiard country club's private dining room was centered with a silver bowl filled with white roses and blue Dutch iris. Silver compotes held more white roses at each end. There were fifteen guests for the family party, including MR. and MRS. M. K. SCOGIN of Natchez.

At the Woods ranch this weekend are the WAYNE WOODS and their children, STACEY, SHAWN, and SHARON, and the JIM RIVERS and CYNDY, CHELLE, STEPHANIE, and JAY STEPHEN.

On his seventh birthday last Thursday, MARTIN M'HENRY was honored with a skating party. HARLAN SAGER and BETHIA BROWN were winners at Stop - the - Music games. Doughnuts and soft drinks were served to thirty - five children who attended.

This week your reporter had the opportunity to visit the new home of SHARRON and FRANK BONNER, located on Pargoud Boulevard. This is a delightful two - story house of red brick, with columned galleries on both street and bayou elevations. The white columns, black - green shutters at the windows, and fan - lighted front door set the traditional mood as one enters.

White walls and sheer white curtains are the background for fruitwood French provincial furniture in the living room. Above the sofa hang four steel engravings, framed with blue velvet mats. Dining room furniture is of walnut, with a crystal chandelier above the table. White - on - white flocked wallpaper surmounts white wainscoting.

Brick flooring is used in the kitchen and breakfast rooms. Cabinets are of oak with a fruitwood finish, with matching appliances built into the counters. A short hall leads from the kitchen to the bayou entrance with its dressing room and bath for swimmers.

The family room connects with breakfast room, entrance hall, and living room with folding doors. An expanse of sliding, small - paned panels of glass open onto the back gallery, complete with rocking chairs. Random width walnut panelling in the family room conceals television and stereo equipment.

Upstairs is LATINA'S room, with blue carpeting, white draw draperies, and a white throw rug. White coverlets printed with blue flowers are used on her white wicker beds. Latina's bath, with blue and white striped wallpaper, connects with the all - white guest room.

Across the hall is a three-room suite for guests. The bedroom, with brass bed and needletuft spread, connects by folding doors with a sitting room at the back of the house. Sofa and pair of chairs slipcovered in a blue and gold print offer guests a breathtaking view of the water.

This week in Stratford - on - Avon, lovers of poetry and the theatre celebrated the 397th anniversary of the birth of William Shakespeare. In the Bard's honor, we quote one of his lyrics, a song from "Much Ado About Nothing":

Sigh no more, ladies, sigh no more;
Men were deceivers ever,
One foot in sea and one on shore,
To one thing constant never:
Then sigh not so, but let them go,
And be you blithe and bonny,
Converting all your sounds of woe
Into Hey nonny, nonny!
Sing no more ditties, sing no more
Of dumps so dull and heavy
The fraud of men was ever so,
Since summer first was leafy:
Then sigh not so, but let them go,
And be you blithe and bonny,
Converting all your sounds of woe
Into Hey nonny, nonny!

Sterlington Group Pushes Incorporation

A boundary committee, formed last week to study possible boundary locations should Sterlington be formally incorporated as a town, will report to a meeting of the citizens' committee promoting the move at a meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the high school, according to C. G. Drennan, one of the leaders in the movement.

Drennan said last night that enthusiasm for the incorporation is "running high."

The group met last Tuesday night and held preliminary discussions concerning the action. The move got underway after three stores in Sterlington were looted last Friday night.

The mass burglary last week was the second burglary recently at Sterlington.

Drennan said last night that the boundary committee will outline the probable town limits Monday. He also said that about 1,000 persons would be included in the incorporation if it goes through.

The group's attorney, along with Louisiana Power and Light officials, will attend the meeting Monday. Last week, state Reps. Mike John and Lawrence Gibbs attended.

VOWS UNITING Miss Gearldean Barham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Barham, Monroe and Dan Denton, son of Mrs. W. C. Denton of Summerfield, were solemnized Friday, April 28. The bride is a student at Ouachita High school. Mr. Denton, a graduate of Summerfield high school, attended Northeast Louisiana State college and is now employed in Monroe.

Barkdull Faulk PTA Elects, Hears Speaker

"Effects of Mass Media on Youth" was the topic discussed by Mrs. George Pomeroy at the Barkdull Faulk P. T. A. meeting. Facts gathered by Mrs. Pomeroy from her trip to the White House conference on children and youth provided basis for her discussion.

Mrs. Pomeroy analyzed the effect of books, newspapers, radio, movie, and television on children.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. Harry Greenwood during which Mrs. Jack Kimball, chairman read the report of the nominating committee and officers were elected. They are Mrs. W. H. Durham, president; Mrs. Robert Thompson, vice president; Mrs. Harry Greenwood, second vice-president; Mrs. George French, secretary; Mrs. Sam Brinson, treasurer and Mrs. Jack Kimball, historian.

Van Odom, school superintendent, spoke on the proposed bond issue and plans were discussed for a tea May 6 to honor two faculty members, Miss May Coker and Mrs. Mary McMurphy, who are retiring.

A social hour was held in the school library following the meeting.

Vows Unite Dianne Riffe, Mr. Runyon

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery, and branched candelabra holding tall lighted tapers formed a setting for the wedding of Miss Dianne Riffe and Jerry Wayne Runyon, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Riffe and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Runyon, all of Jonesboro.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Warren Newsom, pastor, in the Southside Baptist church of Jonesboro on Saturday, April 15 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Ben Spear, organist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Miss Sheila McElroy of Winnfield, as she sang "I Love You Truly," and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length gown of white flock dot nylon over taffeta. The bodice featured a scoop neckline, elbow length full sleeves and a white satin cummerbund and sash defined the full skirt. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion fell from a white satin bandeau and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, showered with satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Maid of honor was Miss Jolene Hogg of Jonesboro, who wore a street length frock of pale green silk organza, styled with scoop neckline, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt. She wore a white flower headband and a white carnation corsage. Bridesmaids were Miss Janis Land of Campti and Miss Myrle Moore of Goldonna. Their gowns of pink silk organza were fashioned identical to the honor attendant's, as were their headbands and corsages.

Judy Walker and Connie Riffe, cousin and sister of the bride, were candelighters and were dressed identical to the bridesmaids. Vicky Runyon, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a light orchid dress of silk organza.

John Sidney Davis served as best man and groomsmen - ushers were Charles Ray Spangler of Jonesboro; Dale Jones, Shreveport; and LeRoy Conville of Hodge. Ring bearer was Tony Davis.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Riffe wore a blue pure silk frock with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a tan pure silk model with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

At a reception which followed in the church parlor, Miss Alice Barnes presided at the guest book. Baskets of gladioli were placed near the reception table, which was covered with a cutwork cloth and centered with a bowl of pink rosebuds. The three-tiered wedding cake was served by Miss Dean Walker while at opposite end of the table Miss Pat Hogg and Miss Glenda Hester alternated at the crystal punch bowl.

After a brief wedding trip the couple is at home in Jonesboro.

Couple Sets May 11 Vows

The approaching marriage of Miss Mary Sue Young to John Stephenson is announced today.

The couple will exchange wedding vows on May 11 at the Corinth Baptist church near Dubach, with the Rev. Forrest Post officiating.

Great Shape

The VW Station Wagon comfortably seats nine adults. With plenty of leg room and plenty of elbow room and plenty of room for everyone's bag and baggage.

It really makes sense because it doesn't waste an inch of space. The boxy shape, for instance, gives you more usable space. (There's 170 cubic feet inside, compared with a conventional wagon's 105.)

It's only 14 feet from bumper to bumper, too. (That's a good 4 feet shorter than most conventional wagons.) You can actually slip into a parking spot that a Volkswagen Sedan just pulled out of.

No matter what kind of shape you're in now, we suggest you come in and see the VW Station Wagon. (And find out for yourself what makes it so great!)

Crosley P.-T. A. went on record as being against federal aid to public education by voting 'no' to resolution number five as sent from the state office. Rejection was based on the fact that not enough funds are available for the school program as it exists today.

Mrs. P. L. Crowell's fifth grade entertained with song selections and folk dances, and during the business session Mrs. G. C. Bedenbender, Mrs. Jack Noble and Mrs. Johnny Green were appointed to the auditing committee.

MISS HELEN FIELDER

Miss Sandlin, Mr. Pezant United At Nuptial Mass

Nuptial Mass solemnized at 10 a. m. Saturday, April 22 in St. Paschal's Church united in marriage Miss Mary Letha Sandlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy K. Sandlin, West Monroe, and Edwin Joseph Pezant, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Pezant of Sorrento, La.

Father Jordan Schell officiated at the double ring ceremony, following a program of nuptial music by the organist, Sister Clotilda. Selections included Ava Maria, Panus Angelicus and On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother.

Bouquets of white gladioli adorned the main altar, with baskets of white stock placed at either side.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of white lace over satin, styled with scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves. Self covered buttons enclosed the back bodice and were repeated on the sleeves. Her fingertip veil of white tulle was attached to a pearl-encrusted crown and she carried a bouquet of white carnations on a bride's prayer book.

Miss Shirley Jolissaint, West Monroe, was maid of honor and wore a waltz length gown of turquoise chiffon, styled with fitted bodice and full skirt. Her shoes and headdress matched her gown and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Serving as best man was Errol Lassaigni and ushers were Guy Thomas and Pat Frauchеau.

Mrs. Sandlin, mother of the bride, wore a dress of navy blue with white accessories and a pink corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a frock of pink lace over satin with pink accessories and a blue corsage.

Following Nuptial Mass a reception was held in the new St. Paschal's school cafeteria.

Floral arrangement of pink and white stock centered the white linen covered bride's table, with the tiered wedding cake and pink punch served from opposite ends.

For a short wedding trip the bride changed to a pink and white spring ensemble with a corsage of carnations from her bouquet. Upon their return the couple will be at home at 202 Downey Lane in Monroe.

Mrs. Pezant attended St. Paschal's and was graduated from St. Matthews. She is presently employed in Monroe. A graduate of St. Amant in Sorrento, Mr. Pezant attended Louisiana State University for three years and is now enrolled in the School of Pharmacy at Northeast.

Out - of - town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Lambert of Baton Rouge; Mrs. Bobby Lambert, Randy Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. David Pezant and Mrs. Eelva Lambert, all of Sorrento.

Creative

More and more homemakers are enjoying the creative satisfaction of working with ceramic tile. This age - old craft art has acquired a new, important place in the modern decorative arts. Ceramic mosaic tops for coffee tables, end tables, lamp tables and a variety of other pieces are being used in the home. Besides its beauty the practical advantages are important.

Joint Services Ask Blessing On New Snow Crops

The Episcopal Churches of Monroe and West Monroe are joining together May 7th for the observance of Rogation Sunday.

Church officials explained that, "On this day in spring, christian peoples are called on to ask God's blessings upon newly sown crops. The christian festival of the harvest — Thanksgiving — is prominent in the American scene. As we have been taught to thank, so also we have been taught to ask. Rogation Sunday is Asking Sunday."

EMPHASIS

To emphasize the necessity of seeking God's help for the prospering of the crops, the Episcopal churches of the Twin Cities will join together in the corporate act of asking. The services will be held next Sunday at 11:30 a.m., when churchmen from St. Alban's Church, Grace Church, St. Patrick's Church, and St. Thomas' Church will assemble on the new grounds of St. Alban's Church to offer the Holy Eucharist and ask God's blessings upon the crops of the world, especially those of the immediate area.

Prayers will be offered also for the prospering of an experimental project being conducted by the Episcopal Brotherhood of St. Andrew in Japan, which is concerned with the improvement of the lot of rural residents of Japan.

Following services there will be a "pot luck picnic" on the grounds. Families will bring picnic dishes to be shared with others, and games will be organized for the youngsters.

Youth Revival Closes Today

The youth led revival in the First Baptist Church, Collinston, will come to a close at this evening's service. All the offices of the church are being filled by the young people of the congregation.

The Rev. Charles B. Littleton, pastor, of the Central Church, Monroe, is doing the preaching and the solo work. Miss Patsy Perry is in charge of the song service, with Miss Jacque Roberts at the piano.

Rev. H. L. Driskell is pastor.

Helen Fielder Is Dream Girl Of Pi Kappa Alpha

Selection of Miss Helen Fielder as Dream Girl of Pi Kappa Alpha for 1961 highlighted the fraternity,s annual Black and White Spring formal held Saturday, April 22 at Louisiana Tech in Ruston.

Coronation of Miss Fielder, a sophomore from Ruston, was held during intermission. She was crowned by Tech Chapter president, Frank Smith, who presented her a tiara and an arm bouquet of roses in addition to the Pi Kappa Alpha pin.

A "Louisiana Swamp Theme," was carried out at the ball, with life size cypress trees placed around the room and Spanish moss providing a canopy overhead. Outstanding in the decor was a 20-foot bridge erected over a stream from which dry ice simulated fog. Artificial frog ponds completed the setting.

The Playboys from Louisiana State University provided music for dancing. Between 300 and 400 attended the dance and intermission party held in the garden at the home of President Ropp.

Parish Speech Therapist Talks At PTA Meet

Louis George, parish speech therapist, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Shady Grove P.-T. A. held Thursday, April 20 at the school.

Mrs. Sophie Frasier, program chairman, introduced Mr. George, who gave an informative talk, explaining services offered to the child with a speech or hearing defect. He also demonstrated the audiometer and tape recorder and explained the use of individual picture notebooks for practice in producing correct sounds. He pointed out many children have been helped to lead a full happy life through this program.

Mrs. Dan Ryals presided over the business session during which reports were made by standing committees and the nominating committee announced nominations for next year's officers.

Refreshments were served during a social hour following the meeting. Room count was won by Mrs. Opal Sample's second grade.

'Family Week' Observance Set By Church Here

National Family Week will be observed by the First Methodist Church of Monroe, starting today and extending through May 7th.

Starting the observance will be a family fellowship supper this evening at 5:15 on the roof of the Virginia Hotel.

On two evenings during this week there will be discussion group sessions which will be open to the public. They will be held in the Education Building of the church.

On Tuesday evening the discussion will deal with "How Goes Your Marriage?" Judge Mack Barham will speak on "Marriage is What You Make It." Ethel Trice will speak on "Basic Human Relation in Family Living," and Mrs. W. J. Veazey will discuss "Split Level Family (Children - Parents - Grandparents)."

The Thursday evening discussion will center around the theme, "Sex and Marriage Adjustment." Dr. Edward G. Long will speak on "Sex and its Relations to Life Fulfillment." Dr. Fred Marx will discuss, "The Importance of Sex Education of Children," and Dr. George Pomeroy will talk on "Sex and Religion."

Happy Munch

NEW YORK (UPI) — A new candy - crunch confection tastes like a combination popcorn ball and pecan - almond praline. It's the invention of a Detroit, Mich., businessman who carried popcorn to munch during long - distance drives. To create a more nourishing product, he added nuts, butter and sugar glaze. Available nationally in 1 pound "tubs."

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: Our minister is starting a series of sermons on the Book of Revelation. We have already noticed tremendous interest in the community in this subject. Don't you think there needs to be more preaching from the Book of Revelation? W.F.

ANSWER: Yes, I most certainly do, though I confess that until recently I had preached very little from this important book.

The Book of Revelation indicates that God has a plan for the ages which is to sum up all things in Christ to make Him head over all things. He is to become King of kings and Lord of lords, and to make the kingdoms of this world the kingdoms of our Lord and His Christ. That is God's program. "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth, as it is done in heaven; For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory forever." Thus even in the Lord's prayer you have God's plan of the ages.

It is because the Church of Christ has a most vital and important part to play in the execution and carrying out of this plan that the Book of Revelation was written primarily to the Church.

The glorious thing the Book of Revelation teaches is that God's plan will ultimately triumph over conflict, struggle, antagonism, battle, war — but when the smoke of conflict has been blown away, we see Christ and the forces of righteousness triumph.

Guest Arranger Gives Program At Garden Club

Mrs. John McCarter entertained members of the Bayou DeSiard Garden Club at the monthly meeting Friday in her home on College Avenue. Mrs. John Harris was co-hostess.

Japanese arrangements created by members of the club were used as decorations throughout the home. Central decor for the coffee table was an arrangement of native iris.

Guest speaker and arranger for the afternoon was Dr. John Wright from Louisiana Tech faculty. Dr. Wright was accompanied by another guest, Lafayette Ruffin.

Members present for the occasion were Mrs. P. N. Edwards, Mrs. Marcus Mapp, Mrs. H. L. Tolson, Mrs. R. D. Farr, Mrs. R. T. Farr, Mrs. James Kelley, Mrs. E. J. Foster, Mrs. Jack Rushing, Mrs. C. Gillette, Mrs. John Luffey, Mrs. James Padgett, Mrs. Alfred Ware, Mrs. Carl Walker, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Harry Graham, Mrs. Carl Davis and Mrs. Lucien A. Branch. Guests were Mrs. Harold Lary, Mrs. Frank Welder and Mrs. McCarter's mother, Mrs. A. G. Hornsby of Ruston.

Tech Chapter Of Sigma Kappa Marks Birthday

Beta Epsilon chapter of Sigma Kappa sorority at Louisiana Tech celebrated the 21st birthday of the organization on the campus in Ruston last weekend.

The gala event was commemorated with the traditional "Deep Purple Ball," which was preceded by a reception at Toma Lodge. Refreshments were served on the patio by Miss Frances Fletcher, faculty advisor and Mrs. Evelyn James.

The ballroom was decorated to resemble an oriental garden, with Japanese lanterns, gilded branches, white flowers, brightly colored butterflies and Chinese umbrellas around the walls. The stage was transformed into a Chinese pagoda, for the band stand, and at the entrance was a miniature pool in which floated candles.

Honored guests were recognized by Miss Ray Ellen Reese, who also presented a gift to the advisor, Dr. Frances Fletcher. It was announced that Miss Pat Newman was chosen Sigma for the year, by secret ballot as the most representative of the social, intellectual and spiritual ideals of the group.

Refreshments were served and during intermission members presented their escorts with study lamps.

Officers of the chapter are Miss Ray Ellen Reese of Ruston, president; Miss Mary Alice Thomas, Oak Grove, vice-president; Ann Burford, Springhill, second vice-president; Toni Toland, Smackover, Ark., recording secretary; Sue Voss, Springhill, corresponding secretary; Susan Stanfield, Shreveport, treasurer; Lynda Lyles, Shreveport, Panhellenic president; Sandra Sims, Shreveport, rush chairman; Mary Katherine Shadow, Bossier City, corresponding secretary to the Triangle; Linda Loper, Shreveport, social chairman; Laura MacMillan, Shreveport, historian.

Miss Thomas was also named president of the Associated Women student sand Miss Lynda Lyles is Panhellenic president. Lagniappe beauty is Miss Ann MacMillan.

Other events scheduled prior to end of the school year are Greek Week festivities, the annual picnic and the senior breakfast.

Locust Bloom Spectacular

By MILDRED SWIFT

The black locust in bloom is so spectacular it tempts us to plant one in our garden. This tree only blooms for about two weeks. It grows about 15 feet tall and has a 10 foot spread. The pea shaped flowers are eggshell white, very fragrant and extend the entire length of the branches.

The flowers look a lot like the white wisteria. The tree grows with little care, thriving in most any soil. It is hard to cold and not bothered by diseases or insects.

Unless you have a large acreage, don't plant this tree. It self seeds so you'll find seedlings coming up all over the garden. It is greedy, sapping food from other plants. Such a seedling came up in the middle of one of my healthiest bridal wreaths. By the time we got around to taking it out, it had grown quite large. It was necessary to dig up the bridal wreath to get the locust.

Yet, we do enjoy the bloom of the locust and the perfumed air. We have a large place and can accomodate the plant. Yet, there have been times when I wish they had never been planted!

ST. AUGUSTINE

The chinch bug becomes active when the St. Augustine starts its growth. For many years we felt this was the ideal grass, but after the ravages of the chinch bug, St. Augustine has lost some of its glamour.

But, we continue to grow it even though we have to spray after every rain, so why not just be resigned to the fact that we'll need two sprays a year on St. Augustine, because the entomologists tell us we'll surely have the chinch bug, sooner or later.

EVIDENCE

The first visual evidence of chinch bugs in St. Augustine is a browning of the plants as though they were dying in patches. There are other agents that bring about results that appear identical with chinch bug damage. So, if you should know what you're fighting, treatment to correct the one won't have the slightest effect on the others.

TESTING

[illegible] for "chinch bug" [illegible] method suggested [illegible] LSU Agricultural Extension specialists.

First dig a core of sod from the lawn at the edge of the damaged area and six inches in diameter. This should be emmerged in a pail of water. If chinch bugs are there, they will come to the surface of the water.

A second method is to take a large can, cut both ends out, and with a hammer, drive it into the soil part way. It must be driven into the soil, not merely rested on top. Then pour water into this can and if chinch bugs are present, again, they will come to the surface.

Chinch bugs are quite small and dark in color, about one - eighth inch long. The immature ones have a white strip across their backs and are wingless. The mature ones are winged and come in two forms, some with long wings, some with short wings, but in either case, the wings have white tips. The winged ones can fly, the immature ones crawl.

TREATMENT

St. Augustine is a fast growing grass, especially when the season is wet. Under such conditions, the replacement of damaged grass by the new growth is fairly well able to maintain itself.

But, when a dry spell comes, rate of growth is cut down and the chinch bug causes large unsightly dead areas in the lawn.

Two treatments are recommended, diazinon or DDT. In either case, the insecticide should be washed in thoroughly so that it gets to the base of the plants, not just on the surface. The insects do their feeding at the bases of the plants.

Specialists recommend treatment now and another one in three months. They feel that should take care of your lawn for the season.

They also recommend treating entire lawn, not just the affected areas. You really don't know how far the bug has spread. Even if they haven't gotten to other areas, if the poison is there awaiting their arrival, they'll be killed as soon as they start feeding and before they leave any damage.

A spray gun that can be attached to your hose is the easiest way to put out the poison.

OTHER

Browning in St. Augustine can be caused by leaf spot. It makes its appearance as irregular brown spots on the leaves, which die, and then the runners beneath them died.

This condition is most likely to appear in the middle of the summer and in shady damp spots. One way to distinguish this is that the damage appears a very dark brown in color as compared with a much lighter brown which the chinch bug and brown patch leave.

The treatment for leaf spot is tribasic copper sulphate.

Brown patch is a fungus disease. It is most likely to appear about the end of May, in late September or early October. It is not active during the summer months, but it could be active very soon. It is recognized by an almost perfectly round damage spot. The treatment is terrachlor.

The exact amount for the various treatments depend on several things. Consult the garden supply manager for this information, when you buy.

The specialists usually recommend DDT in preference to diazinon for two reasons. First, diazinon is more expensive and second, its affect is not as long lasting.

Diazinon is effective for from four to six weeks, and DDT is good for up to three months and generally will give effective control with only two treatments a year.

WATCH

If you had chinch bugs last year, you're just about certain to have them again this year. If you didn't, keep an alert eye for them and be ready for treatment at the first sign.

Or maybe you'd just like to spray anyhow as sort of an insurance program.

New Stamps Commemorate 'Africa Day'

To commemorate "Africa Day," the third anniversary of a meeting of African leaders to discuss common problems, several African nations will be issuing special postage stamps this year.

Tunisia's set consists of four stamps each bearing an allegorical design within an outline map of the African continent. The designs of this series were selected by a contest of African artists.

Ghana's set has three stamps — drums in the foreground, a map of Africa with 25 stars indicating the independent states of Africa, and a map of Africa surrounded by the flags of the original eight independent states when Africa Day was instituted.

Ireland will issue a special stamp in June to honor the 25th anniversary of the founding of Aer Lingus (Irish International Airlines). There will be two denominations, a 6 pence and a 1 shilling 3 pence.

Later in the year, probably in September, a special stamp will be issued to commemorate the 15th centenary of the death of St. Patrick. This set will come in three values.

Denmark has issued a new 30 ore red stamp honoring the 50th anniversary of the Danish Society for the Preservation of Natural Beauty. The stamp shows a landscape and was designed by Johannes Larsen.

The General Post Office in Great Britain has announced it will issue the following stamps this year: The centenary of the Post Office Savings Bank (three stamps), the second anniversary of the Conference of European Postal and Telecommunications Administrations (three stamps), the opening of the Conference of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association (two stamps).

STYLE NOTES

The little crepe dress has become a smashing success all over again. The monthly magazines are giving seven good reasons why the wardrobe that's missing crepe now is missing the point.

Some of these crepe dresses start being indespensible around lunch time and then go on and on - enhanced with masses of glitter and pearls. Soft lovely colors of pale blue, lilac, gold, light green, black, pink are used.

Some of these crepes are cut on the bias, without a straight line anywhere. Many have boat necklines, are sleevelesss with a loosely tied belt and gadets flaring near the hemline.

In most of these dress skirts are softly - full and bias, somewhat wrapped, sometimes with panelled overskirts. The bias flare and set - in godets near the hemline are favorites of the skirt.

The black and white idea in fashion is also popular. Black and white checks, stripes, dots and other variations make the fresh new look this season. Sometimes the costume is black and white alone. Sometimes a single spot of color shows up with it in beads or gloves or handbag.

HINTS

Diamonds actually look bigger when they are flashing clean. And - they should be cleaned frequently. All the foundations and lotion and make - up used today will cause them to cloud over. These film the stone and prevent light from entering. So do the natural oils of the skin and the grease and dust in the air. You have a choice of good diamond cleaning methods - the soap bubble bath, the detergent bath, the cold water soak.

The woman who looks best in a half size dress should not wear large splashy bright prints, large collars, bright harsh colors or horizontal lines. The half - size fashion silhoutte should be vertical and simple in design.

The scarf is a versatile fashion, and a pretty scarf will add dash to most costumes. It fills in the set away neckline, adds color to the collarless fashion and doubles for a sash on a slim sheath, and, here's a popular trick with some fashion conscious girls, by using two scarfs instead of one you can give a double color accent to a new costume.

Something new. There's a new built - in wall oven with a glass door that glides up out of the way instead of swinging down.

PEONIES, almost a rarity in this part of the country, were blooming profusely last week in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Hunt, 310 South College street, Monroe. A hobby of Mr. Hunt, original roots for the plants in the Hunt yard came from the gardens of his mother in Tennessee. The plants are grown extensively in colder climates in the Midwest and North. ON 82ND BIRTHDAY

Photographer Marks Creative Milestone

BY IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

One of photography's great creative forces achieved another milestone recently and the world's photo elite came to pay tribute.

In the spotlight was Edward Steichen, director of photography for New York's Museum of Modern Art. The occasion: His 82nd birthday and the opening of a retrospective exhibition of his lifework. The 300 pictures on view were personally chosen from the achievements that spanned 66 years.

OPENS ALBUMS

An event like this inevitably opens the albums of yesteryear and recalls some of the significant pictures and meaningful words of a craftsman.

Almost faded are the earliest memories of a 16-year old boy taking his first photographs but four years later, in 1899, his work was exhibited at the renowned Philadelphia Photographic Salon and the following year in London and Paris. He was already a successful photographer in the early 1900's when he came to a startling decision in typical forthright fashion.

"I found I was unconsciously making the kind of pictures people expected me to make," Steichen recalled. "It was time to give myself a good kick in the pants and move on. I went to Europe and found an entirely new spirit . . . the modern art movement with Matisse, Picasso, Cezanne and that group."

REALISM

World War I interrupted Steichen's painting phase. He was put in command of American aerial photography under Gen. Billy Mitchell. The necessity for precision opened a new field of camera techniques to him. The emphasis on sharpest realism was a complete turn-about from the soft-focus arty pictures of before.

"It was a challenge that meant a renewed interest in photography," Steichen said later.

"As a painter, I was producing a high grade wall paper with a gold frame around it," he recalled. "I hauled all the paintings out into the yard one day and made a $50,000 bonfire."

He felt he had to re-apprentice himself so Steichen began to experiment. Throughout that whole summer he photographed a white cup and white saucer merely varying the lighting. More than a thousand negatives later he summed up the results:

"The knowledge I gained was like something in my bloodstream. I didn't have to stop and think. I knew what I could expect from light, sensitive materials and lenses."

NEW CAREER

When he returned to America in 1923, it was to a new illustrative career for Vanity Fair and leading advertising agencies. This lasted for 15 financially rewarding years then ceased to be interesting. Steichen turned to exploring the new color photography field.

Arrangement Of Flowers

By MARY JARDINE

There is tremendous interest in America today for Ikebana or Japanese Flower Arrangement. American adaptations of the three best-known schools Ikenobo, Nageire and Moribana seem right at home in our contemporary houses.

The chief characteristics of Japanese flower arrangements, are, 1. asymmetrical, purely linear design, 2. emphasis on silhouette and 3. symbolism. Ikenobo, the classical or traditional style dates back to the sixth century and is the protype of all other styles. Classical arrangements, based on unyielding rules and measurements, require much practice and considerable skill but as you learn to master the techniques you'll find the results most rewarding.

In contrast to other styles of Japanese arrangements, the materials of a completed classical composition must appear to be the single stalk of a living plant emerging from the surface of the water.

GENERAL RULE

A general rule is that no more than two species of plant material may be used in any one arrangement. As in all compositions of the classical or traditional style, the exact curve of each stem is of primary importance to the design. Materials selected must either have the natural curves required or must be those which you can shape to the desired curves. The three principal lines are described as Heaven, Man and Earth. Additional material may be placed within the bounds of the main lines. Good reference reading: Japanese Flower Arrangement by Ellen Gordon Allen.

DELHI CLUB SHOWS

Members of the Delhi Garden Club staged a colorful spring spring show at the Garden Center last week. Values of red were featured in the beautiful asymmetrical design created by Mrs. L. P. Craighead. A round copper bowl on a wrought iron stand served as a container. The outline of the design was formed with dark red barberry foliage. Maroon canna foliage was used to form a background for the center of interest, a native iris in reddish tones "Bayou Sunset." The contrast of size and form was most interesting and the design contained rhythm of line and color.

Mrs. J. H. Dodd selected a dark green compote for her formal design. Equally balanced placements of pale green dock formed the formal triangle. Within the line were graceful placements of yellow Dutch Iris. Large ivy leaves framed the single blue Dutch Iris used at the rim for a focal area.

As this arrangement was free standing (viewed from all sides) it would be suitable for a large dining table or tea table. Mrs. W. E. Coats featured [illegible] in her design. The interesting triangular driftwood gray-brown in color was set on a rough wood base.

DESIGN

The design followed the lines of the driftwood. Arum foliage was used in the background and the design completed with buds and blooms of single white roses. The species used was "White Wings," a good clear white and with a lemon like fragrance — a charming composition suitable for a family room or den.

In the horticulture section, Mrs. W. E. Coats exhibited beautiful blue Clematis Jackmani, Mrs. S. A. Mayes, snapdragons and red amaryllis, Mrs. S. T. Bradley, Queen Elizabeth Roses, and double white poppies. Mrs. L. P. Craighead exhibited bearded iris, "Cloth of Gold" and a collection of Louisiana native iris: The Kaim (Caroline Dormon) a dark purple, Cherry Bounce, red; Bayou Glory (Sidney Conger) a deep velvety red-purple; Barba Elaine Taylor, white, and Beau Geste a strong deep blue, also Dixie Deb, a good clear yellow.

SOUTHERN GARDENER

Plants Face Many Trials

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

By the time a plant reaches the nurseries and becomes available to us, it has run the gauntlet of all sorts of testing. The new plants shown in colored slides at your columnist's lecture to the Louisiana Society for Horticultural Research recently had been selected from over 2,000 wild and cultivated flowers. These were were grown in the botanical and private gardens of England. British Isles are a store house of flowers from all over the world. For two centuries, we have been getting plants from England, and we know fairly well how they will behave in the Southern United States. As long ago as the 1830's, the best informed of our pioneer nurserymen had connections with what was then The Horticultural Society of London. (Later, The Royal Horticultural Society). Old catalogues of Southern nurserymen boast that they contain the best English and French varieties.

AFTER TESTS

When nurserymen and seedsmen have tested out new flowers to their own satisfaction, they usually send them to the "RHS" invited trials at Wisley Gardens near London and to some of the trials on the Continent. Annuals, for instance, are planted and observed to see that all the seeds planted will produce the variety on the label in pure form. The least variation will condemn the variety. One of the prettiest parts of Wisley Gardens is the section where large squares of one kind of flowers after the other cover the ground like huge out-of - door carpets.

Some of the oldest and finest specimens of rare trees and shrubs are to be found on private estates in both countries.

COLLECTIONS

As time goes on, collections of new and fine plants are being established all over the South. If you wish to see hollies, for instance, go to the campus of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, to Clarendon Gardens at Pinehurst, N. C., or to the campus of The University of Southwest Louisiana at Lafayette.

The Lafayette collection is young and new, but it will be but a few years until the trees there will take on some size. Rose trial gardens, iris trials, day - lily trials, and many more are open to visitors all over the country.

In the case of trees and shrubs, only a few specimens, of course, can be grown. These are planted in different types of location, at first, to see what suits them best. Where they seem to do well, several are usually tried out in like situations. Very experienced private individuals have always introduced new plants in England, and they are beginning to do the same thing in the United States.

Many Jobs In Garden

By AUDREY DAWSON

This is the time of the year that there are so many jobs to be done in our gardens that we could spend the biggest portion of every day working. So, let's check over a few of those jobs: as soon a the cluster type climbing roses quit blooming it's time to prune. Cut them back to the ground. There's another important job. If you have not fertilized our camellias and azaleas, it's time now. Remember if you want nice blooms, it's time to start now with a complete fertilizer as 8-8-8.

MORE PRUNING

There's still more pruning other than climbing roses. The spirea, forsythia and flowering quince and as soon as your wiegela quits blooming, prune it.

You may divide and reset your chrysanthemums now. If you have several colors, try grouping them.

Be sure to use mulch in all flower beds to control weeds and grass and also to conserve moisture. Fortunately nature provides plenty of good mulching material. Pine needles and oak leaves are very good materials that you can gather.

NATIONAL WEEK

The 24 Home Demonstration Clubs of Ouachita join the clubs in the other 63 parishes of the state in celebrating National Home Demonstration Week April 3-May 6. The theme of the week is, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." The Louisiana Home Demonstration Club organization is sponsored by the LSU Agricultural Extension Service.

The chief purpose of the clubs is to demonstrate in typical homes the advantages of better methods of food preparation, food preservation, clothing selection, home management and other home-making arts. Homemakers who are organized for active and well planned participation have far greater influence on the betterment of family life in the community than the size of their club membership indicates.

The two parish wide activities have been planned for the week are: a tour of the juvenile home on May 3, and a dress revue at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe on May 6th.

Each of the 24 clubs of the parish have planned additional activities which include exhibits in various store windows, turnishings of flowers for churches, family get together, special workshops, radio and TV programs, picnics and special church services.

CLUBS OPEN

Home Demonstration Clubs are open to all homemakers who want to learn more about the newest and best methods in homemaking and home management. Anyone who is interested in becoming a member may contact a neighbor who is already a member or get in touch with yours truly at the parish extension office — phone FA 3-2251.

Your Home Demonstration Agent's schedule for the month of May includes: May 2, 9:30, Progressive Home Demonstration Club with Mrs. Lillian Ford; 12:30, Colony Club; May 3, 9:30, Cadeville at Mrs. Blanche Wilders; May 4, 9:30, Better Homemaker, 2:00, Watson; May 5, 2:00 Woodlawn Club; May 6, parish wide dress revue; May 8, Drew Home Demonstration meeting at 1:30, with Mrs. G. The annual parish-wide dress revue will be held at the Agricultural Building in West Monroe Saturday, May 6 at 9:30. The following classes will be judged: pre-school dress for girls 1-5; girls' dresses 6-11, and girls' dresses 12 and above; boy's suit, pre-school and adult dresses. Ridge Baptist Set To Observe An Anniversary

Ridge Avenue Baptist Church will observe the 21st anniversary of its beginning as a mission church today with a picnic dinner and homecoming day.

The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, pastor, said "Twenty-one years ago this April a little tin top open tabernacle was built in one day to begin the work where now a beautiful streamlined, modern sanctuary is being constructed that when completed with balcony that will seat a thousand people."

Aside from the original property, the church had in the beginning three residences and land had been purchased adjoining the church property. An acre of land back of the buildings has also been purchased to meet needs for future expansion.

The pastor pointed out that "Nice comfortable, air conditioned buildings have not been the greatest contribution the church has made, but the many fine dedicated youth called into special service now in the Master's service beginning in West Monroe and on out across the nation into foreign lands."

Developing from this church have been 15 ministers, two missionaries and four gospel singers, the pastor said.

The Rev. Mitchell also explained that his church has assisted and encouraged "the organization of other churches in our area, the civic, educational and humanitarian movements."

Mail Campaign Protest Aid To Church Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Congressman charged Saturday foes of the pending aid-to-education bill are inspiring a mail campaign based on the false premise that the measure provides for aid to church schools.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey, D-W. Va., said he is receiving hundreds of letters asking him to vote against the administration bill because it calls for federal aid to parochial schools. He said He is answering them like this: "I'm afraid you have been lied to."

Bailey, chairman of a House subcommittee which is handling part of the administration program, said the mail campaign is one of the heaviest in years.

President Kennedy's $2.3 billion program of grants for elementary and high schools is specifically limited to public schools. The President repeatedly has said church-operated schools should not receive aid and because of this stand has been criticied by leaders of his own Roman Catholic faith.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"I think most older women look better in straight skirts, but I have a problem that makes me very self - conscious in straight skirts. My legs are heavy and there is always a bulge when I walk or sit down Is there any way a straight skirt can be cut a little fuller without spoiling the lines of the skirt? Your column is giving me the urge to do more someone to run to when I encounter these difficulties."

Mrs. L. R.

Dear Mrs. L. R.:

Whenever possible, you will find answers to questions such as this in my column. Naturally, questions of the most general interest are used. Your question has been asked repeatedly.

On your pattern MARK and CUT a straight line, from the end of the dart to the hem of skirt, as illustrated.

Now spread the lower part of the pattern according to the extra width desired. You will find that as you spread your pattern, the dart becomes smaller and shorter. You may spread your pattern until your dart is completely closed if desired. lIf the dart is completely closed you will notice the shape of the skirt at cruved. This is a simple way to give you extra ease in your skirt and still retain the effect of a straight skirt.

INTERFACING HINT

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Regarding necklines, you sug- the wrong side of the garment, not to the facing. Is this interfacing cut from the facing pattern or would you cut it from the neckline of the bodice pattern?"

Mrs. L. V. C.

Dear Mrs. L. V. C.:

The interfacing is cut from the FACING PATTERN, and basted to the WRONG side of your garment. The facing is then pinned to the right side of your garment and the three layers of fabric are stitched at one time.

ZIPPER RULE

"Dear Runice,

"How many inches should a dress slide fastener extend below the waistline? I am short and a 14" dress fastener, which the pattern calls for, is usually too long. Please help me sole this?"

Mrs. A.B.

Dear Mrs. A. B.:

Buy your dress fastener according to YOUR HEIGHT, not according to the pattern instructions.

The fastener should never extend more than 7" below the waistline of your dress.

MATERIAL PUFF

"Dear Eunice,

"What causes a puff of material to form between buttonholes when my suit is closed?"

Dear Mrs. H.B.:

This can be caused by one of two things. First, baste around each buttonhole, through all thicknesses of garment, before cutting through the facing. This will prevent turning under too much of the facing which could cause an excess of fabric on the right side between buttonholes.

Secondly, you must sew your button on with a shank instead of sewing it too tightly to your garment.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Shank:

The space between the button and the garment which is necessary to make the buttoned garment lay smooth. If there is no metal shank on the button, you must hold the button a short distance away while sewing it on.

If you have a sewing problem or a suggestion to share with other readers, please write to Sew Simple in care of Monroe Morning World.

YOUR BABIES AND BREADWINNERS ARE POLIO'S TARGET!

POLIO can hit your family this summer

Polio is striking most sharply at infants and children too young to go to school—and at their parents, especially young fathers who have failed to get their Salk shots or complete their series of four doses.

Right in your own home town there are islands of population just as vulnerable to crippling polio as before the era of the Salk vaccine. Three-quarters of last year's cases were unvaccinated or not fully vaccinated people.

Polio shots are easy to get, cost very little. If everyone who needs them got at least three shots before next summer, there might be no polio epidemics. You and your neighbors can't feel safe until they go out and get them!

Getting babies, and toddlers, and their parents, vaccinated is important insurance against epidemics and the personal disaster of polio. Don't neglect it. Do it now.

Don't take a chance—take your POLIO shots

MANY BENEFITS

Improve Lighting On Remodeling

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — If home improvement is on your current budget, don't overlook lighting in your plans.

Up-dating home lighting brings multiple benefits—increased efficiency, safety and improved appearance, all contributing to the value of the home!

Drab dining rooms can be transformed. Or a coffee table can update a living room by 10 years. A new and larger fixture in the kitchen, along with under-cabinet lighting, can inject a totally new atmosphere. The appearance of bathroom fixtures and decor can be improved with proper lighting. Outdoor living areas can be highlighted and made more useful.

The American Home Lighting Institute estimates, as a rule of thumb, the total cost of fixtures for complete re-lighting of the average 1,200-square-foot home at around $200.

Individual projects, of course, vary with the extent of work involved, type of fixture chosen and whether it is a job for professional or do-it-yourself labor.

The institute in its fact book on home fixture lighting, cautions inexperienced homeowners against outlet installation but lists as do-it-yourself projects the replacement of old fixtures, installation of fixture over a capped outlet, or mounting a fixture which plugs into a convenience outlet.

Many fixtures are available today which require no special outlet. Some wall fixtures have cords that can be run tautly to a wall outlet immediately below. A few ceiling fixtures have cords which run along a chain and disappear behind a drapery, dropping from there to floor level where they are plugged into a wall outlet.

Installation of new outlets in most existing homes can be done without mess and at reasonable cost (a range of around $15 to $30 for a fixture outlet with wall switch depending on local labor rates and the amount of work done at one time).

The institute stresses the need for at least one permanent light in every room with switch control at the entrance as an essential safety measure. In many homes, wall switches have been wired into baseboard outlets to eliminate installed fixtures. In theory, portable lamps are plugged into the outlet and turned on and off at the wall switch. In practice, however, the institute says, these wall switches are nearly always left in the on position and lighting units connected with them turned on and off individually.

In planning a lighting project, the institute recommends that the homeowner obtain, provessional advice, available usually, at no cost, from sources such as the local electric service company, electrical distributor or contractor.

Flower Beauty For Longer Periods Can Be Achieved Easy

Continuous flowering beauty can be achieved by home owners by changing the plants in their garden or patio living area to supply steady bloom most of the year. By having several small gardens or a half dozen tubs in which plants are changed often, the whole property can be made brighter and more cheerful for longer periods.

There are innumerable combinations of plants to afford new flower scenes. Pots or tubs of plants changed often keep the whole property fresher and more colorful, without entailing great expense because the plants are changed only in small areas rather than over the whole property. In tubs, many plants that are extremely beautiful but difficult to grow because of adverse local soil conditions, can easily be maintained.

Traffic Closed On North 3rd

North Third Street, between Washington and DeSiard Streets, will be closed to through traffic Monday and Tuesday, police officials said yesterday.

Maj. Jack Davis, of the police traffic department, stated that the Illinois Central Railroad company will be repairing the North Third Street railroad crossing during the two-day period.

Davis said that persons wishing to park and shop in the blocked off area are free to drive around the barricades and shop. He added that they must leave the same way they enter.

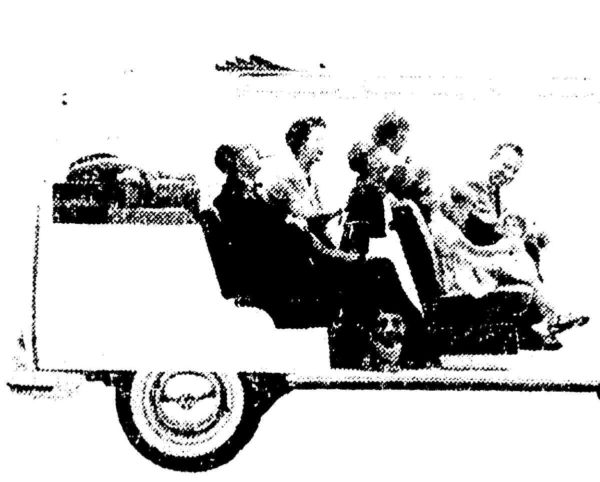
Great Shape



to be in!

The VW Station Wagon comfortably seats nine adults. With plenty of leg room and plenty of elbow room and plenty of room for everyone's bag and baggage.

It really makes sense because it doesn't waste an inch of space. The boxy shape, for instance, gives you more usable space. (There's 170 cubic feet inside, compared with a conventional wagon's 105.)

It's only 14 feet from bumper to bumper, too. (That's a good 4 feet shorter than most conventional wagons.) You can actually slip into a parking spot that a Volkswagen Sedan just pulled out of.

No matter what kind of shape you're in now, we suggest you come in and see the VW Station Wagon. (And find out for yourself what makes it so great!)

Mail Campaign Protest Aid To Church Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Congressman charged Saturday foes of the pending aid-to-education bill are inspiring a mail campaign based on the false premise that the measure provides for aid to church schools.

Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey, D-W. Va., said he is receiving hundreds of letters asking him to vote against the administration bill because it calls for federal aid to parochial schools. He said He is answering them like this: "I'm afraid you have been lied to."

Bailey, chairman of a House subcommittee which is handling part of the administration program, said the mail campaign is one of the heaviest in years.

President Kennedy's $2.3 billion program of grants for elementary and high schools is specifically limited to public schools. The President repeatedly has said church-operated schools should not receive aid and because of this stand has been criticized by leaders of his own Roman Catholic faith.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

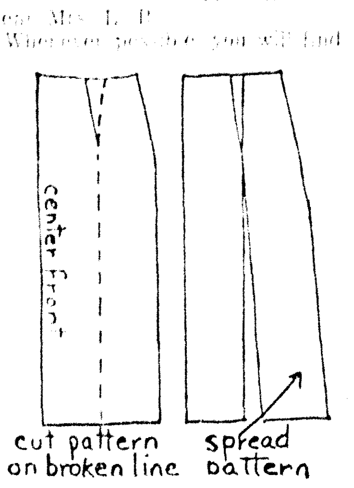
"Dear Eunice,

"I think most older women look better in straight skirts, but I have a problem that makes me very self - conscious in straight skirts. My legs are heavy and there is always a bulge when I walk or sit down. Is there any way a straight skirt can be cut a little fuller without spoiling the lines of the skirt? Your column is giving me the urge to do more — someone to run to when I encounter these difficulties."

Mrs. L. B.

Dear Mrs. L. B.:

Whenever possible you will find answers to questions such as this in my column. Naturally, questions of the most general interest are used. Your question has been asked repeatedly.



On your pattern MARK and CUT a straight line, from the end of the dart to the hem of skirt, as illustrated.

Now spread the lower part of the pattern according to the extra width desired. You will find that as you spread your pattern, the dart becomes smaller and shorter. You may spread your pattern until your dart is completely closed if desired. If the dart is completely closed you will notice the shape of the skirt at crused. This is a simple way to give you extra ease in your skirt and still retain the effect of a straight skirt.

INTERFACING HINT

Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Regarding necklines, you suggest the wrong side of the garment, not to the facing. Is this interfacing cut from the facing pattern or would you cut it from the neckline of the bodice pattern?"

Mrs. L. V. C.

Dear Mrs. L. V. C.:

The interfacing is cut from the FACING PATTERN, and basted to the WRONG side of your garment. The facing is then pinned to the right side of your garment and the three layers of fabric are stitched at one time.

ZIPPER RULE

"Dear Runice,

"How many inches should a dress slide fastener extend below the waistline? I am short and a 11" dress fastener, which the pattern calls for, is usually too long. Please help me solve this?"

Mrs. A.B.

Dear Mrs. A. B.:

Buy your dress fastener according to YOUR HEIGHT, not according to the pattern instructions.

The fastener should never extend more than 7" below the waistline of your dress.

MATERIAL PUFF

"Dear Eunice,

"What causes a puff of material to form between buttonholes when my suit is closed?"

Dear Mrs. H.B.:

This can be caused by one of two things. First, baste around each buttonhole, through all thicknesses of garment, before cutting through the facing. This will prevent turning under too much of the facing which could cause an excess of fabric on the right side between buttonholes.

Secondly, you must sew your button on with a shank instead of sewing it too tightly to your garment.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Shank:

The space between the button and the garment which is necessary to make the buttoned garment lay smooth. If there is no metal shank on the button, you must hold the button a short distance away while sewing it on.

If you have a sewing problem or a suggestion to share with other readers, please write to Sew Simple in care of Monroe Morning World.

YOUR BABIES AND BREADWINNERS ARE POLIO'S TARGET!

POLIO can hit your family this summer

Polio is striking most sharply at infants and children too young to go to school—and at their parents, especially young fathers who have failed to get their Salk shots or complete their series of four doses.

Right in your own home town there are islands of population just as vulnerable to crippling polio as before the era of the Salk vaccine. Three-quarters of last year's cases were unvaccinated or not fully vaccinated people.

Polio shots are easy to get, cost very little. If everyone who needs them got at least three shots before next summer, there might be no polio epidemics. You and your neighbors can't feel safe until they go out and get them!

Getting babies, and toddlers, and their parents, vaccinated is important insurance against epidemics and the personal disaster of polio. Don't neglect it. Do it now.

Don't take a chance—take your POLIO shots
